GENEALOGY AND HERALDRY

Since 1826 when Burke's Peerage was first published a large collection of records has been built up and is now held by the publishers. In addition, the Editor of the Peerage is in constant communication with the Heraldic Offices of Great Britain, with the various Genealogical Societies, and with genealogists throughout the world. Expert advice is available to all who are interested in genealogy and heraldry.

We cannot let them suffer

Three years after the end of the war, there are still many cases of hardship among ex-service men and their families which are not met by Government relief schemes.

The Army Benevolent Fund assists genuine cases of need by making grants to the many Service Institutions which give every case their personal and sympathetic consideration.

It is not right that those who suffered loss in war should suffer further hardships now. Please give all you can afford to help The Army Benevolent Fund.

PREFACE

THIS present edition of the Peerage is the first to appear since the war and the first completely revised edition since that of 1939. Ten years can make a formidable gap in the records of a reference book, especially as in the present instance the greatest conflict in history took place in the same period. The task of bringing the Peerage up to date was rendered all the more difficult by the occurrence of a vast number of war-time events in the titled families which had to be included if their histories were to be accurate. In the pages of the present Peerage will be found—for the first time in any volume—the family histories of most of our famous war leaders. Alanbrooke, Alexander, Cunningham, Douglas, Dowding, Fraser, Montgomery, Mountbatten, Portal, Tedder, Wavell—to mention only some of the leaders in the three services—here is a galaxy of brilliance which it would be hard to rival in the records of any other period. In the cases quoted we have given only the heads of families, but the cadet branches of each family contributed to our effort as much as did the senior lines. For instance, the supreme leader of the whole allied cause, without whom the grand alliance of the United Nations would never have come into being, is a cadet of the Duke of Marlborough's family and although Mr. Winston Churchill's entry has been specially written, it is still the entry of a junior member of a Peerage family and in that sense can be paralleled by thousands of other entries for cadets who served their country well in World War II. To give another example, the Chindit leader, Major-Gen. Wingate came of a junior line of the Wingate Baronets and it was only after considerable effort in obtaining information that some justice could be rendered to his achievements.

Then in the Knightage Section we have commanders famous for particular wartime exploits, e.g. Admiral Sir Philip Vian, of H.M.S. Cossack ("The Navy's Here"), Admiral Sir Henry Harwood, of the "Battle of the River Plate," and, of course, Marshal of the R.A.F. Sir Arthur "Bomber" Harris.

As an example of the many families who gave their all in furtherance of the war effort, the Editor takes pride in citing the case of the MacRobert Baronetcy (reference to Lady MacRobert, widow of the 1st Bt. will be found in the "Extinct Titles Section"). Not only did Lady MacRobert lose her eldest son, Sir Alasdair, the 2nd Bt. in an aeroplane accident in 1938, but during the war years she lost also her two surviving children—Sir Roderic, the 3rd Bt., who was killed in action in the Middle East on 22 May, 1941, and was succeeded by his only surviving brother, Sir Iain, the 4th Bt., who also was killed in action 30 June, 1941, and thus another title became extinct. Both were serving with the Royal Air Force at the time of their death, and it will be recalled that Lady MacRobert presented to the Government a bomber aircraft which she herself named "The MacRoberts' Reply."

War is no respecter of persons, and our Royal House mourns the loss of H.M. The King's youngest surviving brother, H.R.H. The late Duke of Kent, himself a Group Captain in the Royal Air Force, and hon. Air Commodore of No. 500 (County of Kent) Squadron, Auxiliary Air Force, who lost his life in an aeroplane accident, whilst on active service, 25 Aug. 1942 (see ROYAL FAMILY).

To include a notice of these war services on the part of our titled families, as well as to bring the records up to date in the normal way by the inclusion of births, marriages and deaths, imposed a great strain on the space available and only by the use of considerable ingenuity and effort have we succeeded in fitting in the new information. The margins of the pages were slightly reduced and some information which had appeared in earlier issues and which concerned some of the extinct cadet lines was removed. Even so the volume would have been much larger but for the fact that the titles which became extinct in 1939–48 were not made good in number by new creations.

Out of evil sometimes comes good and the long gap in the production of the Peerage rendered necessary the resetting of the entire text, which had stood for some considerable time. Owing to this it has been possible to rewrite every article in the book—an editor's paradise! The resetting thus provided an opportunity to bring to bear upon the family histories in the Peerage the results of modern historical research. Family history is after all only a branch of history universal, and in the last 100 years the attitude of man towards his past has changed completely. A century ago the history of our race and of the world itself extended only a few thousand years, today we look back at vistas of hundreds of thousands of years for the human race alone, and we are taught that such periods are only brief moments as compared with the enormously long eras of geological and astronomic time. The histories, both national and universal, which our great-grandfathers accepted as gospel truth, have been quietly discarded. Why, then, if the origin of a great nation has been scientifically examined and old legends dismissed, should family history escape from similar criticism? We must remember that a legend may be dear to a family and be taken as it were into an inner shrine where it is fenced off from the vulgar breath. Odi profanum vulgus et arceo but when it became possible to dissolve the standing type of the Peerage and compose de novo it was also possible to remove some accounts which could not be squared with history. Records in England are well preserved on the whole, and many fine scholars, of whom the late Horace Round and Oswald Barron are examples, have laboured on the records of our greater families. The results of research are accessible though they may not always be easily found. A valuable account of a peer's family history is often contained in an obscure volume of one of our county archæological societies or in a privately-printed volume. It has been possible in many cases to rewrite the histories in the Peerage after considerable research in libraries and among private papers and documents, but it is probable that many other accounts have been missed through the obscurity of the records which contain them. An honest endeavour has been made in this edition to revise every genealogy in the light of accepted criticism, but more than that the Editor would not claim. Some family histories, he well knows, would have involved more research than the time at his disposal warranted, and in these cases he has contented himself with removing any obviously improbable statements. In other or varying instances it has not been possible to obtain the necessary information to provide a new pedigree and therefore the old account has had to be left. The Editor would be grateful, however, to any who can provide constructive criticism of an article in the Peerage.

Some new features have been included in the volume. The section dealing with British subjects who bear Foreign Titles of Nobility has been drastically rewritten to agree with the terms of the Royal Warrant of His late Majesty King George V, and following that section we have included other Titled Nobility of the British Empire, and among these the Maltese Nobility.

In the romanized pages at the beginning of the book we include for the first time a section dealing with Extinct Titles, including those which have become extinct since our last edition. Previously references to extinct titles were kept in an abbreviated form in their ordinary alphabetical place in the main body of the book, as long as a member of the family still lived, but it seemed much more useful to collect all extinct titles into one section for more succinct reference.

The Scale of Precedence has not only been revised throughout but has been rendered far more useful by the juxtaposition of several sections which formerly appeared at the end of the book. As these sections concern the Order of Precedence in this country and the Dominions and Colonies they are constantly consulted and are now far more accessible, being placed with the Guide to the Work and Scale of Precedence.

The Royal Lineage has been given very careful revision throughout. The history of His Majesty's ancestors is the history of England and we have therefore included a short account of the House of Cerdic which reigned over England before the Norman Conquest; the historical narrative from William the Conqueror has been checked and enlarged. The history of the Kings of Scotland as it appeared in the last edition seemed to have been left untouched since the days of Sir Bernard Burke. It has been revised by Sir Thomas Innes of Learney, Lord Lyon King of Arms.

The Historical Introduction to the Peerage has been revised in order to provide as much help as possible to inquirers about the origin of Peerage dignities and the meaning and use of titles. It is often very difficult for English people to know the reasons for apparent anomalies in the use of titles, why an Irish peer sits in the House of Commons, what is meant by the use of a courtesy peerage title, and why an Anglican cleric, even if he receives a knighthood, is not styled "Sir." A short section has also been included on the correct styles of address of titled and official persons.

The question is often asked today "Will the Peerage endure?" or "Isn't the use of titles archaic and obsolete?" The answer is that Peerage dignities and all titles in use by British subjects are derived from or permitted by the Sovereign, who is the Fountain of Honour. As long as the Crown exists and grants titles to its faithful subjects, so long will titles and peerages continue. The ancient contest between the Commons and the Lords may at last result in the abolition of the latter by the former. In that case, presumably, all peers of the realm will be in the position which is now occupied by Irish and Scottish peers who have not been elected to sit in the Upper House. They bear their titles as of right derived from the Sovereign but in their cases a peerage does not carry with it the right to a seat in the House of Lords. But British revolutions are accomplished by Act of Parliament and are rarely extreme in their outward application, so it is about as improbable that the Upper House should be abolished as it is for it to be reformed. Moreover the great majority of title holders are not peers. There are nearly twice as many baronets as peers and four or five times as many knights.

During the preparation of this edition of the Peerage much outside help has been received from scholars and research workers and also from members of the families themselves. It would be invidious to single out any particular person and space forbids to make a complete list. The help of various official bodies and persons has been so considerable, however, that due acknowledgment must be made. The Editor accordingly desires to record his thanks to the officials of the Royal households for their prompt and considerate replies to his inquiries; to the Clerk of the Journals of the House of Lords; the Assistant Registrar of the Baronetage, at the Home Office; the officers of the College of Arms, particularly Mr. M. R. Trappes-Lomax, Rouge Dragon Pursuivant; the Lord Lyon King of Arms, in Scotland, Sir Thomas Innes of Learney, K.C.V.O., for very valuable help in all matters of Scottish heraldry and genealogy; the Secretary of the Central Chancery of the Orders of Knighthood; the Secretary of the Chancery of the Orders of Saint Michael and Saint George; the Secretary and Registrar of the Standing Council of the Baronetage; the Knight Principal of the Imperial Society of Knights Bachelor, and the Secretary to the Committee of Privileges, Malta, for his help in supplying information on the Maltese Nobility.

The Editor also thanks his sub-editors for their assistance in carrying out his policy in the midst of many day-to-day difficulties and tiresome interruptions. Finally, it is easy to forget that, in the words of St. Paul, we build on other men's foundations. Without the initial labours of the pioneer John Burke the present edition would never have seen the light of day. Following this preface there is an article on the Story of Burke's Peerage and of the family which founded it.

Just on the eve of going to press, the Editor and the Publisher have the honour and pleasure to record the birth of a son to their Royal Highnesses the PRINCESS ELIZABETH and the DUKE OF EDINBURGH.

THE STORY OF BURKE'S PEERAGE.

IN 1826 John Burke produced the first edition of the Peerage which has ever since then been associated with his name. On the title page of the volume he described it as " A General and Heraldic Dictionary of the Peerage and Baronetage of the United Kingdom, for M.D.CCC.XXVI. Exhibiting, under strict Alphabetical Arrangement, The Present State of those Exalted Ranks, with their Armorial Bearings, Mottoes, etc., and deducing the Lineage of each house from the Founder of its Honors. With an Appendix, comprising the Prelates, the surnames of Peers, Titles by Courtesy of their Eldest Sons, Names of Heirs Presumptive, etc., etc." The book was dedicated to " His Most Gracious Majesty, King George the Fourth, by His Majesty's devoted and humble subject and servant, John Burke." In a brief preface to the book John Burke stated that he had been led to produce his volume because there did not exist a work of reference giving the family history of the Peers and Baronets of the United Kingdom, which could be regarded as an authority. This was the key-note of the work and it has continued so ever since, namely, to give the family history of each British Peer and Baronet from the earliest times, beginning with the first known ancestor.

John Burke was forty years of age when the Peerage appeared. His famous son, John Bernard Burke, afterwards knighted as Sir Bernard Burke, was in 1826 a boy of twelve, but he had a natural bent and inclination for genealogical and heraldic studies and it was not very long before he was associated with his father in the production of Burke's Peerage.

The First Edition of Burke's Peerage in 1826.

The first volume of the Peerage was a slim octavo of some 400 pages, in which the illustrations of coats of arms appeared at the end of the volume. The author intended to publish the book at the commencement of every year, and in fact the Peerage very soon became an annual. In 1837 a companion book was produced, namely, Burke's Landed Gentry. At first the title of this book was Burke's Commoners, or The Commoners of Great Britain and Ireland, and four volumes were devoted to the subject. The distinction between the two books was explained on more than one occasion by John Burke and Sir Bernard Burke in their prefaces. While the Peerage was designed to deal with the titled aristocracy of Britain, the Landed Gentry was meant to record the family histories of those gentlemen who did not possess an hereditary title, but who prided themselves on their descent and on the fact that they were ranked among the county families -in short, what the Burkes called the untitled aristocracy. It has always been a matter of pride in England that the nobility have never been a hard and closed caste, as in many European countries. The younger son of a peer is often simply plain Mr. Smith, and so he and his descendants fade into the great mass of the population, and it may well be that by founding an important business or by making a success in some professional undertaking, this line of a younger son has become wealthier and socially more prominent than the titular head of his family, who is Lord X or Y. This factor in the social life of Britain has had a great deal to do with preventing the violent political changes which again are so common on the Continent. Among the Continental aristocracies all the members of a titled family are themselves classed as noble and their titles, which serve to differentiate them from the rest of the population, make them into an exclusive caste. Any student of European history is aware of the consequences of this rigid class system, whereas in England probably everyone is related in a near or distant degree to the nobility, who themselves form a very small number and who necessarily must have a great many untitled relatives.

Sir John Bernard Burke, the son of John Burke, not only had a tremendous interest in heraldry and genealogy, but in the course of his life was appointed to several public offices which greatly assisted him in his work. He was born in 1814 and by 1853 had been appointed to the Office of Ulster King of Arms. This Office came to an end in April, 1943, when the Government of Eire set up its own heraldic and genealogical organization in Dublin Castle, but for some 400 years the Ulster King of Arms was the sole heraldic authority for the whole of Ireland and was thus the equivalent of the Garter King of Arms in England or the Lord Lyon in Scotland. Sir Bernard Burke held this position until his death in 1892 and was, in addition, Registrar of the Order of St. Patrick, Keeper of the State Papers of Ireland from 1867–1892, and a Governor and Trustee of the National Gallery of Ireland. He was a Barrister-at-Law of the Middle Temple. Under his able direction many editions of the Peerage were produced and also several editions of Burke's Landed Gentry, although the latter never became an annual work. Sir Bernard Burke's output of genealogical and heraldic works was very great. He dealt with the whole question of heraldry and produced three or four editions of a General Armory designed to include all British coats of arms of which he could find any record. This book has been invaluable not only to the heraldic enquirer, but also, unfortunately, to the heraldic stationer, who has found therein the means of gratifying the vanity of many persons whose claims to arms would never be recognised by the Heralds themselves. Sir Bernard's enquiries extended to the British Colonies and he produced a book of Colonial Landed Gentry which contains some very curious estate names, as may be imagined, among the early pioneers in Australia and Canada. In fact it is very difficult to make an accurate reckoning of Sir Bernard's works as one is always liable to come across out-of-the-way volumes on second-hand stalls and in libraries. Some very readable and piquant volumes which he produced were The Vicissitudes of Families and The Romance of the Aristocracy, wherein he dealt with the rise and fall of such families as the Cromwells, whose history, from that of being obscure country squires came to equal that of any great monarchy, and after a period of unexampled splendour declined again into obscurity, ending with a grocer on Snow Hill, London, as far as the male line was concerned.

One frequently comes across cases of families in which some particular talent runs for several generations, and in the case of the Burkes there was a decided bent for the study of genealogy. The Burkes were, of course, an Irish family which had been settled in Co. Galway for a considerable period, and they still appear in the Landed Gentry, under the title of Burke of Auberies, but none of the family at the present time are closely connected with genealogical work or with the Peerages and other volumes which bear their name. Sir John Bernard Burke had an elder brother, Peter Joseph Burke who was a Serjeant-at-Law and a Queen's Counsel for the County Palatine of Lancaster. He was author of many legal and historical works. Sir Bernard Burke himself had numerous issue, seven sons and a daughter. Of these sons the eldest, Sir Henry Farnham Burke, followed his father very closely and held a large number of official appointments at the College of Arms in London. The list of his appointments is as follows: Rouge Croix Pursuivant of Arms 1880–7, Somerset Herald 1887–1911, Norroy King of Arms 1911–19, Garter Principal King-at-Arms from 1919, Registrar of the College of Arms 1904–11, Inspector of Regimental Colours of the British and Indian Armies 1904–29, Genealogist of the Order of St. Patrick 1889, and of the Order of the Bath from 1913, Deputy Ulster King of Arms 1889–93, Knight of Grace and genealogist, Order of St. John of Jerusalem. Sir Bernard's younger sons included Bernard Louis Burke who was Athlone Pursuivant of Arms, and Ashworth Peter Burke, who succeeded his father as editor of the Peerage and who died in 1919, having, it is said, been taken seriously ill while still in the editorial chair. The youngest son of Sir Bernard Burke was Arthur Meredyth Burke who produced two very fine volumes, one a Key to the Ancient Parish Registers of England and Wales and the other a first volume of the Prominent Families of America, in which an attempt was made to deal with American families whose ancestry was distinguished or interesting. In the early 20's of this century a company was formed to continue the publication of these world-famous books of reference, and despite changes in period and method, the original layout of the articles has remained unchanged. This has been due not only to reverence for tradition but because the method used in writing a pedigree in Burke is the best and most convenient way of setting out genealogical facts.

In the two volumes of the Peerage and the Landed Gentry we have a record covering all who are included in the meaning of the word "gentry or nobility." Many of England's and Scotland's finest families, whose records extend far into the past, are among the untitled aristocracy, and if we were to limit our view only to the families in the Peerage we should overlook many others who are connected with the Peerage by ties of common ancestry. The Landed Gentry is the companion volume to the Peerage and the Editors who have continued the work of John Burke have always endeavoured to follow the main lines laid down by him and Sir Bernard Burke: to give the history of a family from its foundations in an unbiased manner, and to show all collateral lines whether they are to be found in the Dominions, the Colonies, or in the U.S.A.

HERALDIC GLOSSARY.

The science of heraldry had its origin in the 12th century simultaneously in the countries of Western Europe, and at first was severely practical in its use. With the advent of more enveloping body armour, and with the closing the helmet over the face it became much more difficult for the followers of one feudal lord to distinguish him from another. At Hastings when a rumour spread among the Normans that Duke William was slain, he had only to tilt his helmet back a little as he rode along their ranks for all to see that he was alive. But two hundred years later, such a feat as pulling back the helmet would have required considerable exertion and the assistance of a squire. Knights armed cap-à-pie, could only distinguish one another by devices painted on their shields, or on the surcoats which they wore over their armour. In the case of nobles these devices were used by their followers as badges, on their own shields and coats, and in the feudal army men were accustomed to muster under the banner of their lord, bearing as it would his coat of arms. Crests came later and again were utilitarian in their purpose, being used as distinguishing marks, but more often at tournaments than at war.

Devices have always been used in war, as anyone can see from the divisional signs of our own armies in World War II and the crests of the R.A.F. squadrons, but the peculiarity of heraldic devices is that they became hereditary and outlived the armour which gave them birth. At first no doubt it was merely for convenience that devices were handed on from father to son, for in the feudal system it would not unnaturally follow that a lord's son would use his father's device which would be of value as a guide to his followers in battle.

In the 17th century the use of armour in warfare had become out of date, but heraldic devices had long been used in a score of ways which had no connection with their original use. Moreover, by this time, the granting and use of coats of arms in England had become the business of a body of heralds known as the College of Arms, which had been set up under Royal authority in 1483.

There is a school of writers which advances the theory that arms had always been granted by the Crown in each country, but it seems clear from the evidence supplied by early heraldic records that arms were originally not granted by anyone, but were assumed by various persons as and when they pleased. Thus we find from time to time, two or more people using the same arms. There is a celebrated instance of this in the Scrope-Grosvenor case in the reign of Richard II, when Lord Scrope challenged the right of Sir Robert Grosvenor to use the same coat of arms as himself. In this case there was also mention of a third warrior using the same arms as the other two, namely a Cornish Knight named Carminow.

This celebrated case was not settled except at last by the King himself, who gave judgment in favour of Scrope, which shows that, although heraldic devices had originated and been used independently of the "Fountain of Honour"—the Crown—yet the Crown was assuming jurisdiction over them. A century later this was firmly established and for some centuries it has been heraldic law that arms can only be borne in accordance with the rules made by the heralds under Royal authority.

Abased, or abaisé, applied to an ordinary borne below its usual position.
Abatements, marks of degradation of coat armour of which heraldic writers enumerate nine.
Accollé, (see Gorged).
Accosted, side by side.
Accrued, grown to maturity.
Achievement, a term used for a fully marshalled coat, but generally for a funeral hatchment.
Acorned, bearing acorns
Addorsed, placed back to back.
Affronté, full-faced.
Agnus Dei, a lamb bearing a cross, and having a halo or nimbus around its head.
Aisé, winged.
Alant, or aland, a mastiff dog with short ears.
Allerion, an eagle without beak or feet.
Ambulant, (see passant).
Amethyst, a precious stone, formerly used to express purpure.
Ancient, a small flag on the stern of a ship.
Ancred, or anchored, applied to a cross of which the four extremities resemble the flook of an anchor.
Annulet, a ring.
Antique Crown, (see Eastern Crown).
Appaumé, the hand open, presenting the palm, the fingers and thumb at full length.
Argent (arg.), silver or white.
Armed, all birds which have talons and bills that aid them to seize and rend their prey, are in blazon said to be armed when those weapons differ in tincture from their bodies. But to swans, wild geese, and other birds without talons, the word armed does not apply. They, in like case, are termed beaked and membered. Beasts are also described as armed, when their horns or hoofs are of another colour than their bodies.
Arraché, (see Erased).
Arrondie, made circular or round.
Assis, (see Sejant).
Attired, applied to the horns of animals of the deer species, instead of armed, as they are supposed to wear their antlers not as weapons, but ornaments.
Attires, the horns of a buck.
Azure (az.), blue.
Bailloné, applied to a lion holding a staff in his mouth.
Balista, (see Swepe).
Banded, encircled with a band or riband.
Bar, a horizontal division of the shield, occupying one fifth thereof.
Barbed, is derived from the French word "barbe." The five leaves which appear on the outside of a full-blown rose are, in Heraldry, called the barbs, and thus blazoned: a rose, gu., barbed and seeded ppr.
Barnacles, instruments used by farriers to curb horses.
Baron and femme, per, impalement of the arms of husband and wife.
Bars gemel, two bars or barrulets placed parallel to each other, the word "Gemel," being derived from "Gemelli" twins.
Barrulet, a diminutive of the bar.
Barry, and barruly, describes the field or charge, divided by horizontal lines
Basilisk, an heraldic monster, resembling in shape the wyvern or cockatrice, but having, at the end of its tail, the head of a dragon
Basnet (basinet), an old name for a helmet.
Baton, derived from the French word "baston," a staff or cudgel, and generally borne as a mark of Bastardy. It does not go from side to side of the shield as the bend does; but is couped in the form of a truncheon.
Battering-ram, an instrument used by the ancients to beat down the walls of a besieged city
Battled arrondie, denotes that the battlement is rounded at the top.
Battled-imbattled, one battlement upon another
Beacon, a contrivance anciently used to warn against the approach of an enemy, and to alarm the country. It is represented as an iron gate or basket containing fire, on the top of a high pole or pillar, against which a ladder is placed.
Beaked, (see Armed).
Bearing, applicable to any single charge or heraldic device.
Beaver, (see Visor).
Belled, applied to the hawk, to which bells are generally affixed.
Bend, a division of the shield, formed by two diagonal lines drawn from the dexter chief to the sinister base.
Bendlet, a diminutive of the Bend, of which it is half the breadth.
Bend sinister, a bend issuing from the sinister chief
Bendy, describes a field, or charge divided, diagonally, into four, six, eight, or more equal parts.
Bezant, an ancient gold coin of Byzantium, or Constantinople– in English Heraldry, represented as round, flat pieces of gold without impress.
Bezanté, semée of bezants.
Billets, oblong squares, by some supposed to represent bricks, by others letters.
Billeté, semée of billets.
Bird-bolt, a small arrow with a blunt head.
Bordure, an uniform border or edge to a shield, occupying one fifth of the field; in impaling the side of the bordure next to the divisional line is omitted.
Botonnée, applied to a cross, whose extremities resemble the trefoil.
Bouget, (see Water-bouget).
Bowed, embowed, or arched.
Braced, (see Interlaced).
Bretessé, imbattled, that has its battlements on each side, one against the other.
Breys, (see Barnacles).
Brimsey, a gad-fly
Brassarts, and brassets, armour for the elbows and arms.
Burgonet, a sort of steel cap, formerly worn by foot soldiers in battle.
Caboshed, or caboshed, applied to the head of any beast looking right forward, or full-faced, with nothing of the neck seen.
Cabrée, effray, or salient, terms applied to a horse rising on its hind feet.
Caduceus, a wand with two snakes entwined around it.
Caltrap, galtrap, or chevaltrap, an instrument, made of iron, which, in ancient times, was used in war to gall and wound the horses' feet, it having spikes so placed that whichever way it lay upon the ground, one point would always be uppermost.
Calvary, or Passion Cross, a cross having three steps.
Canting arms, such as have any punning reference or allusion to the name of the bearer.
Canton, a division of the shield, occupying a corner thereof, and in size one third of the chief.
Cartouche, a variously formed and fancifully fashioned oval, on which it was the custom of the old Heralds to depict the armorials of the Popes and all Churchmen, deeming the ordinary shield as inappropriate to their calling.
Cap of Maintenance, or Dignity, by the French called a chapeau: a head-gear of crimson velvet turned up with ermine.
Caparison, the trappings of a war-horse.
Carbuncle, (see Escarbuncle).
Casque, a helmet.
Castle, this bearing in heraldry is generally represented by two towers with a wall between them, the wall being embattled and having a gateway or entrance. A castle with three towers is similar to the last, but has a third tower appearing behind the gateway.
Cat-a-Mountain, a wild cat, always drawn guardant.
Catharine-wheel, an instrument of torture with iron teeth, so named from St. Catharine, the virgin having suffered upon it.
Celestial Crown, an eastern or antique crown, having a star on each point.
Centaur, or sagittarius, an imaginary creature, half man and half horse.
Cercelléе, (see recercellée).
Chain-shot, bullets united with a chain.
Chamber piece, a short piece of ordnance without a gun carriage (see Mortar).
Chapeau, (see Cap of Maintenance).
Chaplet, a garland of flower and leaves.
Charged, applicable to the field or ordinaries bearing any device upon them.
Charges, the bearings and emblems of Heraldry.
Chaussé, shod.
Chequy, or checky, a field covered with small squares of alternate tinctures
Cherub, a celestial being, frequently represented in Heraldry, as an infant's head between wings. This is a Hebrew word the plural of which is cherubim.
Chess-rock, a piece used in the game of chess.
Chevron, a division of the shield, shaped like the lower half of a saltire, occupying one third or one fifth of the shield, according to whether it be charged or not.
Chevronel, a diminutive of the chevron, of which it is half the size.

Counterfiory, a tressure flory, in which the alternate fleurs-de-lis are reversed.
Counter-potent, one of the heraldic furs, in which the heads of the "T" shaped sections are juxtaposed (see Potent).
Counter-vair, differs from Vair (q.v.), in that the rows of shields are arranged base against base, and point against point.
Couped, term used when the head or limb of an animal, or any other charge is cut off by an even line.
Couple-close, a diminutive of the chevron, and often borne with it as the cotise is borne with the bend; it contains one fourth of the chevron, and is always borne in pairs, and should be blazoned "a chevron between two couple-closes."
Courant, running.
Coward, an animal is termed coward when drawn with its tail between its legs.
Cramp, a piece of iron, turned up at each end, usually borne in pairs.
Crampet, crampit, chape, or batterolle, the steel mounting at the bottom of a sword scabbard.
Crenellée, (see Embattled).
Crescent, the crescent differs from the increscent and the decrescent in having its horns turned towards the chief of the shield
Crined, is used to describe the beard or hair when it differs in tincture from the body.
Cronel, the iron head of a tilting-spear.
Crosier, the staff of a prelate.
Cross, one of the honourable ordinaries, and perhaps the most widely-used of all heraldic devices, having more variants than any other; lack of space makes it impossible to reproduce illustrations of them here, but it is hoped that reference to the armorial bearings in which any particular type appears will make such illustrations unnecessary.
Crusily, when the field or charge is strewed over with crosses.
Cubit arm, an arm with the hand attached, couped at the elbow.
Cuisses, the armour covering the thighs and knees.
Dancettée, (in French, danché and dentellé) is applied to lines, of which the teeth or indents are larger and wider than those of a line indented.
Debruised, signifies an ordinary or sub-ordinary placed over an animal or other charge (see Surmounted).
Dechaussé, (see Dismembered).
Decked, when the feathers of a bird are trimmed at the edges with a small line of different tincture from the rest of the body, they are said to be decked of such colour or metal.
Decrescent, a half moon, having the horns towards the sinister side of the shield.
Defamed, without a tail.
Degreed, or degraded, having degrees, or steps at the end.
Dejected, a term in old blazon for anything thrown down, as "A garb dejected."
Delve, or delf, one of the nine marks of "abatement," a mark of disgrace for him who revokes a challenge, or goes from his word; it resembles a square turf, or clod of earth.
Demi, the half; in Heraldry the head or top part is always understood when no other is mentioned.
Despectant, a term applied to animals looking downwards.
Developed, unfurled, as colours flying.
Dexter, the right-hand side of a shield; it should be borne in mind that in an illustration of armorial bearings the dexter side is on the left of the page, since for the purpose of heraldic blazon the shield is viewed from the position of a person holding it.
Dimidiated, divided into two equal parts.
Disclosed, expanded or expansed, terms given to all fame fowl instead of displayed.
Dismembered, said of an animal or other charge cut into pieces, which are set at small distances from each other, but still preserve the form of the figure.
Displayed, applied to any bird of prey with its wings expanded.
Disponed, arranged.
Distilling, letting blood.

THE GENEALOGICAL OFFICE DUBLIN CASTLE.

THE office of Ulster King of Arms, which had existed from 1552, when it was instituted by EDWARD VI, was terminated on 31 March, 1943, and on 1 April, 1943, all the functions which had previously been performed by Ulster were formally invested in the Chief Herald, whose office, as was Ulster's, is at Dublin Castle. The six north-eastern counties of Ireland, which had formerly come under the jurisdiction of the Ulster King of Arms, were, in April, 1943, included in the office of the Norroy King of Arms, whose title thereafter was changed to "Norroy and Ulster."

The Chief Herald has sole jurisdiction within the state of Ireland on Heraldic matters and The College of Arms in London at present grants official recognition to grants of arms and confirmations issued by the Genealogical Officer of Eire within the limits of his jurisdiction. They also recognise the Genealogical Office as competent to deal with armorial matters in the case of non-British subjects of Eireann descent.

Edmondson, in his Heraldry (1780), states that it was in the sixth year of RICHARD II that mention was first made of Ireland King of Arms. From then until the time of EDWARD IV, who appointed Thomas Ashwell to the office, there was a regular succession of Ireland Kings of Arms. During the period between that Monarch's death and the erection of the first Ulster King of Arms, it is not known whether the title of Ireland existed, or what was done concerning Heraldic government in the country. The title of Ireland was changed to Ulster by EDWARD VI, who appointed Bartholomew Butler to the office by patent dated 1 June, 1552. The King, himself, however, in his Journal records it as a new institution: "Feb. 2—There was a King of Arms made for Ireland whose name was Ulster, and whose province was all Ireland; and he was the fourth King of Arms and the first Herald of Ireland."

From the time of the appointment of Butler until the death of Sir Nevile Rodwell Wilkinson on 22 December, 1940, there was a continuous succession of Ulster Kings of Arms. After his death the functions of the office were performed by the Deputy Ulster, Thomas Ulick Sadleir, Esq., until the transference of Heraldic jurisdiction in Ireland to Edward MacLysaght, Esq., M.A., D.Litt., M.R.I.A., the present Chief Herald.

We have the authority of the late Sir Nevile Wilkinson, K.C.V.O., Ulster King of Arms 1908–40, for the following outline of the functions of that office:—

The jurisdiction of Ulster King of Arms extended, after 1552, over the whole of Ireland, and he was the sole authority by Royal Letters Patent under the Great Seal for issuing Patents of Arms and recording family pedigrees of persons of Irish descent. These patents were of three kinds: firstly, grants of arms to non-armigerous persons; secondly, confirmations of arms which had been in use without heraldic authority for three generations (or 100 years); thirdly, exemplifications of arms to persons who had obtained a Royal Warrant to change their name and arms.

After the establishment of the Irish Free State Ulster King of Arms became Secretary as well as Registrar and Knight-Attendant of the Order of St. Patrick. He was at one time the senior and only permanent member of the Staff of H.E. The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland and was responsible for the arrangements connected with State Visits of the Sovereign, the proper conduct of Levées and Drawing-rooms, and the promulgation of Royal Proclamations. Since the appointment was for life, Ulster was permitted to appoint a Deputy when occasion arose. During the tenure of Sir Nevile Wilkinson a collection of objects of Heraldic interest was formed in Dublin Castle, and is open to the public. The Heralds in Ireland wore Tabards and uniforms similar to those worn by the Heralds in England, but Ulster wore a Harp pendant to his collar of SS, and a badge on which was enamelled the Quarter of Ireland from the Royal Arms, impaled with the Saltire of St. Patrick. Although Bartholomew Butler, the first to hold the office of Ulster, had previously been York Herald, the Irish King of Arms was not in any way subject to, or under the control of, Garter King of Arms or the English College of Arms. Nor was he under the authority of the Earl Marshal of England, whose jurisdiction was then, as now, confined to that country (Opinion of Law Officers, 23 April, 1810). The complete Roll of Ulster Kings of Arms is as follows:—

1 June, 1552. Bartholomew Butler, previously York Herald.

STYLES OF ADDRESS.

The King—Letters: "To The King's Most Excellent Majesty" or "His Most Gracious Majesty King George VI." Begin: "Sire" or "May it please Your Majesty." Conclude: "I remain, with the profoundest veneration, Your Majesty's most faithful subject and devoted servant." Spoken address: "Your Majesty."

The Queen—Letters: "To the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty" or "Her Gracious Majesty the Queen." Begin: "Madam" or "May it please Your Majesty." Conclude: "I remain, with the profoundest veneration, Your Majesty's most faithful and devoted servant." Spoken address: "Your Majesty."

Queen Mary—Letters: "To Her Gracious Majesty Queen Mary," otherwise as for the Queen.

Prince of the Royal Family—Letters: (a) a Prince who is also a Duke—"To His Royal Highness the Duke of ——," (b) a Prince who is not a Duke—"To His Royal Highness Prince ——." Begin: "Sir." Conclude: "I remain, with the greatest respect, Sir, Your Royal Highness's most dutiful and most obedient servant." Spoken address: "Your Royal Highness."

Princess of the Royal Family—Letters. (a) "The Princess Elizabeth—"To Her Royal Highness The Princess Elizabeth, Duchess of Edinburgh," (b) The Princess Royal—"To Her Royal Highness the Princess Royal," (c) Royal Duchesses—"To Her Royal Highness the Duchess of ——," (d) a Princess who is not a Duchess—"To Her Royal Highness Princess ——." Begin: "Madam." Conclude: "I remain, with the greatest respect, Madam, Your Royal Highness's most dutiful and most obedient servant." Spoken address: "Your Royal Highness."

Ambassador—(a) British Ambassador abroad. Letters: "To His Excellency His Britannic Majesty's Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to ——." Begin: "Sir" (or according to rank). Conclude: "I have the honour to be, Sir (or My Lord), Your Excellency's most humble and obedient servant." Spoken address: "Your Excellency." The wives of Ambassadors normally have no official status, but they are usually styled "Her Excellency" out of courtesy when resident in the capital to which the Ambassador is accredited. This title should not be used in England. (b) A Foreign Ambassador to the Court of St. James. Letters: "To His Excellency the Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of ——"; otherwise as for a British Ambassador. The wives of Foreign Ambassadors to the Court of St. James are usually styled "Her Excellency" out of courtesy.

Archbishop—Letters: "To His Grace the Lord Archbishop of ——." Begin: "My Lord Archbishop." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, My Lord Archbishop, Your Grace's most devoted and obedient servant." Spoken address: "Your Grace." The wife of an Archbishop has no right in title of her husband and is merely Mrs. ——. A retired Archbishop is addressed as "The Most Rev. Archbishop ——."

Archdeacon—Letters: "To the Venerable (John) ——" or "To the Venerable the Archdeacon of ——." Begin: "Venerable Sir." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, Venerable Sir, Your very obedient servant." Spoken address: "Sir."

Attorney-General—Letters: "To the Right Hon. Sir (John) ——, Attorney-General, K.C.," otherwise as for a Baronet.

Baron (also Life Baron—Lord of Appeal-in-Ordinary)—Letters: "To the Right Hon. Lord ——." Begin: "My Lord." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, my Lord, Your Lordship's obedient and humble servant." Spoken address: "My Lord" or "Your Lordship."

Baroness—Letters: "To the Right Hon. Lady ——." Begin: "Madam." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, Madam, Your Ladyship's obedient and humble servant." Spoken address: "My Lady," or "Your Ladyship."

Baron's Son—Letters: "To the Hon. (John) ——." Begin: "Sir." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant." Spoken address: "Sir." Wives of Barons' sons are addressed as "The Hon. Mrs. (John) ——," unless they are of higher rank than a Viscount's daughter. Spoken address: "Madam."

Baron's Daughter—Letters: (a) if unmarried—"To the Hon. (Mary) ——." (b) if married—the change is in her surname; if married to a commoner—"To the Hon. Mrs. ——;" if to a Knight or Baronet—"To the Hon. Lady ——." Begin: "Madam." Conclude: According to the rank of the husband. Spoken address: "Madam" (or according to the rank of the husband).

Baronet—Letters: "To Sir (John) —— Baronet." Begin: "Sir." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, Sir, Your humble and obedient servant." Spoken address: "Sir." Wives of Baronets are addressed as "Lady ——" (unless they are of higher rank as from their own families). Begin: "Madam." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, Madam, Your Ladyship's most obedient servant." Spoken address: "My Lady" or "Your Ladyship." The children of Baronets are merely "Esq." or "Miss."

Bishop—Letters: "To the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of ——," otherwise as for a Baron. Suffragan and Colonial Bishops are styled by courtesy in the same way. Retired Bishops are addressed as "The Right Rev. Bishop ——." Begin: "Right Reverend Sir." Irish, Scottish and Welsh Bishops are styled by courtesy the same as English Bishops, except the Bishop of Meath and the Primus in Scotland, who are styled "Most Rev." The wife of a Bishop has no right in title of her husband and is merely "Mrs. ——."

Cardinal—Letters: "To His Eminence Cardinal ——, Archbishop of ——" (if he is also an Archbishop). Begin: "My Lord Cardinal" or "My Lord." Conclude: "I remain, My Lord, Your Eminence's most devoted and obedient servant." Spoken address: "Your Eminence."

Clerk in Holy Orders (of the Anglican and Roman Catholic faiths)—Letters: "To the Rev. (John) ——." Begin: "Rev. Sir." Conclude: "I am Rev. Sir, Your obedient servant." Spoken address: "Sir." (All of this varies according to any other rank the clergyman may have—Clerical rank is prefixed to hereditary or state rank). For clergymen of other Christian denominations, use the prefix "Rev.," and begin: "Sir." Conclude: "I am Sir, Yours faithfully."

Colonial Judge—Chief Justices and Judges of the High Court of Australia and the Supreme Courts of New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, South Australia, Western Australia, Tasmania, New Zealand and South Africa; the Chief Justice, the Judges of the Supreme and Exchequer Courts of Canada and the Chief Justice and Judges of certain other courts in the several provinces of Canada; also such of the above as are permitted to retain the title after retirement, are styled "Honourable." Letters: "To the Hon. A. B——" or "To the Hon. Mr. Justice ——." Judges of other colonies are styled "His Honour" while in office.

Consul—Letters: "To ——, Esq., H.B.M. Consul" (Vice-Consul, Consul-General or Agent and Consul-General as the case may be).

Countess—Letters: "To the Right Hon. the Countess of ——," otherwise as for a Baroness.

Dame of Royal Victorian or British Empire Order—She has the title "Dame" prefixed to her Christian names, and the letters G.C.V.O., D.C.V.O., G.B.E., or D.B.E., as the case may be, after her surname. If married to a Peer, Baronet or Knight, she retains her married title with the appropriate letters (as above) after her surname.

Dean—Letters: "To the Very Rev. the Dean of ——." Begin: "Very Reverend Sir." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, Very Reverend Sir, Your most obedient servant." Spoken address: "Sir."

Divorced Ladies—They continue to be addressed according to the titles of their former husbands unless they re-marry, e.g., "Lady ——" or "Mrs.——." They cannot claim the privileges or status which they derived from their husbands, and have no official status. This applies to ladies who have divorced their husbands, as well as to those who have been divorced.

Dowager—This prefix is applied to the mother, step-mother or grandmother of a Peer or Baronet, (Dowager Countess of ——, Dowager Lady ——, etc.), though for some time past many of these ladies have preferred the use of the Christian name before their title (The Right Hon. Mary, Countess of ——, Elizabeth, Lady ——, etc.).

Duchess—Letters: "To Her Grace, the Duchess of ——." Begin: "Madam." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, Madam, Your Grace's most humble and most obedient servant." Spoken address: "Your Grace." (This does not apply to Royal Duchesses).

Duke—Letters: "To His Grace, the Duke of ——." Begin: "My Lord Duke." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, my Lord Duke, Your Grace's most devoted and most obedient servant." Spoken address: "Your Grace." (This does not apply to Royal Dukes).

Duke's Son—A Duke's eldest son takes by courtesy his father's second title, and is addressed personally as if he were a Peer. An eldest son's eldest son take by courtesy his grandfather's third title and is addressed in the same way. Duke's younger sons—Letters: "To Lord (John) ——." Begin: "My Lord." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, my Lord, Your Lordship's most obedient and humble servant." Spoken address: "My Lord" or "Your Lordship." The wife takes the title of "Lady" and is addressed as "Lady (John) ——."

Duke's Daughter—Letters: "To Lady (Mary) ——." Begin: "Madam." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, Madam, Your Ladyship's most obedient and humble servant." Spoken address: "My Lady" or "Your Ladyship." If married to a man who is not a Peer, she still retains her title and precedence, and only her surname is changed.

Earl—Letters: "To the Right Hon. the Earl (of) ——," otherwise as for a Baron.

Earl's Son—An Earl's eldest son takes his father's second title, and is addressed personally as if he were a Viscount or a Baron. An eldest son's eldest son is addressed as if his father were a Peer. The younger sons of an Earl and their wives are addressed in the same way as those of a Baron.

Earl's Daughter—Addressed in the same way as a Duke's daughter.

Governor of a Colony—Letters: "To His Excellency Governor (John) ——, Esq." or "To His Excellency (John) ——, Esq., Governor (and Commander-in-Chief) of ——." Begin: "Sir." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, Sir, Your Excellency's most obedient and humble servant." A Governor is styled "His Excellency" (preceding all other ranks and titles) while actually administering a Government, as also is an officer administering in his absence.

Governor-General—Addressed as "His Excellency" which precedes all other ranks and titles in exactly the same way as a Governor Since June, 1924, the style of "Her Excellency" has been confined to the wives of the Governors-General of the Dominions and of India. Previous to this, the wife of the Governor of a Province, State or Crown Colony had been addressed by courtesy as "Her Excellency" in the Colony under her husband's rule.

Judge of the High Court—Letters: "To the Hon. Mr. Justice ——." Begin: "Sir." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, Sir, Your most obedient and humble servant." Spoken address: "Sir," but when on the Bench, "My Lord" or "Your Lordship." Judges of County Courts are addressed as "His Honour Judge ——." (The prefix "His Honour" is retained after retirement.) Spoken address: "Your Honour," when on the Bench.

Justice of the Peace—Spoken address: "Your Worship," when on the Bench.

Knight—Letters: "To Sir (John) ——," if a Knight Bachelor, or with the appropriate letters after the surname if a Knight of a British Order of Chivalry, otherwise the same for a Knight and his wife as for a Baronet and a Baronet's wife. (N.B.: In addressing a Knight who holds more than one degree in one or more Orders of Chivalry, care must be taken to show only the senior appointment in each Order, i.e., G.C.V.O. (and not G.C.V.O., K.C.V.O., M.V.O.), etc. (see Orders of Knighthood, as to degrees).

Lieutenant-Governor—A Lieut.-Gov. is usually styled "His Honour."

London County Council Chairman—Letters: "To the Right Hon. the Chairman of the London County Council" or "To the Right Hon. (John) ——, Chairman of London County Council." Begin: "Sir" (or "Madam") if the Chairman is a commoner.

Lord Advocate—Letters: "To the Right Hon. the Lord Advocate." Begin: "Sir." The prefix "Right Hon." is not retained after retirement unless the Lord Advocate is also a Privy Counsellor.

Lord Chancellor—Letters: "To the Right Hon. the Lord High Chancellor," otherwise as for a Peer, according to rank.

Lord Chief Justice—Letters: "To the Right Hon. the Lord Chief Justice of England" or "To the Right Hon. Lord ——, Lord Chief Justice of England," otherwise as for a Judge, unless the Lord Chief Justice has a separate noble rank.

Lord Justice of Appeal—Letters: "To the Right Hon. Lord Justice ——" or "To the Right Hon. Sir (John) ——," otherwise as for a Judge.

Lord High Commissioner to the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland—Letters: "To His Grace the Lord High Commissioner," otherwise as for a Duke.

Lord Mayor—The Lord Mayors of London, York, Belfast, Dublin, Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, Perth, Brisbane and Hobart only, have the privilege of being styled "Right Hon." Letters: "To the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor of ——" or "To the Right Hon. (John) —— Lord Mayor of ——" (the prefix Right Hon. is not retained after retirement); otherwise as for a Baron. For other Lord Mayors—Letters: "To the Right Worshipful the Lord Mayor of ——." The wife of a Lord Mayor (Lady Mayoress) is styled the same as a Baroness, but only during her husband's term of mayoralty.

Lord of Session (Judge in Scotland)—Letters: "To the Hon. Lord ——;" otherwise as for a Baron. The wife of a Lord of Session has the title of "Lady," and is addressed in the same way as a Baron's wife.

Lord Provost (the Scottish equivalent of Lord Mayor)—The Lord Provosts of Edinburgh and Glasgow are addressed as "The Right Hon. the Lord Provost of ——" or "The Right Hon. (John) ——, Lord Provost of ——," otherwise as for a Baron, but the Lord Provosts of other cities are merely styled "Hon." These prefixes are not retained after retirement. Wives have no official status in right of their husband's office.

Maids of Honour—They have the title of "Honourable" (Hon.) prefixed to their Christian name, if they have none already by courtesy, and are addressed in the same manner as a Baron's daughter.

Marchioness—Letters: "To the Most Hon. the Marchioness of ——;" otherwise as for a Baroness.

Marquess—Letters: "To the Most Hon. the Marquess of ——." Begin: "My Lord Marquess." Conclude: "I have the honour to be, my Lord Marquess . . ." otherwise as for a Baron.

Marquess's Son—Addressed in the same way as a Duke's son (the eldest son taking his father's second title).

Marquess's Daughter—Addressed in the same way as a Duke's daughter.

Master of the Rolls—Letters: "To the Right Hon. the Master of the Rolls" or "To the Right Hon. ——," according to rank. Begin and conclude as for a Judge. Spoken address: "Sir," but "My Lord" or "Your Lordship" when on the Bench.

Mayor (either man or woman)—Letters (if of a City): "To the Right Worshipful the Mayor of ——" (if of a Borough): "To His Worship the Mayor of ——." Begin: "Sir" (or "Madam"). Conclude: "I am, Your Worship's most obedient servant." Spoken address: "Sir" (or "Madam").

Member of Colonial Executive or Legislative Council—These are entitled to use the prefix "Hon.," e.g., "The Hon. (John) ——."

Member of Parliament—According to rank, but with the addition of the letters M.P. after the title or surname.

Minister Resident—Letters: "To ——, Esq., H.B.M.'s Minister Resident to ——." Begin: "Sir." Conclude: "I am, Sir, Your most obedient servant." Spoken address: "Sir."

Moderator of the Established Church of Scotland—Letters: "To the Right Rev. the Moderator ——." Begin: "Sir." The Moderator is only addressed as "Right Rev." while in office, former Moderators being addressed "Very Rev."

Naval, Military and Air Force Officers—Officers of the three Services above the ranks of Sub-Lieutenant (Navy), Lieutenant and 2nd Lieutenant (Army), and Flying Officer and Pilot Officer (R.A.F.) have their particular rank prefixed to their name and title, e.g., "Admiral the Right Hon. the Marquess of ——," "General the Right Hon. Lord ——," "Air Marshal Sir (John) ——," "Commander (John) ——," etc.

Official Referee—Official Referees of the Supreme Court are addressed by the style and title of "His Honour" before their names.

Prime Minister—Addressed according to rank.

Privy Counsellor—Letters: "To the Right Hon. ——" (unless a Duke or a Marquess). Begin and conclude according to the rank of the Privy Counsellor. Members of the Privy Council of Canada are entitled to the style of "Hon."

Secretary of State—Letters: "To His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the —— Department" or "To the Right Hon. the Earl of —— (according to rank), His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the —— Department"; otherwise according to rank.

Solicitor-General—Letters: "To the Right Hon. Sir (John) —— Solicitor General, K.C."; otherwise as for a Baronet.

Vice-Chancellor—Letters: Same as for a Judge. Spoken address: "Sir," but "My Lord" or "Your Lordship" when on the Bench.

Viscount—Letters: "To the Right Hon. the Viscount ——"; otherwise as for a Baron.

Viscountess—Letters: "To the Right Hon. the Viscountess ——"; otherwise as for a Baroness.

Viscount's Sons and their Wives, and Viscount's Daughters—Same as for those of a Baron.

Widows—The widows of Peers and Baronets have their Christian names prefixed to their titles, e.g., "Her Grace, Mary, Duchess of ——", "The Right Hon. Jane, Countess of ——", "Lucy, Lady ——", etc., unless they are the sole living bearers of the title, when they are usually styled as in their husbands' lifetimes. A widow who re-marries someone of lower rank loses her title, and automatically takes the name of her new husband.

EXTINCT TITLES.

The following titles became extinct on the dates stated, and have been either removed from the work or taken into other titles as shown. Brief particulars of the living members of families whose titles have been thus removed are given hereunder.

NOTE: 1. Family surnames different from the title name are shown in brackets after the title.
2. Cross References are to extant titles, which will be found in the main body of the work (pp. 1-2197).

REPRESENTATIVE PEERS.

(arranged in alphabetical order for convenience of reference)

The Scottish Peers are represented in Parliament by 16 of their number elected by themselves.

Ireland should be represented by 28 Peers, but since the creation of the Irish Free State in 1922, no new machinery for holding elections to replace deceased peers has been set up. In consequence there will in time be no Irish Representative Peers in the Upper House.

PRECEDENCE

AND

SCALES OF GENERAL AND SOCIAL PRECEDENCE.

In the thirty-first year of King Henry VIII, Parliament, by Statutory Enactment, took cognizance of Precedence. It then passed the "Act for Placing the Lords," which, although it concerned directly only the Great Officers of State, and referred but incidentally to the places of the Nobility, has since been considered the chief authority for the marshalling of dignities. This Act was originated by the desire of The King, and it is declared, as a preliminary, that although it appertained altogether to the Royal Prerogative to give such honour, reputation, and placing to his Councillors and others his subjects as should be seeming to The King's most excellent wisdom, The King was nevertheless pleased and contented for an Order to be had and taken in his Most High Court of Parliament for the placing of the Great Officers and Lords. In addition to this Act of Parliament, the Scale of Precedence is sustained by Royal Ordinances and ancient usage. The least interference, unless made by Royal or Parliamentary authority, would be destructive of the right of someone entitled to rank on the scale.

The Law of Precedence, though thus confirmed temp. Henry VIII, dates from a far more distant era than the "Act for Placing the Lords." Regulations concerning it were officially issued at various periods long antecedent. The first, in point of date, was "The Order of all Estates of Nobles and Gentry of England," framed in 1339, and the last officially issued before the Statute of Henry VIII, the series ordinum of the reign of Henry VII, which Coke considers of the highest authority. The Statute of Henry VIII, was in the nature of a declaratory Act, confirming the ancient and pre-existing Law of Precedence, and, in confirmation of this, it is a matter of historical fact that the advice of Garter King of Arms was taken before the Bill was brought in.

The next important decrees of Precedence were those of James I, dated 1612 and 1616. A dispute had arisen between Barons' and Viscounts' younger sons, and the then newly created order of Baronets, as to which should take the higher place, and it was finally determined by The King himself in favour of the Peers' sons.

A leading principle of the Law of Precedence is that precedence emanates from father or husband, and cannot be derived from a female, unless in the case of a Peeress in her own right. The daughter and sole heiress of the first Duke of the Kingdom (unless a Peeress in her own right) would confer no higher precedence on her son, than if she were the daughter of a simple citizen.

It is very difficult to determine when precedence, in the descendants of Dukes, Princes of the Blood Royal, ends. Miles, in his Catalogue of Honour of the time of James I, a work of deep research, compiled from the MSS. of his uncle, the learned Robert Glover, Somerset Herald, at a period when the subject of precedence was much canvassed and considered, asserts that "Dukes descended of the Royal Blood" take place above Dukes not descended of the Royal Blood. At the Court of France, under the old régime, the Royal Family and its descendants were always first.

SCALE OF GENERAL OR SOCIAL PRECEDENCE.

THE precedence here indicated is that which is known as general or social precedence and is admitted on all occasions and in all society. The Clergy, the Bar, the Military, and other classes have amongst themselves a certain relative rank; but such relative rank is peculiar to each of these classes, and gives them no position on the general or social scale. The following scale comprises those only who enjoy dignities, or (in case of men) official appointments coming within some one of the authorities here cited of statute, patent, or usage.

The marks, or absence of marks, show the authorities.

RULES OF PRECEDENCE.

I.—Men of Official Rank, who have higher personal precedence, are placed according to that higher personal precedence.

II.—It is Men's Rank that confers precedence and regulates State Ceremonials. At the King's Courts, where husbands and wives pass His Majesty together, the precedence of the husbands is that which is regarded.

III.—The Wives and Children of Great Officers of State and of all of those who derive their places on the scale from official rank, have no consequent precedence, nor have the wives and children of Archbishops and Bishops.

IV.—A Lady, having precedence by birth (for instance, the daughter of a Peer, Baronet, or Knight), retains her innate rank and precedence although married to a Commoner, but if she be married to a Peer, her precedence is that of her husband.

V.—Widows of Peers, Baronets, and Knights, on marrying Commoners, continue by the etiquette of society, though not by law, to retain their titles and precedence. At a Coronation or other state ceremonial, widows of Peers who have married Commoners are not summoned to attend; this rule was followed at the funeral of the Duke of Wellington. In Society it is different, and the widows of Peers, Baronets, and Knights, married to untitled Commoners, generally adhere to the titles acquired by their first marriages, although the practice is not derived from right. Widows of "Honourables" who subsequently marry Commoners (not sons of Peers), are not allowed, even by the etiquette of society, to retain the prefix of "Honourable" after such subsequent marriages.

VI.—A Peeress in her own right does not lose her rank and precedence by marriage or widowhood; if she be married to a Peer of higher degree than her own, she has her husband's precedence.

VII.—Daughters of Peers, Baronets, and Knights, and other persons of dignity, rank next immediately after the wives of their eldest brothers.

VIII.—Dowager Peeresses, and Baronets' Widows take precedence of the wives of the existing Peers and Baronets of the same creations, from their being senior in the dignity, from their husbands having been nearer the succession; and on the same principle of being nearer the succession, the son of an existing Peer has precedence above the son of a previous holder of the same title.

IX.—Peers and Peeresses take rank among themselves, thus—I, of England; II, of Scotland; III, of Great Britain; IV, of Ireland; and V, of the United Kingdom and of Ireland created since the Union, according to the dates of the respective patents.

X.—Maids of Honour to Her Majesty The Queen* take rank after Barons' daughters, and are allowed the prefix of "Hon."

XI.—The Baronets of England, The Baronets of Ireland, The Baronets of Scotland, The Baronets of Great Britain, and the Baronets of the United Kingdom, take rank among themselves according to the dates of their respective patents. The Act of Union of Great Britain and Ireland, which fixes the precedence of the different orders of the Peerage, enacts no other precedence nor does it interfere with or disturb in the slightest degree any other forms of precedence that might then have been in force. It is silent as to the English, Irish, or Scottish Baronets, and consequently whatever precedence their original patents conferred, is not affected by that enactment. For instance, Sir John Ralph Coote inherits a Baronetcy of Ireland, conferred in 1621, and has, by right, the precedence of that date. There is no law or statute to deprive him of it, or to make him give place, for instance, to Sir David Henry Hawley, whose great-great-great-grandfather, Henry Hawley, was created a Baronet of Great Britain in 1795. Some argue that as the Act of Union fixed the precedence of the Peers of the Three Kingdoms, the precedence of the Baronets may be assumed by analogy; but surely no lawyer or herald would admit the power of "analogy" to destroy a right derived by Patent from the Crown.

XII.—Privy Counsellors of Great Britain and Privy Counsellors of Ireland take rank, inter se, according to the dates of their being sworn in.

XIII.—Ambassadors yield precedence only to members of the Royal Family of the Court to which they are accredited, and to the sons and brothers of Crowned Heads. Foreign Ministers and Envoys have no real claim to precedence. The question was raised and settled at the Congress of Vienna, in 1815, but of late years place has been allowed them in this country, after Dukes and before Marquesses.

XIV.—Esquires—Armiger, or Esquire, is not, like those names given in the Statute 1 Edward VI, c. 7, s. 3, a name of dignity, but is (as is also, according to Sir Edward Coke, Gentleman or Yeoman) a name of worship, and cannot be attached to any of the dignitaries mentioned in the Statute of Edward VI. The different classes to whom the title of Esquire belongs are :—

1. The sons of all the peers and lords of parliament during the lives of their fathers; the younger sons of peers after the death of their fathers; the eldest sons of the younger sons of peers and their eldest sons in perpetual succession.
2. Noblemen of other nations.
3. The eldest (and we think, if any, all the) sons of baronets, and the eldest sons of knights.
4. Esquires created expressly with a collar of SS, and spurs of silver—now obsolete.
5. Persons to whom the King gives arms by his own letters patent, with the title of Esquire.
6. Esquires of the Bath, and the eldest sons of those Esquires, pursuant to the statutes of the Order.
7. Barristers-at-law, by their office or profession.
8. Justices of the peace, and mayors, while in the commission, or in office.
9. Persons chosen Esquires to the body of the Prince—now obsolete.

* No ladies have yet been appointed Maids of Honour to the present Queen.

10. Persons attending on the Sovereign's coronation in some notable employment, or persons employed in any superior office of trust (where they have some discretionary power, and are not, such as clerks, merely ministerial) under the Crown, or serving in some place of better note in the King's Household.
11. Persons who are styled Esquires by the King in their patents, commissions, or appointments, such as sheriffs of counties, or officers in the navy and in the army so described in their commissions.
12. Attorneys in colonies, where the departments of counsel and attorney are united.

XV.—H.M. LIEUTENANT OF A COUNTY AND THE HIGH SHERIFF OF A COUNTY are given the first places in their own counties during their term of office. Doubts as to the relative precedence of these in England and Wales were set at rest by Royal Warrants, 18th Feb. 1904, which gave precedence to the Lieutenant of a County before the Sheriff of a County.

XVI.—ARCHBISHOPS take precedence of all Dukes next to those of the Blood Royal. The Archbishop of Canterbury ranks as first lord, and the Archbishop of York as third coming immediately after the Lord Chancellor.

XVII.—By an act of parliament passed in the thirty-first year of HENRY VIII, it was settled that Bishops take precedence of all Barons, and immediately after Viscounts; the Bishops of London, Durham, and Winchester, preceding their Right Reverend brethren, who take rank among themselves according to seniority of consecration.

XVIII.—Privy Counsellors not being Peers or holding certain offices, are placed immediately after Knights of the Garter. In the Privy Council, all persons who have higher rank than that of Privy Councillor take precedence according to such higher rank. All who have no such higher rank take precedence according to the date of their being sworn into the Privy Council.

XIX.—Special precedence is assigned to the Lord Chief Justice of England, the Master of the Rolls, and the President of the Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty Division of the High Court of Justice by virtue of their offices. The precedence of the other judges (who take rank among themselves according to seniority of appointment) is as follows :—

Lords Justices of Appeal.

Judges of the High Court of Justice.

Judges of County Courts, Serjeants-at-Law, Masters in Chancery, and Masters in Lunacy follow the Knights Bachelors, and precede the Companions of the several Orders of Knighthood.

Vice-Chancellor of the County Palatine of Lancaster takes precedence immediately after judges of the High Court.

PRECEDENCE IN THE COLONIES.

(amended as at 28 Sept. 1948.)

The precedence of Officers in Colonies is determined by Colonial enactments, by Royal Charters, by Instructions either under the Royal Sign Manual and Signet, or through the Secretary of State, or by authoritative local usage. In the absence of any special authority, it is customary for Governors to guide themselves by reference to the subjoined table.

GENERAL TABLE OF COLONIAL PRECEDENCE.

The Governor, or Officer administering the Government.
The Lieutenant-Governor.
The officer in command of the Naval Forces on the Station in which the Colony is included if holding rank equivalent or superior to that of Rear-Admiral, the officer in command of the land forces in the Colony if holding rank equivalent to that of Major-General, and the officer in command of the air forces in the Colony if holding rank equivalent or superior to that of Air Vice-Marshal, their own relative rank and precedence being determined by the King's Regulations on that subject.
The Chief Justice.
The officer in command of the Naval Forces on the Station in which the Colony is included if of the rank of Commodore, the officer in command of the land forces in the Colony if of the rank of Brigadier, and the officer in command of the air forces in the Colony if of the rank of Air Commodore, their own relative rank and precedence being determined by the King's Regulations on that subject.
The Colonial Secretary.
The Members of the Privy or Executive Council.
The officer in command of the Naval Forces on the Station in which the Colony is included if of the rank of Captain or Commander, the officer in command of the land forces in the Colony if of the rank of Colonel or Lieutenant-Colonel, and the officer in command of the air forces in the Colony if of the rank of Group Captain or Wing-Commander, their own relative rank and precedence being determined by the King's Regulations on that subject.
The Puisne Judges.
The President of the Legislative Council.
The Members of the Legislative Council.
The Speaker of the House of Assembly.
The Members of the House of Assembly.
The Chief Commissioners, Government Agents or Residents of Provinces.
The Solicitor-General.
The officer in command of the Naval Forces on the Station in which the Colony is included if below the rank of Commander, the officer in command of the land forces in the colony if below the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, and the officer in command of the air forces in the Colony if below the rank of Wing Commander, their own relative rank and precedence being determined by the King's Regulations on that subject.

The Auditor-General or Inspector-General of Accounts.
The Treasurer or other Principal Financial Officer.
The Principal Medical Officer.
The Comptroller or other Chief Officer of Customs.
The Director of Public Works or Surveyor-General.
The Clerk of the Executive Council.
The Clerk of the Legislative Council.
The Clerk of the House of Assembly.

} Not being Members of Executive or Legislative Councils.

Members of the Royal Family take precedence next after the Governor of the Colony.
Persons entitled to precedence in the United Kingdom, in Foreign Countries, but in the absence of any special Instructions from the King, the precedence of such persons will be determined by the Governor.
British subjects, other than Colonial Officials, enjoying in the United Kingdom precedence by right of birth or by dignity conferred by the Crown cannot lose such precedence while either temporarily or permanently residing in a Colony.

PRECEDENCE BETWEEN CONSULAR OFFICERS AND OFFICERS OF THE FIGHTING SERVICES.

The comparative precedence of consular officers and of officers in His Majesty's Military, Naval and Air Forces is as follows :—

Consuls-General	Rear Admirals

PRECEDENCE OF DIPLOMATIC AGENTS.

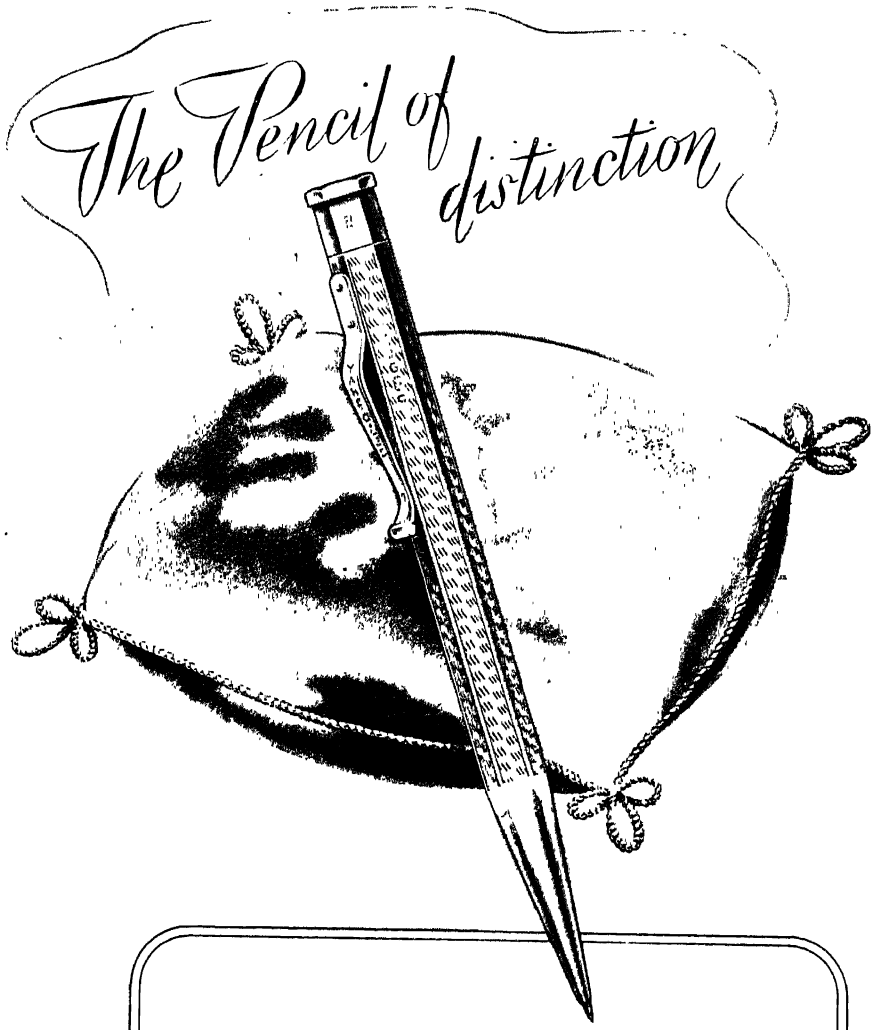
Regulations annexed to the Vienna Congress Treaty of June 9, 1815.

In order to prevent the inconveniences which have frequently occurred, and which might again arise, from claims of precedence among different Diplomatic Agents, the Plenipotentiaries of the Powers who signed the Treaty of Paris have agreed on the following Articles, and they think it their duty to invite the plenipotentiaries of other Crowned Heads to adopt the same regulation :

ARTICLE I.—Diplomatic Agents are divided into three classes : That of Ambassadors, of Sovereigns, and that of Chargés d'Affaires accredited to Ministers for Foreign Affairs.

II. Ambassadors, Legates, or Nuncios only, have the representative character.

III. Diplomatic Agents on an extraordinary mission have not, on that account, any superiority of rank.

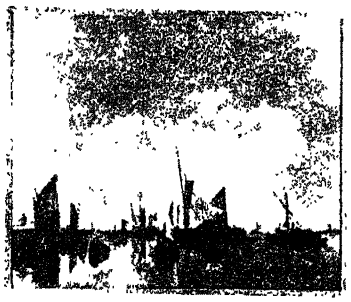


IV. Diplomatic Agents shall take precedence in their respective classes according to the date of the official notification of their arrival. The present Regulation shall not cause any innovation with regard to the Representatives of the Pope.

V. A uniform mode shall be determined in each State for the reception of Diplomatic Agents of each class.

VI. Relations of consanguinity, or of family alliance between Courts, confer no precedence on their Diplomatic Agents. The same rule also applies to political alliances.

VII. In Acts or Treaties between several Powers which grant alternate precedence the order which is to be observed in the signatures shall be decided by lot between the Ministers.



The present Regulation is inserted in the Protocol of the Plenipotentiaries of the Eight Powers who signed the Treaty of Paris at their sitting of the 19th March, 1815.

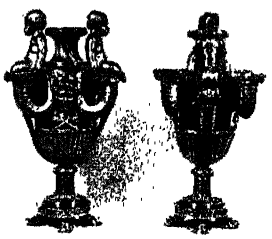
THOSE finding the need for one reason or another to sell fine antique furniture, works of art and paintings, and where it is imperative that the highest prices be realised, are invited to communicate with me. By so doing they will be virtually putting themselves in touch with the best markets in the world for the particular objects that are for disposal.



I should be pleased to furnish references if required and will undertake any journey at reasonably short notice. I make no charge for a visit of inspection, but it is stressed that I am able to deal only with articles of first rate importance such as are shown herewith, all of which have recently passed through my hands.

KEY TO THE WORK AND GUIDE TO PRECEDENCE.

In this Key will be found the names of persons (or cross-reference to persons) who cannot readily be identified by reference to the main Sections of the work, for one or more of the following reasons :

(a) Where family name differs from that of title.

(b) Courtesy titles in use (in italics).

(c) Change of name by assumption (Deed Poll, Royal Licence, or Sign Manual).

(d) Change of name by marriage, or re-marriage (unless married into a family whose genealogy appears in the work, and cannot similarly be identified—see (a)).

(e) Titles having become extinct.

(f) Hyphenated names.

NOTES :

(1) Where the family name does not differ from that of the Title, the person sought will be found by reference to either the " Peerage and Baronetage " or " Knightage " Sections, as appropriate.

(2) Wives and (where known) children of Lords of Session, Privy Counsellors, Knights, Companions of Honour and Members of the Order of Merit will be found referred to in their husbands' biographies in the " Knightage " Section, with a cross-reference to their own families should they be members of families titled otherwise.

(3) Throughout the work, hyphenated names will be found listed alphabetically under the final part of the names, thus " Smith-Jones-Robinson-Brown " would be found under " Brown."

(4) GUIDE TO PRECEDENCE.

The general precedence of title-holders, members of their families, and persons of official rank can be determined by reference to the opening chapters of this Section and the Tables which follow. Local precedence is, of course, that usually acknowledged by Society and too well known to be repeated here. In this latter connection, however, it is pertinent to state that when, for example, one entertains a person well known in his or her own sphere, but perhaps not included in this or any other work, the dictates of ordinary good manners would apply.

The House of HUTCHINSON

In 1949 it will be sixty years since the House of Hutchinson was founded. In this long period they have published millions of books, and for the comprehensiveness and variety of their publications the firm is unrivalled by any other publisher.

The most famous authors in the world have been published by the House of Hutchinson, and the range of their publications is the widest in the world for they cover every class of literature and deal with every aspect of life.

The House of Hutchinson have published books with the Gracious Permission of His Majesty the King; the authorised lives of members of many Royal Families, of Prime Ministers and leading statesmen and politicians, great generals, admirals and lawyers; in fact it is true to say that the names of the most famous and distinguished people in every walk of life have at one time or another appeared in the lists of the House of Hutchinson.

Beau Brummell once said "I think that with a moderate degree of prudence and economy a young man might manage to dress on £800 a year." He probably said it in Covent Garden, a district that was for centuries famous as the home of the gay, the gifted and the well dressed. To-day, though Beau Brummell and his fellow-dandies have gone, Covent Garden's tradition of fine dress lives on at Moss Bros.

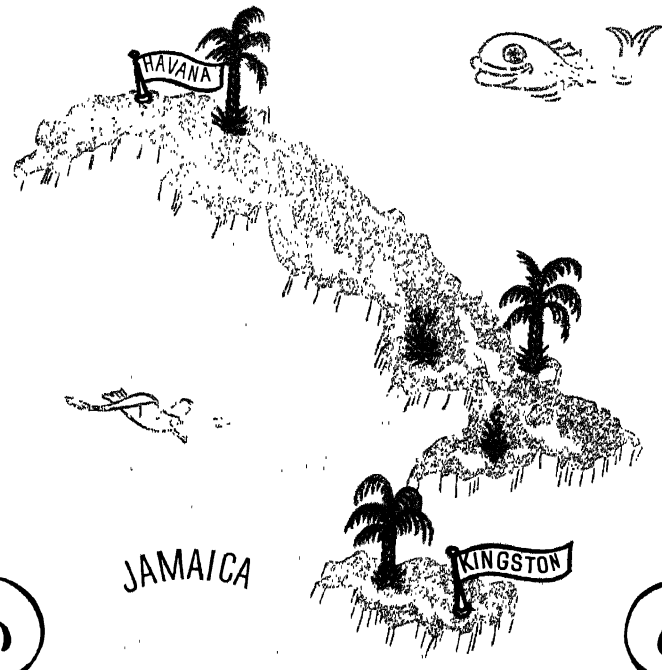
The quality that belongs to great traditions

Pomp and ceremony have little part in our busy lives, but few can resist the appeal of the great traditions they represent.



ROCOLA for over 100 years has put quality to the front and this is also a great tradition.

"CHRISTIES"

(CHRISTIE, MANSON & WOODS LTD.)

A PICTURE SALE AT CHRISTIES 1790 BY THOMAS ROWLANDSON

FOR nearly 200 years, Christies have been world renowned.

They have had the privilege of selling by auction most of the famous Collections of Works of Art which have been dispersed in England over that period. Their services are at the disposal of all who may wish to consult them.

What is VIVISECTION?

VIVISECTION means scientific experiments on living animals. Many of these experiments cause very great pain.

IT IS claimed by pro-vivisectionists that animal experimentation is advancing the science of medicine. On the other hand, doctors of the highest standing and qualifications have denied this.

THE CASE against what is commonly known as vivisection is founded in the main on a very simple proposition:—That it is base and cowardly to attempt to derive some advantage from inflicting cruel suffering on dogs and other defenceless animals.

THAT PROPOSITION is entirely in harmony with the established ethical principle that no end, however good, can justify evil means to its attainment.

THE EVIDENCE that vivisection is often exceedingly cruel is overwhelming. Apart from the fact that our law governing this practice explicitly sanctions the infliction of "severe pain," there is the testimony of the experimenters themselves as published in their scientific journals.

Particulars of Cruel Experiments on animals can be obtained from—

Confident Motherhood

If you cannot give your baby his natural food you must satisfy yourself that the substitute is the closest possible copy of Nature's prescription. Most doctors and nurses will tell you that the finest substitute is COW & GATE Milk Food. We call it the food of Royal babies because Princes and Princesses have in the last two decades been brought up on COW & GATE. We use the phrase in no mood of snobbery ; we state a fact. Royal babies naturally command the very best. The food prescribed for them is available for your child. Every chemist has it.

CAMP
Surgical Supports

Camp Supports are prescribed by Physicians and Surgeons throughout the country.

The CAMP system of surgical and orthopædic support renders a world-wide service for adults and juveniles of both sexes. The name and address of the nearest CAMP dispenser will be sent on request.

The System and the Service have become standard throughout the World.

SUCCESS

is the Spur

TO-DAY 1500 SMITH BOOKSTALLS AND SHOPS are bringing to the British public newspapers, books, magazines, stationery, gifts and library service • And where there have been gaps in our service due to enemy action new Smith shops are springing into place • The airports, too, are a fresh field of activity, and here the newest type of Smith bookstall is seen and used to advantage • Pullman car passengers need no longer chafe for the reading matter they have left behind—a salesman is travelling with the train, always ready to supply them en route • In fact wherever you may travel you are within reach of our attention, for newspapers, books and magazines can be sent by post to any part of the world.

a brilliant new Jaguar

with 20 new and important features

The new Mark V Jaguar Saloon, on 2½ and 3½ litre chassis, is a brilliant successor to a long line of distinguished forerunners. Each of the 20 new features — including independent front suspension, fully hydraulic 2-leading shoe Girling Brakes, entirely new frame, new Burman re-circulating ball-type steering, and new transmission system — has been developed after patient research and tests, not hurriedly designed merely to keep abreast of a trend. The Jaguar range also includes a new Drophead Coupe, on 2½ and 3½ litre chassis, incorporating 19 new advancements; and a remarkable Super Sports Model powered by a newly-designed 2 litre or 3½ litre twin overhead camshaft engine.

THE FINEST CAR OF ITS CLASS IN THE WORLD

Threads from the loom of time

PRELUDE TO AN INDUSTRY . . .

WHEN the good people of London offered asylum to the Huguenots nearly three centuries ago, there was little reason to suppose that within a hundred years of settlement in England, a descendant of one of these immigrant families would lay the foundations of the House of Courtaulds. Ever since those early days, the name of Courtaulds has been, and will continue to be, associated with new developments in the application of rayon, which will benefit mankind in a measure not less notable than the evolution and perfection of rayon.

It is still alas! not very easy to find Aertex — for the present simple standards laid down will not permit the manufacture of much of the complicated fabric which is the real Aertex cellular weave. But soon, we hope, regulations may be relaxed and then Aertex will be freely available again. In the meantime, Aertil, the utility Aertex is a little easier to buy.

The aims of

THE TIMES

TO BE THE FIRST but not the hastiest with the news; to be serious without dullness or solemnity; to persuade and not to dogmatize; to be emphatic without becoming hysterical; to be graphic without sensationalism; to give the story and to reject the "stunt"; to miss nothing that is amusing and to keep the trivial in proportion; to give the news faithfully and fully without "featuring" the worst side of human nature—these have been the aims of The Times for generations, and these are its aims to-day

THE DISCOVERY OF VALUABLE BOOKS IN COUNTRY-HOUSE LIBRARIES is not unusual. On many occasions unsuspected rarities have been found amongst volumes which have lain unused and unread for generations. Whilst the value of many "great books" is obvious, it often happens that an apparently trivial pamphlet will fetch an unexpectedly high price. Large sums are often realised by the sale of books the absence of which does not affect the extent or the appearance of the library to any appreciable degree.

But it is an expert's job! To those who may desire information and advice Messrs. Robinson offer their services. For seventy years they have specialised in the purchase by private treaty of Country House libraries, smaller collections, or single volumes of importance. They are ready at all times to send a competent valuer to make an inspection and report without fee or obligation. Distance is no object. Should a purchase result it would be paid for immediately and removed without trouble or expense. All communications and transactions are treated in confidence. May we give you our advice?

St. Dunstan's work goes on

Blindness as a result of war injuries often descends on its victims years after the fighting has ceased. Through its specialized training and long experience, St. Dunstan's helps the war-blinded ex-servicemen and women of this last war and of the First World War to lead active and useful lives in many trades and professions.

For this vital work to go on, St. Dunstan's relies on the continued support of the public — since it is not being taken over by the Government as a hospital in the sense of the new National Health Service.

WEARING OF ORDERS, DECORATIONS AND MEDALS IN MORNING DRESS

REGULATIONS ISSUED BY THE CENTRAL CHANCERY OF THE ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD, ST. JAMES'S PALACE, S.W.1, OCTOBER, 1919; REPRINTED, APRIL, 1932.

All members of the various Orders of Knighthood, etc., and all persons who have been awarded Decorations and Medals may, should they wish to do so, wear their Insignia, Decorations, and Medals with Morning Dress on Official Occasions and at Public Functions.

The Ribbons of the Orders, Decorations, and Medals, may be worn on all occasions at the discretion of the holder.

The method of wearing the Insignia of Orders, also Decorations and Medals, on Official Occasions and at Public Functions with Morning Dress is as follows:—

Knights Grand Cross	Should wear the Star only on the left breast of the coat or in a corresponding place on the dress, as the case may be.
Knights Grand Commanders ...
Dames Grand Cross
Knights Commanders
Dames Commanders
Members of the Order of Merit	Should wear the ribbon to which the Badge is suspended under the tie, which should be a bow, the badge hanging about three-quarters of an inch below the bow.
Men who are Members of the Order of the Companions of Honour
Companions of the several Orders of Knighthood
Commanders of the Royal Victorian Order
Men who are Commanders of the Order of the British Empire...
Members of the Order of the Crown of India	Should wear the Badges, Decorations, and Medals on the left breast of the coat, or in a corresponding place on the dress, as the case may be.
Women who are Members of the Order of the Companions of Honour
Women who are Commanders of the Order of the British Empire
Companions of the Distinguished Service Order...
Members of the 4th Class of the Royal Victorian Order ...
Officers of the Order of the British Empire
Companions of the Imperial Service Order
Members of the 5th Class of the Royal Victorian Order ...
Members of the Order of the British Empire
Persons who have been decorated with:—
The Victoria Cross
The Royal Red Cross
The Distinguished Service Cross
The Military Cross
The Distinguished Flying Cross
The Air Force Cross
Persons who have been awarded medals

The method of wearing the ribbons of Orders, Decorations, and Medals, which will be the same in all cases, both for men and women, is as follows:—

A piece of the ribbon, one-and-a-half inches wide, or the width of the medal ribbon, and half-an-inch in depth, mounted on a bar of metal in the form of a brooch, to be worn on the left breast of the coat, or in a corresponding place on the dress, as the case may be.

NOTE.—The above intimation only refers to Morning Dress, and does not alter the regulations with regard to wearing Orders, Decorations, and Medals, with Uniform, or with Evening Dress.

WEARING OF ORDERS, MINIATURE DECORATIONS AND MEDALS WITH EVENING DRESS

By His Majesty's Command the former Regulations, defining the occasions when Orders, Miniature Decorations, and Medals, are worn with Evening Dress, are cancelled.

In future, Knights and Dames Grand Cross, and Knights and Dames Commanders, on all occasions when wearing the Stars of their Orders, will also wear a Riband and Badge.

The following are the occasions upon which Orders, Miniature Decorations, and Medals, are to be worn with Evening Dress viz.:—

(1) At all Parties and Dinners when any of the following Members of the Royal Family are present:—

Their Majesties—
- The King and Queen.
- Queen Mary.

Their Royal Highnesses—
- The Princess Elizabeth, Duchess of Edinburgh, and the Duke of Edinburgh.
- The Princess Margaret.
- The Duke and Duchess of Gloucester.
- The Princess Royal.
- The Duke of Windsor.
- The Duchess of Kent.
- Princess Arthur of Connaught.
- Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone.

(The host should notify his guests if any of these Members of the Royal Family will be present.)

(2) At all Parties and Dinners given in houses of Ambassadors and Ministers accredited to this Court, unless otherwise notified by the Ambassador or Minister concerned.

(A Decoration of the Country concerned should be worn in preference to a British one, and if both are worn, the former should take precedence of the latter.)

PEERAGES IN ORDER OF PRECEDENCE

1. Extinct and forfeited peerages are omitted. The titles of peerages in abeyance or dormant are printed in italics. The titles removed from the Rolls of Peers in pursuance of the Order of the King in Council, 28 March, 1919, are omitted.

2. The superior title of each peer is alone mentioned, all minor dignities being omitted.

3. The dates of creation are stated in each case.

4. (E.) indicates a peerage of England; (S.) a peerage of Scotland; (G.B.) a peerage of Great Britain; (I.) a peerage of Ireland; and (U.K.) a peerage of the United Kingdom.

5. "All peers of Scotland shall be peers of Great Britain; and have rank next after the peers of a like degree in England at the time of the Union."—23rd Article of Union with Scotland, confirmed by 5 ANNE, cap. 8. 1 May, 1707.

"The Lords of parliament on the part of Ireland shall have the same privileges as the Lords on the part of Great Britain; and all the Lords Spiritual of Ireland shall have rank next after the Lords Spiritual of the same rank in Great Britain, and shall enjoy the same privileges (except those depending upon sitting in the House of Lords); and the Temporal Peers of Ireland shall have rank next after the Peers of the like rank in Great Britain at the time of the Union; and all Peerages of Great Britain and Ireland shall in all other respects enjoy the same privileges, except those depending upon sitting in the House of Lords."—Act of Union with Ireland, 39 and 40 GEO. III., cap. 67. 1 Jan. 1801.

THIS Association, originally known as "The Honourable Society of the Baronetage," was formed at a Meeting to which the whole of the Baronetage were invited, on January 26, 1898; the Society was dissolved on February 20, 1903, and reconstituted under its present title.

The Standing Council was established as an organisation of a permanent character to deal with all affairs connected with the hereditary Degree, and afford to the members thereof means of intercommunication. Its principal objects are:—

1. To obtain the preparation of an accurate Roll of the Baronetage, and to see that the same is properly kept.
2. To take such action in the interests of the Baronetage, or of any individual Baronet, and of the privileges of Baronets and members of their families as from time to time may be decided.

The Standing Council consists of:—

(a) Members: who must be persons, either Peers or Baronets, in actual lawful possession of a Baronetcy; or the Wives of such persons, or the Widows of persons who have been in lawful possession of a Baronetcy.

(b) Associates: who must be heirs apparent or presumptive to any lawful Baronetcy, or the Sons and Daughters of a lawful Baronet, or honorary officers of the Council for the time being.

Since the formation of the Standing Council and its predecessor, it has been successful in obtaining the restoration of several privileges, which—owing partly to the apathy of the members of the Degree for many generations past, and probably owing to the fact that, since the erection of the Degree in 1611, there has not been any central office or committee representing the Degree—have been allowed to lapse. Although it had been the practice to invite representatives of the Baronetage to the coronations of the Kings and Queens of England, invitations were not extended to the Baronetage for the coronations of GEORGE IV, WILLIAM IV, and VICTORIA; but owing to the energetic representations made by the Executive Committee of the Honourable Society of the Baronetage, invitations to the Coronation of KING EDWARD VII and QUEEN ALEXANDRA (and to the two subsequent Coronations), were issued to representative Baronets of the five creations—namely, Baronets of England, of Ireland, of Scotland, of Great Britain, and of the United Kingdom—and to their wives.

In a similar way invitations were issued to the subsequent Coronation Services at St. Paul's Cathedral, and to attend the funeral of KING EDWARD VII at St. George's Chapel, Windsor.

For many years no difference was made in the lists recording Baronets and Knights who attended the Drawing Rooms and Levées held during the reign of QUEEN VICTORIA, but owing to the representations of the Standing Council a separate list of Baronets attending Courts and Levées is now issued from the Lord Chamberlain's Office.

A considerable time before the formation of the Standing Council and its predecessor, invitations to Court were issued to many persons, describing them as Baronets merely on their own personal descriptions as such, and persons were gazetted even to commissions in the Army and Navy as Baronets, without any proof having been required as to their right to so designate themselves. Owing, however, to representations made to the Lord Chamberlain, much greater care is now exercised in this direction.

As the result of a Petition to KING EDWARD VII, a Committee, presided over by the Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery, was appointed November 3, 1905, by Mr. Akers-Douglas, then Home Secretary, to inquire whether any, and if so what, steps should be taken to safeguard the status of the Baronetage. The Committee took evidence from Garter, Lyon, and Ulster Kings of Arms, from Baronets and other representatives of the Standing Council of the Baronetage, including Admiral Sir Lambton Loraine, Baronet, the then Chairman of the Executive Committee of this Association, and the Registrar, as well as from Baronets who desired to be heard independently, and from others interested in, or having a special acquaintance with, the matters referred to. This Committee issued its Report on December 12, 1906, and amongst other suggestions recommended the formation of a Roll to be in the custody of an Official of the Home Office, and on February 8, 1910, a Royal Warrant was issued under the Sign Manual of KING EDWARD VII, prescribing that an Official Roll of Baronets should be prepared, in consultation with the Garter, Lyon, and Ulster Kings of Arms, and kept in the Home Office; and that no person whose name is not entered therein shall be received as a Baronet, or be addressed or mentioned by that title in any Civil or Military Commission, Letters Patent, or other official document.

The Official Roll was prepared by the late Col. Pixley for the Home Secretary, and when finally settled was printed as a supplement to the London Gazette. A special Committee of the Privy Council is appointed from time to time to hear applications to be placed on this Roll. Several such applications have been heard, some of which were rejected, while in other cases recommendations were made to the King to place the name of the applicant on the Roll. This Roll, which is now under the control of Henry Austin Strutt, Esq., C.V.O., of the Home Office, Registrar of the Official Roll, is printed and issued annually by the Standing Council, as part of their Year Book, which contains, in addition, much information relating to the constitution and objects of the Council.

BARONETCIES IN ORDER OF PRECEDENCE.

THIS list, compiled for the purpose of showing the relative precedence of baronets and their relations, conforms to the order in which the baronetcies are ranked in the Official Roll.

The numbers placed opposite to the names differ from those in the Roll owing to the omission from this list of Baronetcies merged in peerages or in baronetcies of earlier creation. The names of dormant baronetcies are printed in italics.

The surnames of the present baronets are alone mentioned though they differ in many cases from the surnames of those upon whom the baronetcies were originally conferred.

With regard to the dates of creation before 1752 the new style only is used in this list so as to be in accordance with the Official Roll.

THE ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD.*

(Including O.M., R.V.C., C.H., V.A., C.I.)

THE MOST NOBLE ORDER OF THE GARTER.

Instituted by King Edward III about August, 1348.

(K.G.)

HABIT AND INSIGNIA.

THE GARTER of dark-blue velvet, edged with gold, bearing the motto in golden letters with buckle and pendant of gold richly chased. The garter is worn on the left leg below the knee.

THE HOOD of crimson velvet.

* Throughout this Section no attempt has been made to depict all the Collars, Ribands, Stars and Badges of the various Orders of Knighthood. Those shown are intended to be representative.

NOTE.—The illustrations of the various degrees of the Order of the British Empire as shown in the 1939 Edition of BURKE'S Peerage required alteration. As the alterations could not be carried out in time for this Edition, the illustrations have therefore been omitted.

THE SURCOAT likewise of crimson velvet, lined with white taffeta.

THE HAT of black velvet, lined with white taffeta; a plume of white ostrich feathers, in the centre of which a tuft of black heron's feathers, all fastened to the hat by a band of diamonds.

THE COLLAR, gold, consisting of twenty-six pieces, each in form of a garter, enamelled azure and appended thereto,

THE GEORGE, or figure of St. George on horseback, encountering the dragon. The George is worn appended to the collar; and the lesser George, pendent to a broad dark-blue ribbon over the left shoulder.

THE STAR of eight points, silver, upon the centre of which the Cross of St. George, gules, encircled with the garter.

By a statute passed on the 28 June, 1831, the Order is to consist of the Sovereign, and twenty-five Knights-Companions, together with such lineal descendants of KING GEORGE the First as may be elected always excepting the Prince of Wales, who is a constituent part of the original institution. Special statutes have since, at different times, been promulgated for the admission of Sovereigns and Extra Knights, the latter of whom have, however, always become part of the twenty-five Companions on the occurrence of vacancies.

(K.T.)

MOTTO—NEMO ME IMPUNE LACESSIT.

THE STAR of this Order, which is worn on the left side of the coat or cloak, consists of a St. Andrew's cross of silver embroidery, with rays emanating from between the points of the cross, in the centre of which is a Thistle of green, heightened with gold, upon a field of gold, surrounded by a circle of green, bearing the motto of the Order in golden characters.

THE JEWEL is worn at a Green Riband over the left shoulder, and has on one side the image of St. Andrew with his cross before enamelled and enriched with precious stones round it, on the back of which shall be enamelled a Thistle gold and green the flower reddish with the motto round it. The ground upon which the Thistle is to be done is enamelled green.

THE BADGE, worn pendant to the collar, consists of a figure of St. Andrew, of gold enamelled, with his gown green and the surcoat purple, bearing before him the cross, enamelled white, the whole surrounded by rays of gold in the form of a glory; the cross and feet resting upon the ground, of enamelled green.

THE COLLAR is of Thistle, intermingled with sprigs of rue.

THE MANTLE, or Robe. is of green velvet lined with taffeta and tied with cords and tassels of green and gold. On the left side is the figure of St. Andrew bearing the cross, in silver embroidery on a green ground, within a circle of gold inscribed "Nemo me impune lacessit." On the lower part of the circle is a thistle in green and gold, the flower of a reddish colour.

By a statute passed in May, 1827, the Order is to consist of the Sovereign and sixteen Knights.

SOVEREIGN OF THE ORDER,
H.M. THE KING.

GREAT MASTER AND FIRST OR PRINCIPAL KNIGHT GRAND CROSS,
H.R.H. THE DUKE OF GLOUCESTER, 27 FEB. 1942.

EXTRA KNIGHT GRAND CROSS,
H.R.H. THE DUKE OF WINDSOR, 12 DEC. 1936.

ON the 2nd of Jan., 1815, it was declared that, " for the purpose of commemorating the auspicious termination of the long and arduous contest in which this empire has been engaged," the order should be composed of three classes, and on the 14th April, 1847, it was further extended by the addition of civil knights commanders and companions, on which occasion new Statutes were promulgated for the government of the Order. The numbers of the ordinary members declared by subsequent statutes are as follows, viz.,

1st Class—to consist of knights grand cross ; number not to exceed, for the military service, fifty-one exclusive of the Sovereign and princes of the blood royal, and such distinguished foreigners as may be nominated honorary knights grand cross ; and twenty-seven for the civil service. The badge is worn by Knights Grand Cross pendent from a red ribbon across the right shoulder.

2nd Class—Knights commanders, numbers not to exceed for the military service, one hundred and sixty-five and for the civil service one hundred and thirteen, exclusive of foreign officers, who may be admitted as honorary knights commanders. In the event of actions of signal distinction, or of future wars, the numbers may be increased of this as well as of the third class. The members of the second class are entitled to the distinctive appellation of knighthood, after having been invested with the Insignia ; to take precedence of Knights Bachelors ; to wear the badge, &c., pendent by a red ribbon round the neck, the star embroidered on the left side.

3rd Class—Companions of the Order, to consist, for military service, of six hundred and forty-five and for the civil service of four hundred and thirty-six ; they are to take precedence of esquires, but are not entitled to the appellation, style, etc., of knights bachelor. The Badge of the third class (originally worn pendent by a narrow red ribbon from the left breast) is now worn suspended on a ribbon round the neck.

ADDITIONAL MEMBERS have been appointed to the Order with the same rights and privileges as belong to ordinary members.

THE BADGE for the MILITARY CLASSES of the Order is a gold Maltese cross, of eight points enamelled, argent ; in the four angles, a lion passant-guardant, or ; in the centre, the rose, thistle and shamrock, issuant from a sceptre between three imperial crowns, or, within a circle, gules ; thereon the motto of the Order, surrounded by two branches of laurel, proper, issuing from an escrol, azure, inscribed ICH DIEN (I serve), in letters of gold.

THE COLLAR is of gold (weight, thirty ounces Troy weight), and is composed of nine imperial crowns and eight roses, thistle, and shamrock, issuing from a sceptre, enamelled in their proper colours, tied or linked together with seventeen gold knots, enamelled white, having the badge of the Order pendent therefrom.

THE STAR OF THE MILITARY GRAND CROSS is formed of rays or flames of silver, thereon a gold Maltese cross, and in the centre, within the motto, branches of laurel, issuant as in the badge.

THE CIVIL KNIGHTS GRAND CROSS retain the old badge and star of the Order. The Star is of silver formed with eight points or rays, charged with three imperial crowns, proper, upon a glory of silver rays, surrounded with a red circle, upon which is the motto of the Order. Their badge is of gold, composed of a rose, thistle, and shamrock, issuing from a sceptre between three imperial crowns, encircled by the motto.

THE STAR OF THE KNIGHTS COMMANDERS is in the form of a cross-patée of silver, having the same centre as the knights grand cross, but without a gold Maltese cross thereon. The star of the civil knights commanders is of the same form and size, only omitting the laurel wreath round the circle containing the motto and the escrol with the words " Ich dien " underneath.

MILITARY MEMBERS.

CIVIL MEMBERS.

This Order was instituted by Letters-Patent 23 June, 1902.

STATUTES.

I. It is ordained and enjoined that this Order shall be styled and designated in all Acts, proceedings, and pleadings, "The Order of Merit," as in Our said Letters directed, and by no other designation.

II. It is ordained that the said Order shall consist of the Sovereign and one class of Members, as in Our said Letters-Patent is provided.

III. It is ordained that We, Our heirs and successors, Kings or Queens Regnant of this United Kingdom, are, and for ever shall be, Sovereigns of this Order, to whom doth and shall belong all power of annulling, interpreting, explaining, or augmenting these and every part of these Statutes.

IV. It is ordained that the Ordinary Members of the Order shall not exceed the number of twenty-four.

V. It is ordained that the persons to be admitted as Ordinary Members of this Order shall be such persons, being subjects of Our Crown, as may have rendered exceptionally meritorious service in our Navy and Our Army, or who may have rendered exceptionally meritorious service towards the advancement of Art, Literature, and Science.

VI. It is ordained that the Honorary Members of the Order shall consist of Foreign persons upon whom We may think fit to confer the honour of being received into the Order, and that the number of such Honorary Members may consist of as many Foreign persons as We, Our heirs and successors, shall think fit to appoint.

VII. It is ordained that when We, Our heirs and successors, shall be pleased to nominate and appoint any person to be a Member of this Order, such appointment shall be made by Warrant under Our Royal Sign Manual, and sealed with the Seal of the Order.

VIII. It is ordained that the Insignia of the Sovereign of the said Order shall be of the same material and fashion as are hereinafter appointed for the Members of the Order, save only with those alterations which distinguish Our Royal Dignity.

IX. It is ordained that the Members of this Order shall wear around their necks the Badge of the Order, which shall consist of a Cross of red and blue enamel of eight points, having, within a laurel wreath upon a centre of blue enamel, the motto of the Order, that is to say: "For Merit," in letters of gold; on the reverse, within a laurel wreath, upon a centre of blue enamel, our Royal and Imperial cypher in gold (with the addition of two silver swords with gold hilts, placed saltirewise between the angles of the Cross, to be worn by such Members as may be appointed for distinguished and meritorious services in Our Navy and Our Army), the whole being surmounted by Our Imperial Crown enamelled in proper colours, and suspended by a parti-coloured riband of garter blue and crimson of the breadth of two inches.

X. It is ordained that upon the nomination of any person to be a Member of this Order, he shall be invested with the Insignia of his dignity in the Order by Us, Our heirs and successors, and that on the day of the investiture the person to be invested shall be introduced into the presence of the Sovereign by the Officer of the Order in attendance bearing the proper Insignia of the Order, when the Sovereign shall proceed to invest him with the Ensigns of the Order with the Riband and Badge.

XI. It is further ordained that it shall be competent for Us, Our heirs and successors, by a Warrant or Warrants under Our Sign Manual, countersigned by one of Our Principal Secretaries of State, and sealed with the Seal of this Order, in any case to authorize some distinguished Officer in Our Service, or other person, to perform in Our name, and on Our behalf, the ceremony of investing Members with the Insignia of their dignity or to permit the ceremony of investiture to be dispensed with. And We reserve to Ourselves, Our heirs and successors, by Our or Their Warrant or Warrants, as aforesaid, to permit and authorize the person or persons not invested by Us to wear the Insignia, and enjoy the privileges appertaining to their dignity.

XII. It is ordained that for the greater honour and dignity of the Members of this Order, it shall be lawful for the Members of this Order to suspend a representation of their Riband and Badge from the bottom of the escocheon containing their armorial bearings.

XIII. It is ordained that the Seal of this Order shall have engraved thereon as follows, that is to say: upon a white field, a representation of the Badge of the Order proper, impaled with Our Royal Arms, with the following circumscription, "The Seal of the Order of Merit," and that the Statutes of the said Order shall be sealed by and with the same.

XIV. It is ordained that the Twenty-sixth day of June every year shall henceforth be taken and deemed to be the anniversary of the institution of this Order.

XV. It is ordained that the following Officer shall be appointed to this Order, that is to say a Secretary and Registrar.

XVI. It is ordained that the Secretary and Registrar of the said Order, shall be appointed from time to time by a Warrant under the Sign Manual of Us, Our heirs and successors, and shall hold the said Office during Our pleasure, and shall wear around his neck pendent to a chain of gold a like Badge to that appointed for Members of the Order, with the addition of two silver pens, saltirewise between the angles of the Cross.

To his custody shall be confided the Seal of the said Order, which he shall affix, or cause to be affixed, to all Statutes and other documents or instruments connected therewith. He shall, moreover, perform such duties as may be directed by the Sovereign or by these Statutes. He shall write all letters connected with the service of the Order; he shall keep full lists of the Members of the Order. He shall carefully record all proceedings relative to the said Order that may take place, and he shall faithfully enter such proceedings in the Register of the Order, as well as all documents which may be transmitted to him for that purpose. We are further pleased to ordain that the Chancery of the said Order, wherein a record of all proceedings connected therewith shall be deposited and preserved, shall be in the Office of the Lord Chamberlain of Our Household.

Lastly, We reserve to Ourselves, Our heirs and successors, full power of annulling, altering, abrogating, augmenting, interpreting, or dispensing with these Statutes and Regulations, or any part thereof, by a Notification under the Sign Manual of the Sovereign of the Order.

SOVEREIGN OF THE ORDER

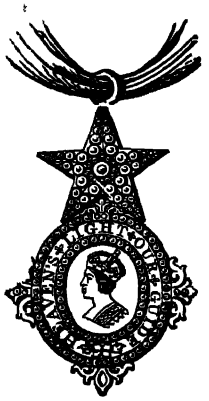
THE MOST EXALTED ORDER OF THE STAR OF INDIA.

Instituted by Her Majesty Queen Victoria, February 23, 1861, enlarged March 28, 1866, again June 10, 1897, October 21, 1902, October 28, 1911, 1915, and 1920.

The Order consists of the Sovereign and such Members as the Sovereign, his heirs and successors, shall from time to time appoint. Ordinary Members are divided into three Classes: The first Class styled Knights Grand Commanders (ex-Viceroys are additional); the second Class styled Knights Commanders; the third Class styled Companions, and of such Honorary Members as the Sovereign thinks fit to appoint to the Order.

The statutes enable the Sovereign to confer the dignity of Knight Grand Commander of the Order upon such Princes and Chiefs of India as shall have entitled themselves to His Majesty's favour, and upon such of His Majesty's British subjects as have, by important and loyal services rendered by them to the Indian Empire, merited the Royal favour; and the second and third Classes upon persons who, by their conduct or services in the Indian Empire, or after not less than thirty years' service in the department of His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, have merited the Royal favour.

THE STAR.—Rays of gold issuing from centre, having thereon a star in diamonds, resting upon a light blue enamelled circular riband, tied at the ends, inscribed with the motto of the Order, viz.:—"HEAVEN'S LIGHT OUR GUIDE," also in diamonds.



THE COLLAR.—Composed of the lotus of India, of palm branches, tied together, in saltire, and of the united Red and White Rose. In the centre is an imperial crown; all richly enamelled on gold, in their proper colours.

THE BADGE.—An onyx cameo of Her Majesty Queen Victoria's effigy, set in a perforated and ornamented oval, containing the motto of the Order, "HEAVEN'S LIGHT OUR GUIDE," surmounted by a star all in diamonds. The Ribbon of the Order is sky-blue, having a narrow white stripe towards either edge, and is worn from the right shoulder to the left side.

THE MANTLE.—Light blue satin, lined with white, and fastened with a cordon of white silk, with blue and silver tassels, on the left side a representation of the Star of the Order.

The Knights Commanders wear around their necks a riband of the same colours and pattern as that of the First Class, but two inches in width, hanging therefrom the Badge of a smaller size than that appointed for the Knights Grand Commanders except the star, which surmounts it, is of silver; on their left breast a star composed of rays of silver issuing from a gold centre, having thereon a silver star resting upon a blue enamelled circular riband, tied at the ends, inscribed with the motto of the Order.

The Companions wear a Badge of the same form as appointed for the Knights Commanders, but of a smaller size (originally worn pendent by a ribbon from the left breast), suspended on a ribbon of light blue with a narrow white stripe round the neck.

THE MOST DISTINGUISHED ORDER OF ST. MICHAEL AND ST. GEORGE.

Instituted 27 April, 1818, by Letters Patent, under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom, and enlarged and extended 4 Dec. 1868, 30 May, 1877, 30 Oct. 1902, and 21 Dec. 1927, for the natural born subjects of the Crown of the United Kingdom as may have held or shall hold high and confidential offices within His Majesty's colonial possessions, and in reward for services to the Crown in relation to the foreign affairs of the Empire, etc.

The Order is to consist of not more than one hundred Knights Grand Cross, exclusive of Extra and Honorary Members, three hundred Knights Commanders, and eight hundred Companions.

THE members of the Order enjoy rank and precedency immediately after the corresponding classes of the Order of the Star of India: that is to say, the Knights Grand Cross after Knights Grand Commanders of the Star of India; the Knights Commanders after the Knights Commanders of the Star of India; and the Companions after the Companions of the Star of India. The Grand Master is the First and Principal Knight Grand Cross.

The Knights Grand Cross are entitled to bear supporters, and to encircle their arms with the collar, ribbon, and motto of the Order. The Knights Commanders and Companions also encircle their arms with the ribbon and motto and suspend the badge of the Order to their arms.

HABIT AND INSIGNIA.

THE STAR of a Knight Grand Cross is composed of seven rays of silver, having a small ray of gold between each of them, and over all the cross of St. George, gules. In the centre is a representation of the Archangel St. Michael encountering Satan, within a blue circle, inscribed with the motto, AUSPICIUM MELIORIS ÆVI.

THE COLLAR is formed alternately of lions of England, Royally crowned, of Maltese crosses, and of the ciphers S M and S G, having in the centre the imperial crown, over two winged lions, passant-guardant, each holding a book, and seven arrows. At the opposite end of the collar are two similar lions. The whole is of gold except the crosses, which are of white enamel, and it is linked together by small gold chains.

THE BADGE is a gold cross of fourteen points of white enamel, edged with gold, having in the centre, on one side, the Archangel St. Michael encountering Satan, and on the other, St. George on horseback, encountering a dragon, within a blue circle, on which the motto of the Order is inscribed. The Cross is surmounted by the Imperial crown, and is worn by the Knights Grand Cross to the Collar, or to a wide Saxon-blue ribbon, with a scarlet stripe from the right shoulder to the left side.

THE MANTLE is of Saxon-blue satin, lined with scarlet silk, tied with a cordon of blue and scarlet silk and gold, having two tassels of the same colour attached, and has on the left side the star of a Knight Grand Cross.

THE KNIGHTS COMMANDERS wear the badge suspended to a narrower ribbon from the neck, and have on their left side a star composed of four rays, with a small cross of eight points, in saltire, of silver, surmounted by the cross of St. George, gules, and having the same centre as the Star of the Grand Crosses.

THE COMPANIONS wear the Badge of the third Class (originally worn pendent by a narrow red ribbon from the left breast) suspended on a ribbon round the neck.

THE MOST EMINENT ORDER OF THE INDIAN EMPIRE.

Instituted by Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, Empress of India, 31 December, 1877, enlarged 10 June, 1897, 21 Oct. 1902, 1 Jan. 1909, 28 Oct. 1911, 1915 and 1920.

THIS Order was instituted to reward services rendered to Her late Majesty Queen Victoria and Her Indian Empire and to commemorate the Proclamation of Her Style and Title of Empress of India. It consists of the Sovereign, and such members as the Sovereign, his heirs and successors shall from time to time appoint. The members comprise three classes styled respectively Knights Grand Commanders, Knights Commanders, and Companions.

The Members are such persons who by their services, official or other, to the Empire of India, have merited the Royal Favour, and such distinguished Representatives of Eastern Potentates upon whom the Sovereign may think fit to confer the honour of being received into the Order.

The Members of the several grades of the Order have place and precedency next to and immediately after the corresponding classes of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, and rank among themselves according to the date of their respective nominations.

THE STAR.—Composed of five rays of silver having a smaller ray of gold between each of them, the whole alternately plain and scaled issuing from a gold centre, having thereon Her Majesty Queen Victoria's Royal Effigy, within a purple circle inscribed with the motto of the Order, "IMPERATRICIS AUSPICIIS," the circle surmounted by the Imperial crown also gold.

THE COLLAR.—Composed of elephants, lotus flowers, peacocks in their pride, and Indian roses, in the centre the Imperial crown, the whole linked together by chains all gold.

THE BADGE.—Arose enamelled gules, barbed and seeded vert, having in the centre Her Majesty Queen Victoria's Royal Effigy within a purple circlet inscribed with the motto of the Order, "IMPERATRICIS AUSPICIIS," in letters of gold, surmounted by an Imperial crown also gold.

THE MANTLE.—Imperial purple satin, lined with and fastened by a cordon of white silk, with purple silk and gold tassels attached, on the left side of the mantle a representation of the star of the first class of the Order.

The Knights Commanders wear around their necks a riband of the same colour and pattern as that of the first class, but of two inches in breadth, hanging therefrom the badge of a smaller size; on their left breast a silver star composed of rays alternately bright and chipped, issuing from a gold centre having thereon Her Majesty Queen Victoria's Effigy within a purple circle, inscribed with the motto, "IMPERATRICIS AUSPICIIS," in letters of gold, the circle surmounted by an Imperial crown also gold.

The Companions wear a badge of the same form as appointed for the Knights Commanders, but of a smaller size (originally worn pendent by a ribbon from the left breast) suspended round the neck on a ribbon of Imperial purple.

THE ROYAL VICTORIAN ORDER.

Instituted by Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, Empress of India, 21 April, 1896, Revised 19 October, 1918, 1 Nov. 1923, and 29 May, 1936.

THE Order consists of the Sovereign, a Grand Master, Ordinary Members, and such Honorary Members as the Sovereign, shall from time to time appoint; the Members being divided into five classes, and designated respectively :—I, Knights Grand Cross and Dames Grand Cross, II, Knights Commanders and Dames Commanders, III, Commanders, IV, Members of the Fourth Class, and V, Members of the Fifth Class. The persons to be admitted as Ordinary Members of this Order shall be such persons, being subjects of the British Crown, as may have rendered extraordinary, or important, or personal services to His Majesty, his heirs and successors, or who have merited His Majesty's Royal Favour; and the Honorary Members of the several classes shall consist of those Foreign Princes, Princesses and persons upon whom His Majesty may think fit to confer the honour of being received into the Order.

The Order ranks after the Order of the Indian Empire and before the Order of the British Empire. The number of Members is not limited, and the Anniversary of the Order is the Twentieth day of June of every year, being the day of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria's Accession to the Throne.

THE BADGE of Knights Grand Cross and Dames Grand Cross consists of a white enamelled Maltese cross, of eight points on an oval centre of crimson enamel the Royal and Imperial Monogram in gold within a blue enamelled circle, thereon the motto of the Order, namely, "VICTORIA," in letters of gold, the circle being surmounted by an Imperial crown enamelled in proper colours, the whole suspended from a dark blue riband with a narrow edge on either side of three stripes, red, white, and red, of the breadth of three inches and three-quarters, passing from the right shoulder to the left side.

THE STAR of Knights Grand Cross and Dames Grand Cross consists of a silver chipped star of eight points; in the centre, a representation of the Badge of the First Class of the Order.

THE MANTLE of Knights Grand Cross and Dames Grand Cross is of dark blue silk, edged with red satin, lined with white silk, fastened by a cordon of dark blue silk and gold, having two dark blue silk and gold tassels attached thereto. Their COLLAR is of gold composed of octagonal pieces and oblong perforated and ornamental frames alternately linked together with gold; the said pieces are edged and ornamented with gold, and each contains upon a blue enamelled ground a gold rose jewelled with a carbuncle; the said frames are of gold, and each contains a portion of the inscription "Victoria Britt. Reg. Def. Fid. Ind. Imp." in letters of white enamel; in the centre of the said collar within a perforated and ornamental frame of gold is an octagonal piece enamelled blue, edged with red, and charged with a white saltire, thereon being a gold medallion of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria's effigy, from which hangs the Badge of the Order. The habits and robes of the Sovereign are of the same material and fashion as those of Knights Grand Cross with the exception of those alterations befitting the Royal Dignity.

The Knights Commanders wear around their necks a riband of the same colours and pattern as that of the Knights Grand Cross, of the breadth of one inch and three-quarters, and pendent therefrom the Badge which is of the same pattern as, but of smaller size than, that of a Knight Grand Cross. The Star is composed of a Maltese cross, in silver, with smaller rays issuing from the centre, between the angles of the cross; in the centre, the badge of the Order as before described, with the cross in frosted silver instead of white enamel. The Dames Commanders wear a similar Badge attached to a similar riband tied in a bow and worn on the left shoulder: they also wear the Star.

The Commanders wear the like riband and badge as that appointed for the Knights and Dames Commanders, but are not entitled to wear the Star.

The Members of the Fourth Class wear a badge of the same form and appearance as that appointed for the Commanders, but of smaller size, pendent to a riband of the same colours, of the breadth of one inch and a quarter attached to the left side of their coats by men and tied in a bow and worn on the left shoulder by women.

The Members of the Fifth Class wear the same riband and badge as that appointed for the Fourth Class, with the exception that the cross is of frosted silver instead of white enamel.

THE MEDAL, designated "The Royal Victorian Medal," is a circular medal of silver-gilt, silver or bronze, having on the obverse the Royal Effigy, and on the reverse the Royal and Imperial Cypher upon an ornamental shield within a wreath of laurel; in base is a scroll, thereon the words "Royal Victorian Medal." The medal is worn by men on the left breast pendent to a riband like that appointed for Members of the Order, and by women from a similar riband tied in a bow and worn on the left shoulder.

Any person already in possession of the bronze medal on whom a silver medal is conferred, is entitled to wear both medals, and the silver-gilt medal in addition if such be conferred upon him. It is ordained that any service which is worthy of recognition by the award of the bronze, silver or silver-gilt medal, but is rendered by one upon whom that decoration has already been conferred, may be recorded by a clasp attached to the riband by which the medal is suspended; and such clasp shall consist of a bar inscribed with the year in which it is awarded and surmounted by the Royal Cypher. It is also ordained that any member of the said Royal Victorian Order upon whom the Royal Victorian Medal has been, or may be conferred, shall be entitled to wear the said medal in the manner provided as aforesaid in addition to the Insignia of the Order.

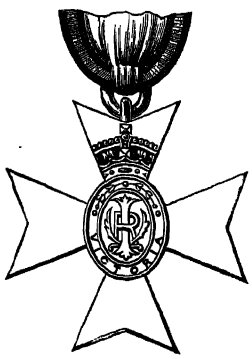
THE SEAL of the Order is azure, a representation of the badge of the Order impaled with the Royal Arms with the circumscription "The Seal of the Royal Victorian Order."

THE APPOINTMENTS are made by Warrant under the Royal Sign Manual, sealed with the seal of the Order. The Sovereign may cancel and annul appointments and restore members.

THE INVESTITURE of Knights and Dames Grand Cross, Knights and Dames Commanders, and Commanders is performed by the Sovereign, who may delegate his powers, or dispense with investiture.

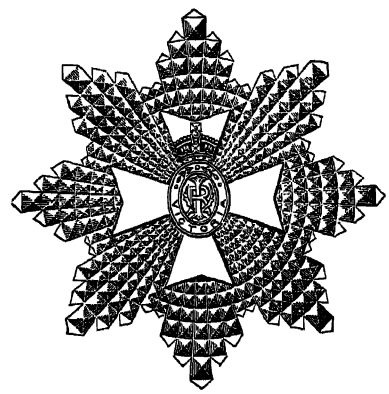
The Insignia of the Order are returned on promotion to a higher class in the Order. The collars of Knights Grand Cross and Honorary Knights Grand Cross are returned on promotion to an Order of higher rank or upon decease.

Knights and Dames Grand Cross may bear supporters to their arms and surround their arms with the circle and motto of the Order and suspend therefrom a representation of the riband and badge.



Knights and Dames Commanders and Commanders may surround their armorial bearings with the circle and motto of the Order and suspend therefrom a representation of the riband and badge.

Members of the Order may suspend a representation of the riband and badge from the bottom of the escutcheon bearing their arms.



The Officers of the Order are the Chancellor (the Chamberlain of the Household), who shall keep the Seal, the Secretary (the Keeper of the Privy Purse), and a Registrar (The Secretary of The Central Chancery of the Orders of Knighthood), who shall keep the Register of the Royal Order.

THE MOST EXCELLENT ORDER OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

Instituted 4 June, 1917. Statutes revised 12 April, 1918, 28 March, 1919, and further amended 29 Dec. 1922, and 9 March, 1937.

THIS Order of Knighthood consists of the Sovereign and a Grand Master, and five classes designated respectively: (i) Knights Grand Cross and Dames Grand Cross; (ii) Knights Commanders and Dames Commanders; (iii) Commanders; (iv) Officers; (v) Members; and each Class contains two sub-divisions the first of which is styled Military and the second Civil, each of which divisions is composed partly of Ordinary and partly of Honorary Members. The King and his successors shall for ever be Sovereigns of the Order, and a Prince of the Blood Royal or such other exalted personage as the Sovereign may appoint shall be Grand Master.

The Order ranks next to and immediately after the Royal Victorian Order, and the members of the various Classes have precedence as follows: The Knights Grand Cross next to and immediately after the Knights Grand Cross of the Royal Victorian Order; the Dames Grand Cross next to and immediately before the wives of Knights Grand Cross of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, and they may on all occasions use the appellation of Dame before their Christian or first names; the Knights Commanders next to and immediately after the Knights Commanders of the Royal Victorian Order; the Dames Commanders next to and immediately before the wives of Knights Commanders of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, and they may on all occasions use the appellation of Dame before their Christian or first names; the men Commanders next to and immediately after the Members of the Third Class of the Royal Victorian Order, and the women Commanders next to and immediately before the wives of Companions of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath; the men who are Officers next to and immediately after the Members of the Fourth Class of the Royal Victorian Order, and the women who are Officers next to and immediately before the wives of Members of the Fourth Class of the Royal Victorian Order; the men who are Members next to and immediately after the Members of the Fifth Class of the Royal Victorian Order, and the women who are Members next to and immediately before the wives of Members of the Fifth Class of the Royal Victorian Order.

THE STAR of Knights Grand Cross and Dames Grand Cross is composed of chipped silver rays of eight points, with a gold medallion in the centre bearing the crowned effigies of His late Majesty King George V and Her Majesty Queen Mary combined within a circle gules, inscribed with the motto "FOR GOD AND THE EMPIRE" in letters of gold.

THE COLLAR is of silver gilt, composed of six medallions of the Royal Arms and six medallions of the Roya and Imperial Cypher of His late Majesty King George V alternately, linked together with cables. In the centre is the Imperial Crown between two sea-lions, from which is suspended the Badge of the Order.

THE BADGE of the Military and Civil Knights and Dames Grand Cross consists of a cross patonce, enamelled pearl, fimbriated or surmounted by a gold medallion as in the Star of the Order, ensigned with the Imperial Crown or, the whole suspended from a rose pink riband edged with pearl grey, passing from the right shoulder to the left side, and which in the case of Knights Grand Cross is of the breadth of four inches, with, for Military Knights Grand Cross, the addition of a vertical pearl grey stripe in the centre of the ribbon of the width of about one-quarter of an inch and in the case of Dames Grand Cross is of the breadth of two inches and one-quarter, but without the addition, for Military Dames Grand Cross, of a vertical pearl grey stripe in the centre of the riband.

THE MANTLE of Knights Grand Cross and Dames Grand Cross is of rose-pink satin, lined with pearl grey silk, and fastened with a cordon of pearl grey silk, with two rose-pink and silver tassels attached; on the left side of the mantle being a representation of the Star of the First Class of the Order.

The Military and Civil Knights Commanders wear around their necks a riband of the same colour and pattern as that of the Military and Civil Knights Grand Cross of the breadth of one inch and three-quarters, but, in the case of Military Knights Commanders the vertical pearl grey stripe is of the width of about one-sixteenth of an inch, and pendent therefrom the Badge of the Knights Commanders of the Order, which is of similar form and pattern to that appointed for the Knights Grand Cross, but of smaller size, and also they wear on the left side of their coats or outer garments a chipped silver star composed of four greater points and four lesser, charged with a medallion as before. The Military and Civil Dames Commanders wear a badge of similar form and pattern as that appointed for Knights Commanders attached to a riband also similar to that worn by Military and Civil Knights Commanders, but tied in a bow and worn on the left shoulder, and they wear a like star.

The Military and Civil Commanders wear the like riband and badge as that appointed for the Military and Civil Knights and Dames Commanders respectively, but they are not entitled to wear the Star.

The Military and Civil Officers wear a badge of similar form and pattern as that appointed for the Military and Civil Commanders of the Order, but of a smaller size and silver gilt, attached to a riband of the same colour and pattern of the breadth of one inch and a half, but in the case of Military Officers the vertical pearl grey stripe is of the width of one-sixteenth of an inch, attached to the left breast of their coats or outer garments by men, and tied in a bow on the left shoulder by women.

The Military and Civil Members wear the same ribands and badge as that appointed to the Military and Civil Officers of the Order except that the badge is in silver.

Knights Grand Cross and Dames Grand Cross are entitled to bear supporters to their Arms, and Knights Grand Cross, Dames Grand Cross, Knights Commanders, Dames Commanders and Commanders are entitled to surround their Armorial Bearings with the circle and motto of the Order and to suspend therefrom a representation of their riband and badge. Officers and Members may also suspend a representation of their riband and badge from the bottom of the escutcheon containing their Armorial Bearings.

The Officers of the Order are the Prelate, King of Arms, Registrar, Secretary and Gentleman Usher of the Purple Rod.

GEORGE R.I.

GEORGE THE FIFTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India, To all to whom these Presents shall come, Greeting!

Whereas by Letters Patent under the Great Seal of the said United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland bearing date Fourth day of June, 1917, in the Eighth year of Our Reign, We have thought fit and been pleased to institute, erect, constitute and create an Order to be called and known for ever hereafter by the name, style and designation of "The Order of the Companions of Honour" whereof We, Our heirs and successors for ever shall be Sovereigns:

And whereas in the said Letters Patent We have appointed a Seal of the said Order to be engraven, having thereon as follows:—Upon a white field, a representation of the Badge of the Order, as hereinafter described, impaled with Our Royal Arms, with this circumscription "The Seal of the Order of the Companions of Honour":

And whereas by Our aforesaid Letters Patent We did ordain that the said Order should be governed by Statutes and Ordinances, and that the Statutes to be observed within the said Order should be established by Us sealed by and with the said Seal, which Statutes so given, and in future to be given by Us, Our heirs and successors, to which the said Seal shall be affixed, shall be of the same validity, and taken and read as if the same and every Article of them had been verbatim recited in the said Letters Patent and passed under the Great Seal of Our said United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland:

And whereas in conformity with the said Letters Patent of the Fourth day of June, 1917, We did enact and issue certain Statutes and Ordinances to be observed within the said Order, bearing the same date, wherein power was reserved to Us, Our heirs and successors, of annulling, altering, augmenting, interpreting or dispensing with the said Statutes and Regulations or any part thereof by a notification under the Sign Manual of the Sovereign of the Order:

And wheras We deem it expedient that certain alterations should be made in the existing Statutes of the said Order:

Now know ye that in pursuance of the power vested in Us by the said Letters Patent We have abrogated and annulled and do hereby abrogate and repeal the said Statutes:

And further know all ye to whom these Presents shall come that We have made, ordained and established, and by these Presents sealed with the Seal of the said Order, do make, ordain and establish the following Statutes and Ordinances, which shall from henceforth be inviolably observed and kept within the said Order:—

1. It is ordained and enjoined that this Order shall be styled and designated in all Acts, proceedings, and pleadings "The Order of the Companions of Honour" as in Our said Letters directed, and by no other designation.

2. It is ordained that the said Order shall consist of the Sovereign and Members, Ordinary and Honorary.

3. It is ordained that We, Our heirs and successors, Kings or Queens Regnant of Our said United Kingdom are, and ever shall be, Sovereigns of this Order, to whom doth and shall belong all power of annulling, interpreting, explaining, or augmenting these and every part of these Statutes.

4. It is ordained that not more than fifty Ordinary Members shall be admitted to this Order.

5. It is ordained that the persons to be admitted as Ordinary Members of this Order shall be such persons, male or female, being subjects of Our Crown, and such Native Princes and Chiefs of India and such subjects of Native States of India, as may have rendered conspicuous service of national importance, and that the persons to be admitted as Honorary Members shall be such Foreign Princes and Persons upon whom We may think fit to confer the honour of being received into this Order.

6. It is ordained that this Order shall rank next to and immediately after the First Class of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire.

7. It is ordained that when We, Our heirs and successors, shall be pleased to nominate and appoint any person to be a Member of this Order, such appointment shall be made by Warrant under Our Royal Sign Manual, and sealed with the Seal of the Order.

8. It is ordained that the Insignia of the Sovereign of the said Order shall be of the same material and fashion as are hereinafter appointed for the Members of the Order, save only with those alterations which distinguish Our Royal Dignity.

9. It is ordained that the Members of this Order shall, upon all great and solemn occasions, wear the oval shaped badge of the Order, which shall consist of a gold medallion with a representation of an oak tree and pendent from a branch a shield of the Royal Arms on the dexter a representation of a Knight armed and in armour mounted on a horse, the whole within a circle azure inscribed with the motto, " In action faithful and in honour clear " in letters of gold ensigned with the Imperial Crown proper, the badge in the case of men suspended from a carmine riband of the breadth of one inch and a half with a bordure interlaced gold around their necks, and in the case of women attached to a similar riband tied in a bow and worn on the left shoulder.

10. It is ordained that upon the nomination of any person to be a Member of this Order, he shall be invested with the Insignia of his dignity in the Order by Us, Our heirs and successors, and that on the day of the investiture the person to be invested shall be introduced into the presence of the Sovereign by the Officer of the Order in attendance bearing the proper Insignia of the Order, when the Sovereign shall proceed to invest him with the Ensigns of the said Order with the Riband and Badge.

11. It is further ordained that it shall be competent for Us, Our heirs and successors, by a Warrant or Warrants under Our Sign Manual, countersigned by one of Our Principal Secretaries of State, and sealed with the Seal of this Order, in any case to authorize some distinguished persons to perform in Our name, and on Our behalf, the ceremony of investing Members with the Insignia of their dignity, or to permit the ceremony of investiture to be dispensed with. And we reserve to Ourselves, Our heirs and successors, by Our or their Warrant or Warrants, as aforesaid, to permit and authorize the person or persons not invested by Us to wear the Insignia and enjoy the privileges appertaining to their dignity.

12. It is ordained that for the greater honour and dignity of the Members of this Order, it shall be lawful for the Members of this Order to suspend a representation of their riband and badge from the bottom of the escocheon containing their armorial bearings.

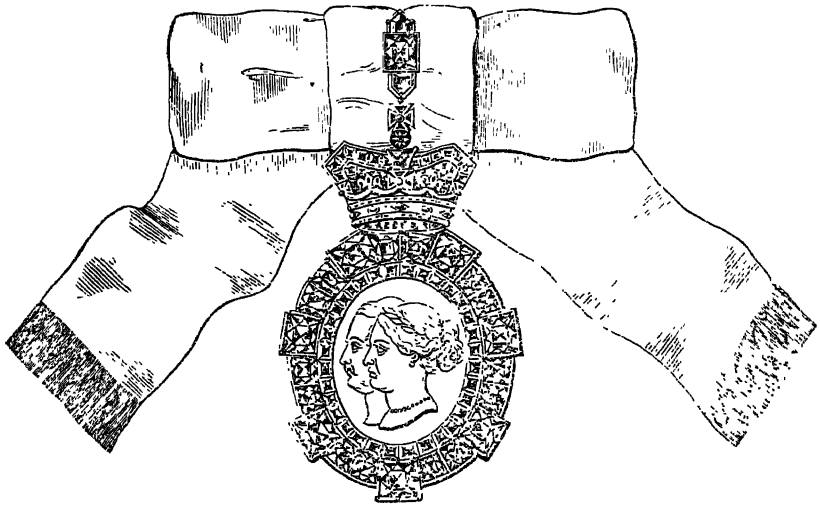
13. It is ordained that the Seal of this Order shall have engraved thereon as follows, that is to say, upon a white field, a representation of the Badge of the Order proper, impaled with Our Royal Arms, with the following circumscription, " The Seal of the Order of the Companions of Honour," and that the Statutes of the said Order shall be sealed by and with the same.

14. It is ordained that the following Officer shall be appointed to this Order, that is to say, a Secretary and Registrar.

15. It is ordained that the Secretary and Registrar of the said Order shall be appointed from time to time by a Warrant under the Sign Manual of Us or Our heirs and successors and shall hold the said Office during the pleasure of Us, Our heirs and successors, and that he shall wear around his neck pendent to a riband as previously described a like Badge to that appointed for Members of the Order, with the addition of two silver pens saltire-wise between the angles of the Cross. To his custody shall be confided the Seal of the said Order, which he shall affix, or cause to be affixed, to all Statutes and other documents or instruments connected therewith. He shall, moreover, perform such duties as may be directed by the Sovereign or by these Statutes. He shall write all letters connected with the service of the Order: he shall keep full lists of the Members of the Order. He shall carefully record all proceedings relative to the said Order that may take place, and he shall faithfully enter such proceedings in the Register of the Order, as well as all documents which may be transmitted to him for that purpose. We are further pleased to ordain that the Chancery of the said Order, wherein a record of all proceedings connected therewith shall be deposited and preserved, shall be in the Office of the Central Chancery of the Orders of Knighthood.

Lastly.—We reserve to Ourself, Our heirs and successors, full power of annulling, altering, abrogating, augmenting, interpreting, or dispensing with these Statutes and Regulations, or any part thereof, by a Notification under the Sign Manual of the Sovereign of the Order.

Given under the Seal of this Order at Our Court of St. James's this Fifteenth day of October, 1919, in the Tenth year of Our Reign.



By His Majesty's Command,

EDWARD SHORTT.

An additional Statute, promulgated 17 April, 1937, provides for the admission of additional Members to the Order, in commemoration of the Coronation of H.M. King George VI, such Members to have the same rights and privileges as belong to ordinary Members.

THE IMPERIAL ORDER OF THE CROWN OF INDIA.

Instituted by Her Majesty Queen Victoria, Empress of India, 1 January, 1878, enlarged 30 January, 1900.

THIS Order was instituted to commemorate the assumption of Her late Majesty's Imperial Title of Empress of India, and is to consist of the Sovereign, and of such Princesses of Her late Majesty's Royal and Imperial House, the Wives or other Female Relatives of Princes of the Indian Empire and other Indian Ladies, and of the Wives or other Female Relatives of any of the persons who have held or may hold the offices of Viceroy and Governor-General of India, Governors of Madras or Bombay, or of Principal Secretary of State for India, or of Commander-in-Chief of India, as the Sovereign may think fit.

The first day of January in every year is to be deemed the Anniversary of the Institution of the Order.

The decoration or Badge consists of Her late Majesty's Royal and Imperial Cypher, "V. R. I." in diamonds, pearls, and turquoises, encircled by a border set with pearls, surmounted by the Imperial Crown, jewelled and enamelled in proper colours, attached to a light blue watered riband, edged white, of one inch and a half in width, tied in a bow.

H.M. THE KING.

THE IMPERIAL SOCIETY OF KNIGHTS BACHELOR.

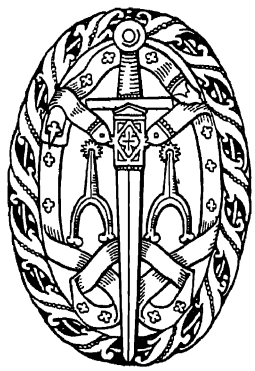
KNIGHT-PRINCIPAL.

SIR GERALD WOODS WOLLASTON, K.C.B., K.C.V.O., F.S.A.
Norroy and Ulster King of Arms.

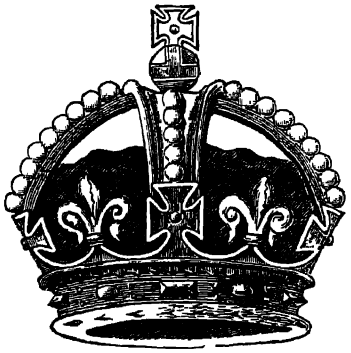
IN the Spring of 1908 an informal meeting of Knights Bachelor was held in the House of Commons, primarily with the object of taking into consideration the action of the Walker Trustees of Edinburgh, as holders of the office of Usher of the White Rod, in demanding the payment of fees to them by the recipients of honours, and it was decided to form a society of such Knights to disclaim and contest their rights in the matter.

The objects of the Society which was formally constituted on 27 April, 1908, enjoying the approval of the Central Chancery of the Order of Knighthood, St. James's Palace, and the co-operation of the College of Arms, are to continue the Registers, dating from the thirteenth century, uphold the status, maintain the rights of Precedence, and generally to protect the interests of Knights Bachelor. In 1912 His late Majesty King George V was pleased to command that the Society should be thenceforth known as "The Imperial Society of Knights Bachelor."

In the year 1902 a radical change was made in the procedure connected with promotions of Honour. The Central Chancery of the Orders of Knighthood (which was instituted by His late Majesty King Edward VII in that year) now controls all procedure connected with such promotion and ceremonial with certain exceptions. One of these exceptions concerns Knights Bachelor and some matters in connections with them, which remain the province of the Home Office.



The Home Secretary, however, has been pleased to give his official recognition to the Society, and, in conformity with, and in pursuance of, such recognition, sends the Society an official notification of the dubbing of all Knights Bachelor.

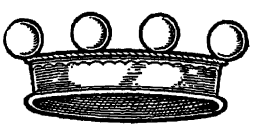


To many it will doubtless be a surprise to learn that from 28 December, 1902, until the formation of the Society, there was no official Roll or Record of Knights Bachelor, and it was the first work of the Society to supply this want.

In the Middle Ages, individual Heralds made occasional notes of the dubbings of Knights, but such notes are known and admitted to be most incomplete. In the seventeenth century a Register of Knighthood was instituted by King James the First. This register is preserved at the College of Arms, and extends down to the year 1902, but it is not in itself, and does not claim to be, a complete record of all Knights dubbed within this period.

There was a strong feeling among Knights Bachelor that a properly authenticated and officially recognized Roll of Knights should be brought into existence and continuously kept up to date; this duty of establishing a permanent record the Society has taken in hand. In addition to its own Roll of Knighthood, the Society has made arrangements to register at the College of Arms every duly authenticated Knighthood.

By Royal Warrant dated 21 April, 1926, His late Majesty was pleased to authorize the use of a badge by Knights Bachelor, to be worn upon the left side of the coat or outer garment. The Badge, measuring approximately three inches in length and two inches in width, is described in the warrant as follows: Upon an oval medallion of vermilion, enclosed by a scroll, a cross-hilted sword belted and sheathed pommel upwards, between two spurs, rowels upwards the whole set about with the sword-belt, all gilt.



Historical Introduction.

THE word "peer" means "equal," and in the centuries immediately following the NORMAN CONQUEST the term always had this meaning, since the tenants-in-chief of the Crown in feudal times were the peers of one another. The CONQUEST brought England under the feudal system in a far more rigorous manner than had been the case under the old English Kings. As Professor G. M. Trevelyan remarks—"The freemen of the Danelaw had hitherto kept at arm's length even the Anglo-Saxon forms of feudalism. Many of them could 'go with their land' to what lord they would, and some villages had no lord at all." After the CONQUEST, however, the King was nominally the owner of the land, and under him were his tenants-in-chief, who held directly from him, and who let out land to their own vassals and subordinates. Such tenants-in-chief of the Crown were described by the term "Barons."

Barons.

One of the duties of the King's tenants-in-chief was to attend the Curia Regis, or King's Court, for the purpose of giving him counsel and of supplying the means of any extraordinary expenditure. The Curia Regis was the administrative centre of the kingdom, and from it developed the English Law Courts and ultimately the English Parliaments. In theory all the King's tenants-in-chief should have been present from time to time at the Curia Regis, but in practice all were not, and by the provisions of Magna Carta in 1215 it was ordained that the Archbishops, Bishops, Earls and greater Barons were to be summoned to the Council by writ addressed to each one in particular. Those who held of the King, as being tenants-in-chief, but who were below the rank of the greater Barons, were by Magna Carta to be summoned by a general writ addressed to the sheriff of the county.

From these greater Barons developed the Peers of Parliament of later days. The first regular Parliament, recognised as such, is that of 1295, summoned by EDWARD I. The development of the hereditary principle in connection with the Peerage is involved in some obscurity, but it is probable that by 1295 a writ of summons would not be refused to a man who had once received such a writ from the King. Furthermore the heir of a Baron summoned by special writ very probably had a right to a summons after the Baron's death.

Baronies by writ of summons are heritable by heirs male or female; but in the event of the death of the Baron without issue male, and with more daughters than one, the Barony falls into abeyance amongst them, and so continues until one of the daughters, or the sole heir of one of the daughters, only survives. The Crown can, however, at any time interfere, and terminate the abeyance in favour of any one of the co-heirs, but it cannot alienate the Barony from the representatives of the first Baron. The mode of terminating an abeyance in favour of a co-heir is by summoning the individual by the title of the Barony which had been in abeyance. The course observed towards a Peer of a higher dignity is the issue of Letters Patent by the Crown in confirmation of the Barony; and a similar course, that of Letters Patent, is adopted towards heiresses.

The mode of creating Peers by Writ of Summons has been, however, a long time discontinued, and the only writs now issued are those to the eldest sons of Dukes, Marquesses and Earls, in their fathers' Baronies; but any such writ does not create a new Barony, the honour being still descendible according to the original limitation. If, however, a writ of summons issue to the eldest son of a Peer, as a Baron, under a misapprehension that the Barony was vested in his father, then the writ is deemed a new creation, and the dignity is heritable as a Barony by writ. This was established in 1736 by the decision regarding the Barony of Strange, in which James Stanley had been summoned in 1628, under the supposition that the Barony had belonged to his father, William, 6th Earl of Derby; and again in the similar case of the Barony of Clifford. The first writ to an elder son is stated to have issued in the 22nd year of KING EDWARD IV, when Thomas FitzAlan was summoned to Parliament (in his father, the Earl Arundel's Barony) as Baron Maltravers.

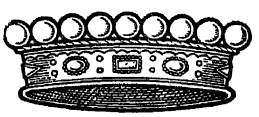
Much controversy has turned on the creation and continuance of Baronies by tenure, but in the Berkeley case in 1811 the claim to such creation was finally disposed of.



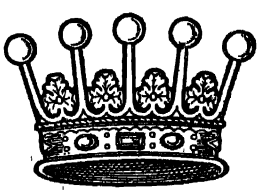
Since the 15th century the creation of a Peerage has generally been by Letters Patent, as there evolved the idea of a dignity which was personal or which was connected with offices unknown in the feudal system. The first instance of this new form of creation occurred in the reign of KING RICHARD II, when John Beauchamp, of Holt, was elevated to the Peerage as Baron Beauchamp of Kidderminster, by Letters Patent, dated the 10th October, 1387. Lord Beauchamp, however, never took his seat in Parliament, as he died in the same year, and was succeeded by his son, with whom the dignity expired in 1420. In olden time it was deemed necessary to invest with robes the newly created Baron in open Parliament, and as late as the beginning of the 17th century, KING JAMES I in person solemnly inducted the Barons created by patent in the 13th year of his reign, by enrobing each Peer in scarlet, with a hood furred with miniver; but in the same year it was determined to discontinue these ceremonies in future, the legal advisers of the Crown having declared that the delivery of the Letters Patent constituted a sufficient creation. In the Patents of more modern times the ceremony of public investiture is expressly dispensed with.

Barons are styled "Right Honourable," and are officially addressed by the Crown as "Our Right Trusty and well-beloved." It is worth noting, however, that it is historically incorrect to speak of Baron X or Baron Y, because the term "Baron" is not in its origin a title, but denoted the man or vassal of a great lord who had done him homage for his lands by putting his hands between those of his Lord and swearing "to be his man." The Barons, therefore, as they gradually became Lords of Parliament, or as Barons created by patent, were styled "Dominus," Lord, and Barons are correctly designated "Lord X or Y" to this day.

The Mantles of Barons are of crimson velvet edged with miniver, the cape furred with miniver pure, and powdered with two bars or rows of ermine, i.e., narrow pieces of black fur. Baronesses wear the Mantles of Barons edged round with miniver pure, two inches in breadth, and the train three feet on the ground.

Coronet—A plain circle of silver gilt, surmounted by six silver balls at equal distances; a cap of crimson velvet turned up ermine, thereon a golden tassel.

Viscount.



The next grade in the British Peerage is that of Vice-Comes, or VISCOUNT, a title formerly applied to the sheriff of a county, but which was not used as a designation of nobility before the reign of KING HENRY VI, when that monarch created John, Baron Beaumont, K.G., by Letters Patent dated February 12th, 1440, Viscount Beaumont, a dignity which expired with his Lordship's son and successor in 1507. A Viscounty is always created by patent, and it descends according to the specified limitation. The honour was originally conferred as an advancement to Barons, but afterwards created frequently with the Barony; and in modern times it has been conferred without a Barony, as in the instances of Viscount Combermere, Viscount Sidmouth, Viscount Halifax, Viscount Cross, &c.

The style of a Viscount is "Right Honourable," and he is officially addressed by the Crown as "Our Right Trusty and well-beloved Cousin."

The Mantles of Viscounts are the same as a Baron's, except that two rows and a half of ermine are worn on the cape. Viscountesses wear the mantles of Viscounts edged round with miniver pure, two inches in breadth, and the train a yard and a quarter on the ground.

Coronet—A circle of silver gilt, surmounted by sixteen silver balls; a cap of crimson velvet, turned up ermine, thereon a golden tassel.

Earl.

This is the only one of the five titles of nobility in the British Peerage which is derived from an English word, the Old English eorl, though this is itself derived from the Old Norse earl or jarl. In the days before the NORMAN CONQUEST the eorl replaced the ealdorman as a Royal officer of great power and responsibility, who presided over several counties or large divisions of England. In Saxon times England, after it had been more or less united under the rule of the House of Wessex, was administered in several great Earldoms, so that on the eve of the CONQUEST we find the Earldom of Northumbria governed by Morcar, Mercia by his brother Edwin, East Anglia by Gyrth, brother of KING HAROLD II, while Harold himself, before he became King, governed most of southern England as Earl of Wessex.

WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR would not tolerate the danger of a recrudescence of these vast and semi-independent Earldoms, and he split them up amongst his followers, so that by the end of the 11th century the only relics of the former semi-regal state of the great Saxon Earls were to be found in the Palatine Earldoms of Chester and of Shrewsbury, and the County Palatine of Durham. In these Palatine Earldoms the Earl and, in the case of Durham the Prince Bishop, was the ruler on much the same lines as the King himself in the rest of England. Such dangerous independence was tolerated by the English Kings only because a strong control was required to meet and check the dangers from the Welsh and Scots in the areas mentioned.

For the rest of England under the Norman and later Kings the Earl became the ruler, as the King's officer, of a county. This dignity in process of time became hereditary, the first known instance of such a creation being that of Geoffrey de Mandeville by KING STEPHEN, as Earl of Essex, "with inheritance of the title of heirs." Such an Earl ranked as one of the greater Barons* or tenants-in-Chief, and had in addition a special privilege in being allowed "the third penny" or part of the revenue derived from the pleas of the county court. In 1328, however, an Earldom, that of March, was created, which had no territorial connection, and thus the precedent was set for many more modern creations which are often attached merely to the family name of the nobleman concerned.

For several centuries Earldoms have been created by Letters Patent, and the descent of the honour regulated accordingly. The ancient ceremony of investiture, i.e., the girding with the sword, which was observed until the reign of KING EDWARD VI, has been discontinued.

The style of an Earl is "Right Honourable," and he is officially addressed by the Crown as "Our Right Trusty and right well-beloved Cousin." †

He bears also, upon some occasions, the title of "Most Noble and Puissant Prince."

The Mantles of Earls are the same as a Baron's, with three rows of ermine on the cape. Countesses wear the Mantles of Earls edged with miniver pure, three inches in breadth, and the train a yard and a half on the ground.

Coronet—A circle of silver gilt, surmounted by eight silver balls raised upon points, with gold strawberry leaves between the points; a cap of crimson velvet, turned up ermine, thereon a golden tassel.

Marquess.

A Marquess (Marchio) is the next degree in the Peerage. "His office (says Sir William Blackstone) formerly was (for dignity and duty were never separated by our ancestors) to guard the frontier and limits of the kingdom, which were called the marches, from the Teutonic word 'marche,' a limit; as in particular were the marches of Wales and Scotland, while each continued to be an enemy's country. The persons who had command there were called Lords Marches, or Marquesses, whose authority was abolished by statute 27th HENRY VIII, though the title had long before been made a mere ensign of honour."‡

The first English Marquessate was conferred by KING RICHARD II, in 1385, upon Robert de Vere, who was created Marquess of Dublin, and in the next year, Duke of Ireland. His Grace was, however, banished and attainted in 1388, when his honours became forfeit. The second creation of the same dignity occurs in the same reign, when John Beaufort, Earl of Somerset (eldest legitimated natural son of John of Gaunt), was created, 29th September, 1397, Marquess of Dorset. He was degraded from the rank in 1399, but in 1443 his nephew Edmund Somerset, Earl of Dorset, was created Marquess of Dorset. The title survived until 1461, when it was extinguished by the attainder of Henry, Duke of Somerset, who had inherited it in 1455. William de la Pole, Earl of Suffolk, had been created Marquess of Suffolk in 1444 and Duke in 1448. A Marquessate reappeared as a separate title in 1470 when John Neville was created Marquess of Montagu in exchange for his Earldom of Northumberland, which was restored to the Percies; but he was killed at Barnet in 1471. From 1475, however, when Thomas Grey, Earl of Huntingdon, and Lord Ferrers of Groby, was created Marquess of Dorset, the title was constantly in existence in the Peerage until the reign of KING EDWARD VI, but thenceforward it became a regular and common grade of nobility.

A Marquessate is invariably created by Letters Patent, and the descent regulated accordingly.

The style of a Marquess is "Most Honourable," and he is officially addressed by the Crown as "Our Right Trusty and entirely beloved Cousin."

---

* Cf. "Last of the Barons," the title applied to the Earl of Warwick.

† This mode of address is as ancient as KING HENRY IV, by whom it was first adopted. That Prince, being either by his wife, his mother, or his sister, actually related or allied to every Earl in the kingdom, artfully and constantly acknowledged that connection in all his letters and other public acts; whence the usage has descended to his successors, though the reason has long ago failed.—Blackstone.

‡ The above definition from Blackstone has the support of the Oxford Dictionary as to the derivation of the word Marquess (Marquis), from the Italian "Marchese," or Ruler of a march'; but while it is true that the word March was often applied in the plural to the nobles who guarded England's frontiers with Wales and Scotland, it is somewhat doubtful that these soldier Lords were the original Marquesses of the English Peerage, a view indeed contradicted by the text above.

He bears also, upon some occasions, the title of "Most Noble and Puissant Prince."

The Mantles of Marquesses are the same as those of Barons, with three rows and a half of ermine on the cape. Marchionesses wear the Mantles of Marquesses, edged with miniver pure, four inches in breadth, and the train a yard and three quarters on the ground.

Coronet—A circle of silver gilt, surmounted by four gold strawberry leaves and four silver balls, alternately, the latter a little raised on points above the rim; a cap of crimson velvet, turned up ermine, thereon a golden tassel.

Duke.

The Dukedom, the most elevated dignity in the English Peerage, was first introduced by KING EDWARD III, who, in 1337, created his eldest son, EDWARD THE BLACK PRINCE (then Earl of Chester), Duke of Cornwall, with remainder to his heirs, being the eldest sons of the Kings of England, by which charter the eldest son of the King becomes from birth or the accession of his father, Duke of Cornwall. The second Dukedom was conferred, in 1351, upon Henry of Grosmont, 4th Earl of Lancaster, under the title of Duke of Lancaster, a dignity which expired at his death, in 1361, without male issue, but was conferred again in 1362, upon John of Gaunt, who had married the Duke's second daughter and eventually sole heiress, Blanche, of Lancaster. In the reign of QUEEN ELIZABETH, anno 1572, the whole Order, with the exception of Norfolk and Somerset, then under attainder, became utterly extinct, but it was revived on the accession of KING JAMES I, in 1603, when his son Henry, Duke of Rothesay, in Scotland, became Duke of Cornwall in England.

A Duke is styled "His Grace," and the "Most Noble," and he is officially addressed by the Crown as "Our Right Trusty and right entirely beloved Cousin."*

He bears also, upon some occasions, the title of "Most High, Potent and Noble Prince."

The Mantles of Dukes are the same as a Baron's, with four rows of ermine on the cape. Duchesses wear the Mantles of Dukes, edged with miniver pure, five inches broad, and the train two yards on the ground.

Coronet—A circle of gold, surmounted by eight golden strawberry leaves; a cap of crimson velvet, turned up ermine, thereon golden tassel.

Notes on Dukedoms.

For more than two centuries after its first appearance in England, grants of the ducal title were strictly confined to near kinsfolk of the King, either by blood or, in one case, that of Brandon, Duke of Suffolk (1514), by marriage, and it was not until 1551 that this custom was changed by the Lord Protector Dudley, Earl of Warwick, who caused himself to be created Duke of Northumberland. In spite of 40 creations the number of Dukes in England dwindled until the days of the two Tudor Queens, who created no Duke, but attainted three between them, and thus caused the rank to become extinct in England just at a time when, in spite of ten creations, it had no representatives in Scotland either. This was in 1572, when the last surviving Dukedom, that of Norfolk (Howard), followed that of Somerset (Seymour) on to the scaffold and into attainder.

The Stewart, Orange and earlier Hanoverian sovereigns made profuse creations of Dukes, but KING GEORGE III reverted to the earlier practice, and did his best, in spite of pressure from his Ministers, to confine his creations to the Royal Family, and managed, indeed to limit them, in the case of other subjects, to two in Great Britain (Smithson-Percy, Duke of Northumberland, and Montagu, Duke of Montagu, both in 1766) and one in Ireland (Fitzgerald, Duke of Leinster, also in 1766). There was one non-Royal creation under the Regency (Wellesley, Duke of Wellington, in 1814). Since the creation of the Westminster Dukedom (Grosvenor, in 1874) the Crown has bestowed the ducal title only on the sons and near relatives by marriage of the Sovereign.

On one occasion KING RICHARD II created five Dukedoms in a single day, September 29th, 1397, and in 1694 KING WILLIAM III created five in a fortnight. At the end of the reign of KING GEORGE II no fewer than 40 of his subjects were Dukes, but when KING JAMES I and VI united the Crowns there were but two individuals in all the three kingdoms of that rank, his eldest son, PRINCE HENRY, DUKE OF CORNWALL AND ROTHESAY, who in his own person had revived the ducal title after an interval of thirty-one years in England, and Stuart, Duke of Lennox, in Scotland. The following table records the fluctuations of the title since it was revived.

* When a nobleman is of the Privy Council the word Counsellor is placed before his name, for instance, "Our right trusty and right entirely beloved Cousin and Counsellor Algernon George, Duke of Northumberland."

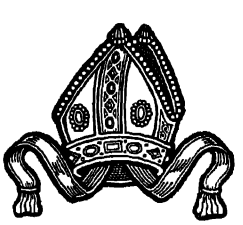
In reckoning the automatic revivals of the Duchies of Cornwall and Rothesay no account is taken of the direct succession of a son to his father on the latter's accession to the throne. The revivals are only recorded as such when they have occurred after the titles have been dormant, as they were from 1625 to 1629; 1629 to 1630; 1649 to 1688; 1702 to 1714; 1751 to 1762; and from 1820 to 1841. A Dukedom held by an heir to the Crown is held to have merged in the Crown at the beginning of the reign of that Prince rather than at the end of the reign of his predecessor on the throne.



Starting with Howard, Duke of Norfolk, in 1483, and ending with Wellesley, Duke of Wellington, there have been eleven men other than sons of the Sovereign who, having inherited no title in the Peerage, rose to its highest rank. Counting living holders of the title, there have been 421 persons of the rank of Duke in the three kingdoms and 9 Duchesses in their own right. Of the former 27 were attainted (three of them twice), 15 were executed, and 14 were killed in battle or died of wounds.

The first of the 84 English Dukedoms was Royal, that of Cornwall for the BLACK PRINCE in 1337; the last was also Royal, that of Cambridge, in 1706 for the electoral Prince of Hanover, afterwards KING GEORGE II. The first of the 28 Scottish Dukedoms was Royal, that of Rothesay, in 1398, for David, Prince of Scotland, afterwards KING DAVID II; the last was that of Roxburghe, in 1707. There have been only five Irish Dukedoms; the first was that of Ormonde, in 1661, the latest that of Abercorn, in 1868. The first of the 28 Dukedoms in the Peerage of Great Britain was that of Dover, in 1708, for the Scottish Duke of Queensberry; the last was Royal, that of Kent and Strathearn, in 1799, for QUEEN VICTORIA'S father. The first of the 20 Dukedoms of the United Kingdom created up to the present was Royal, that of Sussex, in 1801, the latest is also Royal, that of Edinburgh, in 1947.

There have been 9 Duchesses in their own right from Margaret, Duchess of Norfolk, so created by KING RICHARD II on September 19th, 1397, to H.R.H. PRINCESS ARTHUR OF CONNAUGHT, who is Duchess of Fife of the creation of 1900.

SPIRITUAL LORDS.

Archbishops.

ARCHBISHOPS have the Ducal title of "Grace," and take precedence of all Dukes next to those of the Blood Royal. The Archbishop of Canterbury ranks as first Lord, and the Archbishop of York as third, coming immediately after the Lord Chancellor. The Archbishops of Canterbury and York, and the Bishop of Durham are styled "By Divine Providence," while the Bishops of Dioceses other than Durham use the form "By Divine Permission."

Bishops.

By an Act of Parliament passed in the 31st year of HENRY VIII, it was settled that Bishops take precedence of all Barons, and immediately after Viscounts; the Bishops of London, Durham, and Winchester, preceding their Right Reverend brethren.

Bishops are styled "Lords," and "Right Reverend Fathers in God."

Note—In the time of the Saxons, the Bishops, Abbots, and other ecclesiastical persons, held their lands free from all secular services, except the trinoda necessitas—namely, expeditio, pontium et arcuum extructio, et refectio. But soon after the establishment of the Normans they were charged with the same obligations of military service as laymen. In consequence of this change the Bishops became tenants in capite per baroniam, and were, of course, bound to attend the Curia Regis, which at that time was considered as a burthensome office. It is therefore probable that the Bishops did not willingly acquiesce in this alteration; and when the immunities of the Church were so much restrained by the Constitutions of Clarendon in the 10th year of HENRY II, it was expressly declared that the Archbishops and Bishops should hold their lands as Baronies, and attend the King's court.

The Bishops were always exempt from doing homage for their Baronies, but were bound to take the oath of fealty.

The great Abbots were also bound to attend Parliament, if summoned, when they held their lands per baroniam.—CRUISE, On Dignities.

The Bishoprics Act of 1878 provides that only the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, and the Bishops of London, Durham and Winchester are to be entitled always to receive writs of summons to the Upper House. The remainder of the Spiritual Lords (21) are summoned as vacancies occur, in order of seniority of consecration.

PEERS OF SCOTLAND.

THE word Peerage cannot very properly be applied to Scottish dignities until late in the 16th century.

The Scottish Earl sprang out of the Celtic Mormaer, or Great Steward. Seven Earls are enumerated by their names, not titles, in the foundation charter of Scone, in 1114; and during the 12th century there existed a body called the Seven Earls, with whose sanction the King acted. They gradually passed from the position of "Comites" of the Sovereign to that of Feudal Lords, holding the lands with which their connection had at first been judicial as an Earldom of the Crown. The creation of additional Earldoms formed part of the feudalizing system; and though the Earldoms continued to be spoken of as seven, the Earldoms enumerated were not always the same. The coronation of ALEXANDER II (1214) is the latest date at which the Earls are specified as seven in number; and their functions afterwards merged in those of the "Communitas."

Earldoms continued territorial much longer in Scotland than in England. From the beginning of the feudal period, to nearly the 17th century the title was usually conferred by the erection of certain lands into an Earldom, the charter but rarely making specific mention of the dignity of Earl. In 1578 the practice first became general of introducing the title of Earl into the charter, and from that date until 1600 half the charters of Earldom in the Register of the Great Seal—they are eighteen in all—make special mention of it. Patents of the dignity of Earl after the English fashion were first introduced in 1600, the oldest being that of the Earl of Winton. The older Earldoms, like lands and other heritable subjects, passed to heirs of line; and in the case of co-heirs the lands were divided and the dignity with the chief messuage, went to the eldest co-heir. The husband of a Countess was often, though not always, designated by the courtesy title of Earl.

The title of a Lord of Parliament (as distinct from a minor baron) originated in the reign of KING JAMES I. The Scottish Parliament was an assemblage in one chamber of the three orders of the "Communitas," Prelates, Barons and Burgesses. The Earls belonged to the order of Barons. All Barons in the old sense, i.e., landholders holding their lands with baronial jurisdiction, had the right, or rather were under the obligation, of attending the meetings of the Estates. To the less considerable landholders this was a grievous burden, and not always strictly enforced. By a statute of 1428 the "Small Barons" were excused from attending Parliament, and an attempt was made to introduce a system of representation which proved ineffectual. About the same period began the practice of conferring the dignity of a Lord of Parliament on the more considerable Barons, a novelty brought by KING JAMES I from England.

The title of Duke was first bestowed in 1398 on the eldest son of KING ROBERT III, who was made DUKE OF ROTHESAY, and the King's brother, Robert, Earl of Fife, who was made DUKE OF ALBANY. The latter title was an empty honour, unconnected with lands. Down to a late date the title of Duke was almost exclusively bestowed on near relations of the Royal House.

The first Marquessate was that of Ormond, bestowed on James, Duke of Ross, second son of KING JAMES III, at his christening; and the only other instances of this title before the Union of the Crowns were the Marquessates of Hamilton and Huntly. Afterwards the dignity became more frequent, and was sometimes conferred along with a Dukedom.

A Scottish Peerage could, down to the Union, be resigned into the hands of the King to be re-granted to a new series of heirs, a transaction to which the heir alioqui successurus had no right to object, and which was completed by a Crown charter of resignation.

Precedency in right of priority of creation was little thought of until far on in the 16th century. That the great Earls of Douglas, Crauford, and afterwards of Angus would take rank after Earls of older creation would have been unintelligible in the 15th century. As late as 1592 and 1604 the Earl of Angus protested for precedence before not only Earls but Dukes. After the English idea of precedency according to date of creation began to obtain, the disputes to which it gave rise led to the appointment of a Commission in 1606 to rank the nobility of Scotland; and the decree then pronounced, with such changes as were introduced by authority of the Court of Session, was the basis of the precedence on the Union Roll.

The creation of Scottish Peers ceased at the Union of 1707. The Act of Union gave to all Peers of Scotland the privileges of Peers of England, except the right to sit in Parliament and on the trial of Peers. The Scottish Peers are represented in Parliament by sixteen of their number elected by themselves. A Scottish Peer is barred from sitting in the House of Commons. A large number of Peers of Scotland have since the Union been made Peers of Great Britain, or of the United Kingdom.

PEERS OF IRELAND.

THE Act of Union between Great Britain and Ireland of 1800–1 limited the numbers of the Irish Peerage to 100, and laid down that there should be 28 Representative Peers. These were elected for life, but since the creation of the Irish Free State in 1922, no new machinery for holding the elections to replace deceased Peers has been set up. In consequence there will in time be no Irish Representative Peers in the Upper House. Irish Peers who have not been elected to the House of Lords are not barred from election to the House of Commons.

Note—Some Peers of Ireland, created since the Union, and in no wise connected with Ireland, take their titles from places in England; but by a sort of fiction, the name of an English county is never introduced into the patent. Lord Rendlesham is of Rendlesham, without any county. Lord Macdonald is of Slate, in the county of Antrim, whereas Slate is in the Hebrides. Lord Newborough is of Ireland.

LIFE PEERS.

APART from the Spiritual Lords there are certain Life Peers in the House of Lords. These are the Lords of Appeal in Ordinary, constituted under the Appellate Jurisdiction Acts of 1876–1947. These members of the Upper House are permanent Judges whose main function is to hear appeals addressed to the House of Lords in its capacity as the highest legal tribunal in the United Kingdom. At the time of going to press there are thirteen such peers.

The style of a Life Peer is "Right Honourable."

The Mantles of Life Peers are the same as a Baron's.

GENERAL NOTE.

BEFORE the Union of England and Scotland in 1707 there was a Peerage of England and a Peerage of Scotland; after the Union the Peerage was that of Great Britain and no further creations of Scottish peerages have taken place since 1707. Also of course there have been no creations of English peerages, so that the old peerages of England and Scotland as separate orders are doomed to extinction. After the Union of Great Britain and Ireland in 1800–1, the Peerage consisted of that of Great Britain and that of Ireland. Modern creations are however of the United Kingdom and Irish Peerages have not been created since the foundation of the Irish Free State. The Irish Peerage is therefore in process of extinction. Irish Peerages created since the Union rank with Peerages of the United Kingdom in order of precedence. It will be observed that, in the order of precedence, Peers of England take the first rank, the order being as follows: Dukes (etc.) of England, of Scotland, of Great Britain, of Ireland, and of the United Kingdom and Ireland.

A Peerage does not necessarily entitle the holder to a seat in the House of Lords, since, as will be observed from the above, there are Scottish and Irish Peers who are not entitled to a seat.

PRIVILEGES OF THE PEERAGE.

PEERS and Peeresses are free from all arrest in civil actions, and in such cannot be outlawed nor can attachment lie against their person.

Peers are exempt from serving on juries, from attending courts-leet, or sheriff's turns; or, in case of riot, the posse-comitatus—confirmed by statute, 33 and 34 Vict. c. 77.

Formerly a Peer had the right in cases of treason and felony of being tried by his Peers, but this privilege was abolished by the Criminal Justice Act, 1948. In these cases of trial by Peers, a Peer gave his judgment not on oath but on honour; but when examined as a witness he had to be sworn.

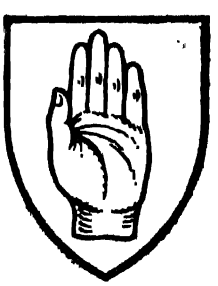
Peers were tried in courts arranged specifically for the purpose, usually in the centre of Westminster Hall, at the expense of the Crown, and these courts were removed as soon as the investigation terminated.

By the curialitas regni, the eldest son in each degree of created dignity is as of the degree next to his father; and the eldest sons of Peers of the rank of Earl, Marquess and Duke who enjoy a plurality of titles, take and use the secondary one by courtesy.

All Peers are entitled to carry Supporters to their arms, as incidental to their hereditary dignity, and otherwise adorn them with their respective coronets and mantles. Selden states that a coronet is first mentioned in the investiture of Earls in the time of KING EDWARD VI; but that they were far more ancient appears from the will of Richard, Earl of Arundel, dated December 5th, 1375, in which he bequeathes his three coronets to his son and his two eldest daughters, a circumstance which proves that coronets were carried as ensigns of high nobility in the fourteenth century, but not according to any rule or restriction as to their descent.

With regard to the right of Peers to be tried by their Peers in cases of treason or felony, this was the only survival of the right claimed for all free men in Magna Carta, "to be tried by their peers." Instances were known in the Middle Ages of, e.g., Knights, insisting on being tried by their own order. The privileges listed above are those of individual members of the Peerage. In addition the Peerage as represented by the House of Lords has certain collective privileges:—

1. The right to exercise judicial functions as a court of final appeal, the highest in the United Kingdom in civil and criminal causes. This right has been exercised by the legal members of the House from at least 1844.
2. The right to try its members in cases of treason or felony as a court of first instance.
3. The right to try impeachments by the House of Commons for high crimes and misdemeanours.
4. The right to try disputed Peerage claims. By the exercise of this right such disputed matters as those of tenure of a Barony by writ and of the creation of Life Peerages were finally settled.



Peers who are under full age, who are lunatics or are bankrupt, are barred from taking their seats in the House of Lords.

PEERESSES IN THEIR OWN RIGHT.

Peeresses in their own right are either (1) Holders of ancient titles, which in their origin as Baronies by writ were heritable by heirs male or female; or (2) Ladies who have succeeded to titles of modern creation which were by special remainder heritable by females, and have been conferred for great public service, especially in war, on men who have no male heirs. Peeresses in their own right may not sit in the House of Lords, as was confirmed in the Rhondda case in 1922.

THE BARONETAGE.

THE hereditary Order of Baronets was erected by patent in England by KING JAMES I in 1611, extended to Ireland by the same Monarch in 1619, and first conferred in Scotland by KING CHARLES I in 1625.

At the institution many of the chief estated gentlemen of the kingdom were selected for the dignity. The first of the Baronets were drawn from the principal landed proprietors, and were among the best descended gentlemen of the kingdom; and the list was headed by a name illustrious more than any other for the intellectual pre-eminence with which it is associated—the name of Bacon. A glance at the Roll of Baronets will convince anyone of the distinction and nobility of the Institution. For some time the possession of territorial influence was the main qualification, and the Order was confined principally to country gentlemen of property and descent. But in more modern days the circle has been enlarged and made to include men who have raised themselves and their families to greatness by their pre-eminence in science, literature, commerce or arms.

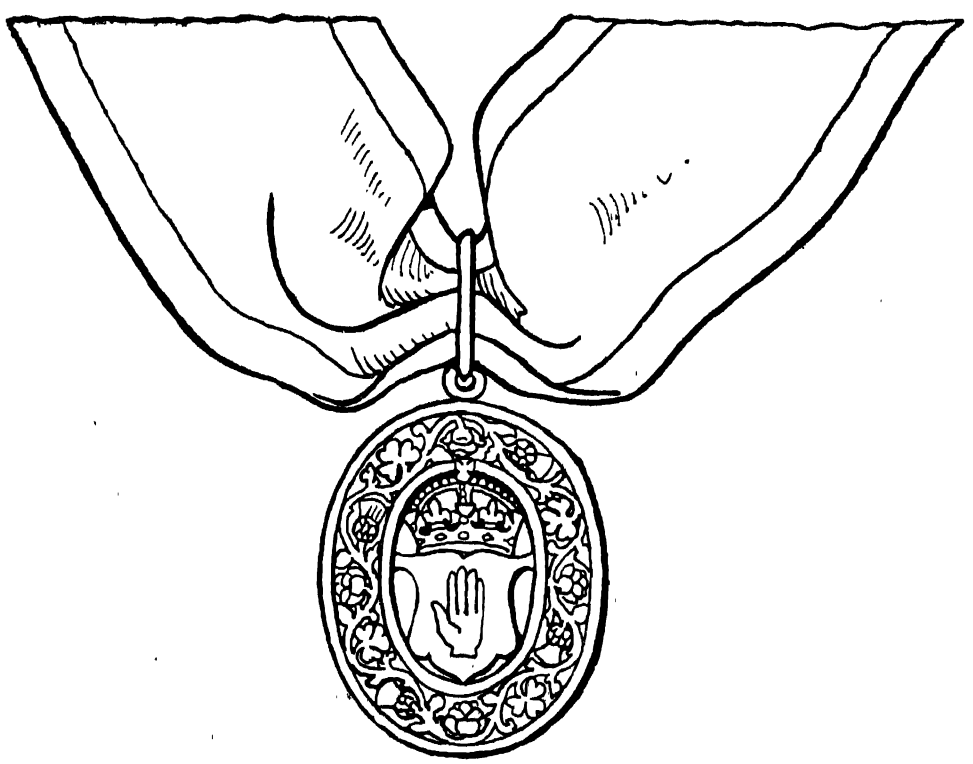
The Order of Baronets in Scotland, instituted in 1625, was, in its origin connected with Sir William Alexander's scheme for colonising Nova Scotia. The number was not to exceed 150; the sum payable for the honour was £3,000; and the patents down to 1638 included a grant of specified lands in Nova Scotia, though that colony had before the date in question passed into the hands of the French. The latter creations by KING CHARLES I included gentlemen unconnected with Scotland; and in one instance the dignity was granted to a lady, Dame Maria Bolles, of Osberton, co. Nottingham. In almost all the patents granted by KING CHARLES I, the limitation was to heirs male whomsoever; afterwards, though there was some occasional variety, the most usual limitation was to heirs male of the body.

PRIVILEGES OF THE BARONETAGE.

By the constitution of the Baronetage, it is declared and provided that Baronets and their heirs male, their wives' sons, daughters, and sons' wives, respectively, or any of them at whatever time to come, in all questions concerning any place, precedence, privilege or other matter concerning them, shall be regulated by the use and practice of custom and law, as other hereditary degrees of dignity are ordained and directed, concerning place, prerogative and precedence.

The wives of Baronets are styled "Ladies," and enjoy place and precedency, both during the lives and after the death of their husbands, according to the manner and usage of other hereditary degrees.

The daughters of Baronets have the rank and precedence of their eldest brother.



The Baronets of several creations have assigned to them by the grant of the Royal Founder, as a perpetual military post of honour, place in the Royal armies of the Sovereign, near and about the Royal Standard for its defence.

The Baronets of England and Ireland bear, as an honourable augmentation, on a canton on their armorial ensigns, the Royal Arms of Ulster, viz., argent, a hand couped, gules, the earlier Baronetcies having been erected to promote the Plantation of that province. It is curious to note that in practice this hand is usually represented as a sinister hand, though the Royal O'Neills bore a dexter hand in their arms.

It was at first provided that the Baronets of Scotland should charge their coat armour with a similar augmentation—viz., the arms of Nova Scotia. By a Royal Warrant of CHARLES I in 1629, they became entitled to wear a personal decoration, an Orange-tawny Riband and Badge—viz., in a scutcheon argent, a Saint Andrew's cross azure, thereon an inescutcheon of the Royal Arms of Scotland, with an Imperial Crown above the scutcheon, and encircled with the motto, Fax mentis honestæ gloria, being the motto of HENRY, PRINCE OF WALES, the eldest son of the Royal Founder of the Order.

On May 10th, 1929, H.M. KING GEORGE V was pleased to issue a Warrant authorising all Baronets (other than Baronets of Scotland) on appropriate occasions to wear round their necks a badge consisting of a shield of the Arms of Ulster (on a silver field a left hand gules), surmounted by an Imperial Crown enamelled in its proper colours, the whole enclosed by an oval border embossed with gilt scroll-work, having for Baronets of England a design of roses, for Baronets of Ireland a design of shamrocks, for Baronets of Great Britain a design of roses and thistles, and for Baronets of the United Kingdom a design of roses, thistles and shamrocks. The badge is suspended from an orange riband, with a narrow dark blue edge on both sides.

Since the Legislative Unions between England and Scotland, and between Great Britain and Ireland, the separate Orders of Baronets have been superseded by the one general institution of BARONETS OF THE UNITED KINGDOM, who also bear on their coat armour, as an augmentation, a canton (or inescutcheon) argent, charged with a hand couped, gules.

A weapon against disease was found on the ocean bed

LIKE A GREY SHADOW, a halibut swims along the ocean bed. Thousands of feet above, a lonely waste of water rocks endlessly, for these are the deep-water seas of Greenland, Iceland and the North Pacific. And stored within the halibut, scientists discovered, is one of the most potent aids to health known to man.

For halibut oil, they found, is a richly concentrated source of vitamins A and D, without which it is impossible for adults to maintain health or children to grow up fit and strong.

The Crookes Laboratories are proud to be associated with the work of these doctors and scientists — proud to supply them with the means to fight disease and to bring health and happiness into the lives of ordinary people.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH Alexandra Mary, K.G., C.I., elder dau. of H.M. KING GEORGE VI, and has issue (see previous article).

Edinburgh has already given the title of Duke to members of the Royal Family. In 1726, Frederick Lewis, eldest son of George, Prince of Wales (afterwards George II) was created Duke of Edinburgh. Subsequently, in 1729, he was made Prince of Wales. He d.v.p. in 1751, leaving a son and successor, George, Prince of Wales, Duke of Edinburgh, etc., who ascended the Throne as George III in 1760, when the Dukedom of Edinburgh merged in the Crown. It was, however, called out four years later in favour of the King's brother, Prince William Henry, then created Duke of Gloucester and Edinburgh, and Earl of Connaught. With his son the title became extinct in 1834. In 1866 H.R.H. Prince Alfred (who later became Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha), 2nd son of H.M. Queen Victoria was created Duke of Edinburgh, but on his death in 1900 the title again became extinct and remained unappropriated until conferred on Lieut. Sir Philip Mountbatten, K.G., R.N., on the eve of his marriage to H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth.

Creation—19 Nov. 1947.

2. ♔H.R.H. Prince RICHARD Alexander Walter George, b. 26 August 1944.

The Dukedom of Gloucester, like that of York, has always been a Royal title. King Richard II created his uncle Thomas Plantagenet (known to history as Thomas of Woodstock), 6th son of King Edward III, Duke of Gloucester in 1385. On the Duke's death in 1387 Gloucester was granted as an Earldom to Thomas, Lord le Despenser, who was beheaded in 1400. The title was revived, as a Dukedom, for Humphrey Plantagenet, 4th son of King Henry IV, who d. in 1447. The third Duke of Gloucester, who was given the title in 1461, was Richard Crookback, afterwards King Richard III, and thus the title merged in the Crown.

In 1659 King Charles II, while in exile, made his brother, Prince Henry, Duke of Gloucester. His Royal Highness d. unm. 1660, when his honours became extinct. Gloucester next appears as a Peerage Dignity in 1764, when King George III created his brother, William Henry, Duke of Gloucester and Edinburgh. He was s. by his son, William Frederick, who d.s.p. in 1834, when the Dukedom of Gloucester once more became extinct, and remained unappropriated until the creation of H.R.H. Prince Henry.

The title of Kent has long been associated with the Royal Family. William I gave the Earldom of Kent to his half-brother Bishop Odo. For some time it remained a Royal title, and then passed to nobles who were Royal kin, Hollands, Nevilles and Greys. The title of Earl of Kent remained with the Greys until 1740, its last holder being created Marquess of Kent in 1706, and Duke of Kent in 1710. The title of Kent next appeared in 1799, when it was conferred by George III on his 4th son, Prince Edward, in the combined form of Duke of Kent and Strathearn. The Duke, who was the father of Queen Victoria, d. in 1820, and in 1866 the Queen conferred the title of Kent as an Earldom on her second son, The Duke of Edinburgh, in conjunction with the Earldom of Ulster. The revived title became extinct on his death in 1900, and was re-created in favour of H.R.H. Prince George.

KINGS OF ENGLAND.

After the invasion of the former Roman province of Britain by the ancient English, a number of dynasties were established in England, each having sway over part of the country and each claiming descent from the god Woden. It became the custom for the various kings south of the river Humber to acknowledge an overlord, and in the reign of the famous OFFA, King of the Mercians there occurs for the first time in one of his official documents the famous phrase—Rex totius Anglorum patriae, King of all England. OFFA reigned 757–796 and his descent was traced from a namesake who had reigned over the English in their old home 400 years before in what is now Schleswig. By 825, however, supremacy among the English kingdoms south of Humber passed to EGBERT, King of Wessex, to whom the Anglo-Saxon Chronicle applies the term "Bretwalda," or Ruler of Britain. He d. 839, and was s. by his son,

ETHEWULF, m. 1stly, Osburh; and 2ndly, Judith, dau. of the Emperor Charles the Bald, and d. 857, having had issue by his 1st wife, four sons, who in turn s. him,

1. Ethebald, d. ca. 860.
2. Ethelbert, d. 866.
3. Ethelred I, d. 871.
4. ALFRED, of whom presently.

The yst. son,

ALFRED, surnamed The Great, the staunchest defender of his country's soil against the Danish invaders who had begun to harass England in the reigns of his father and brothers, was at first driven by the Danes into obscure quarters in the isle of Athelney near the river Parret, in Somerset. In 878, however, Alfred overthrew the Danes at Ethandune or Edington, in Wiltshire, and compelled them to accept the treaty of Wedmore. Alfred was b. ca. 848, and was sent to Rome at the age of five, when he was confirmed by Pope Leo IV. He reigned 871–900 and won renown not only for his martial abilities, but for his efforts to further the cause of law, education and culture. He m. 868, Ealhswith, dau. of Ethelred Mucill, Ealdorman of The Gaini, and d. 26 Oct. 900, when he was s. by his 2nd son,

EDWARD I the Elder, who reigned as overlord of the greater part of Britain until 924. He m. 1stly, Ecgwyn; 2ndly, Aelflaed, by whom he had two sons and six daus.; and 3rdly Eddgifu, by whom he had two sons EDMUND and EDRED (see below), and two daus. He d. 924 and was s. by the son of his 1st marriage,

ATHELSTAN, styled in his charters "Rex totius Britanniae," and who used the Greek title of Basileus; b. ca. 894, and won the battle of Brunanburh, 937, over a combination of Scots, Welsh and Danes. He d.s.p., being s. by his half brother.

EDMUND I, The Magnificent, murdered by a robber, 946. He m. 1stly, Aelgifu, and had issue, Eadwig and Edgar; 2ndly, Ethelflaed (d. 944). He was s. by his brother.

EDRED, who reigned 946–955, being s. by his nephew, son of EDMUND I,

EDWY, surnamed The Fair, b. ca. 940; m. Elgiva, reigned 955–959, being s. by his yr. brother,

EDGAR, b. ca. 944, reigned 959–975, and was clearly recognized as King of England and styled himself "Emperor of Britain"; m. 1stly, Ethelflaed, dau. of Earl Ordmaer, and had issue, EDWARD The Martyr. He m. 2ndly, 964, Elfthryth (or Elfrida), dau. of Earl Ordgar, and by her had issue, EDMUND The Atheling and ETHELRED The Unready. He d. in the 33rd year of his age, being s. by his eldest son,

EDWARD II (or The Martyr); b. ca. 963, murdered 18 March 978, by his stepmother, Elfrida, at Corfe Castle, Dorset. He was s. by his half-brother,

ETHELRED II, The Unready (or the Redeless); b. ca. 968, reigned 978–1016, m. 1stly Alfgifu; and 2ndly, 1002, Emma, dau. of Richard I, Duke of Normandy. In his reign England was overrun and devastated by the Danes. Ethelred had by his 1st wife two sons, EDMUND, of whom presently, and Edwy, said to have been murdered by Canute; by his 2nd wife, he had issue, Alfred, d. ca. 1035, and EDWARD (see below). He d. 23 April, 1016, and was s. by his eldest son,

EDMUND II, surnamed Ironside, b. ca. 980, who maintained the independence of England against his rival CANUTE, son of Sweyn Forkbeard, King of Denmark. Edmund II d. 30 Nov. 1016, leaving two sons,

1. Edwin, m. the sister of Solomon, King of Hungary, but d.s.p.
2. Edward, m. Agatha, dau. of the Emperor Henry II, and had issue,
   1. Edgar, The Atheling.
      1. Margaret, m. 1068–9, as his 2nd wife, MALCOLM III, King of Scotland.
      2. Christina, who became a nun.

On the death of EDMUND II, CANUTE, whose father, Sweyn of Denmark, had claimed to be King of England by conquest, became King of England by the choice of the English Witan, or Great Council. Canute was King of England, Denmark and Norway. He was b. ca. 995, reigned 1016–1035, m. 1stly, Aelfgifu, of Northampton, and had issue,

1. Sweyn, King of Norway.
2. HAROLD, of whom presently.

He m. 2ndly, Emma of Normandy, widow of ETHELRED II and by her had issue,

3. HARDICANUTE.

King Canute d. at Shaftesbury, 12 Nov. 1035, and was s. by his 2nd son,

HAROLD I, surnamed Harefoot, d.s.p. at Oxford, 10 March, 1040, and was s. by his half-brother,

HARDICANUTE, King of England and of Denmark, reigned 1039–1042. He d.s.p. 8 June, 1042, and was s. by

EDWARD III, surnamed The Confessor (son of ETHELRED II, by Emma of Normandy (see above)), who reigned 1042–1066. EDWARD The Confessor was b. at Islip, co. Oxford, was called to the Throne by the Witan in 1042 and Crowned King, Easter 1043. He founded Westminster Abbey and acquired a great reputation for sanctity. He m. 23 Jan. 1045 Edith (d. 19 Dec. 1075), dau. of the celebrated Earl Godwine (and his wife Gytha, the great-granddau. of Harold Bluetooth, King of Denmark, grandfather of King CANUTE, and of Olaf, King of Sweden). Edward d.s.p. 5 Jan. 1066, and was s. by Harold II, son of Earl Godwine, whom he had named his heir and whom the Witan had chosen as King.

HAROLD II, b. ca. 1022, appointed Earl of the East Angles before 1045, s. his father as Earl of the West Saxons, 1053. He m. ca. 1064, Edith, widow of Gruffyd, Prince of North Wales, and sister of Edwin, Earl of Mercia, and he was Crowned King, Jan. 1066. In September, England was invaded north of the Humber by Harold Hardrada, King of Norway, and in Sussex by William, Duke of Normandy, the bastard great-grandson of Richard I, Duke of Normandy (father of Emma, the mother of EDWARD THE CONFESSOR). On 25 Sept. 1066, King Harold destroyed the Norwegian Army at the battle of Stamford Bridge. He then hurried south and gave battle to William, 14 Oct. 1066, on a hill near Battle. In this battle described by contemporary chroniclers as that of Hastings, King Harold and his army fell fighting gloriously against the invaders. Harold's body is said to have been buried under a cairn of stones on the sea shore and thence taken to Waltham Abbey.

WILLIAM I, styled " Willielmus Rex Anglorum," b. at Falaise, 1025, illegitimate son of Robert I, Duke of Normandy, became Duke 1035, and s. to the throne of England in 1066 by right of conquest; surnamed The Conqueror from that fact. He was Crowned in Westminster Abbey by Aldred, Archbishop of York, on 25 Dec. 1066. He m. 1053, Matilda (d. 2 Nov. 1083), dau. of Baldwin V., Count of Flanders, fifth in descent from Ethelwida, dau. of Alfred The Great, and 10th in descent from Charlemagne. By her he had issue,

1. Robert, surnamed Courthose, successor to the Duchy of Normandy, m. Sybilla (d. at Rouen, Lent 1103), dau. of Geoffrey of Conversana, or according to Glover, Roger of Conversaria, and d. in Cardiff Castle, 10 Feb. 1134, having had a son William, Count of Flanders, who d.s.p. 27 July, 1128, slain at the battle of Aelst, in Flanders.
2. Richard, d.v.p., k. by a stag in the New Forest, 1081.
3. WILLIAM RUFUS, successor to the Crown of England.
4. HENRY, successor to the Crown of England after his brother.

1. Cecilia, who took the veil at the monastery of Fécamp, in 1075, and was the first nun, and afterwards the second Abbess, of the Holy Trinity, founded at Caen by her Royal mother, who was interred there. The Lady Abbess Cecilia d. at the Holy Trinity, 13 July, 1126.

KINGS OF SCOTLAND.

THE Royal House of Scotland arose from the union in 843 of the Kingdom of the Scots, Dalriada, with Caledonia, the kingdom of the Picts, which latter comprised the northern and eastern parts of the country. The Kings of the Picts, ARD RIGH ALBANN, according to their chroniclers, derived from CRUITHNE, King of the Picts (from whose seven younger sons the original Seven Earls or provincial Kings of Caledonia were deduced) through seventy kings (of whom the 49th, BRUDE MACMAELCON, 565, and NECTAN MACDERILI, 596–617, were converted to Christianity), to the 71st, CONSTANTINE MACANGUS, whose successor, Angus II (821–833) had a son EOGHAIN MACANGUS (73rd) and a daughter, Fergusia, married to Eocha, of the Royal House of Dalriada, and had ALPIN, who claimed the Pictish throne on Eoghain's death in 839, and was father of KENNETH MACALPIN, of whom presently as 74th ARD RIGH ALBANN.

The official genealogy of the Kings of Dalriada, declaimed by the Royal Sennachie at the Scottish Coronation, traces their succession from FERGUS MOR MACERC (ca. 496), a scion of the Royal House of the High Kings of Ireland, down to the above mentioned.

KENNETH I, surnamed MacAlpin, in whose person from 844 the Crowns of Dalriada and Caledonia were united as first King of Scots. In both realms tribal Kingship was hereditary in the Royal race but selective as regards the individual, passing primarily to the Tanistair or nominee of the reigning Sovereign, and at the death of Kenneth I in 859 he was s. by his brother,

DONALD I, who reigned from 859 to 863 and was s. by his nephew,

CONSTANTINE I, son of KENNETH I, reigned from 863 to 877. He fell in a battle with the Danes, and was s. by his brother,

AEDH, who reigned but one year, 877–8, and is said to have been "slain by his people." His successor was

EOCHA, son of RUN, KING OF STRATHCLYDE, by the dau. of KENNETH I. He reigned 878–889, CIRIC or GRIG, son of DUNGAIL, being associated with him. Their successor,

DONALD II, son of CONSTANTINE I, reigned from 889–900. He was slain in a Danish invasion, and was s. by

CONSTANTINE II, son of AEDH, who reigned 42 years, 900–942, and, being harassed by the ravages of the Northmen, retired in 942 to the Monastery of St. Andrews. His successor,

MALCOLM I, son of DONALD II, reigned from 942–954. His cousin,

INDULPH, son of CONSTANTINE II, reigned from 954–962. His cousin,

DUBH, son of MALCOLM I, reigned from 962–967. His cousin,

CUILEAN, son of INDULPH, reigned from 967–971. His cousin,

KENNETH II, son of MALCOLM I, reigned from 971–995. His cousin,

CONSTANTINE III, son of CUILEAN, reigned from 995–997. His cousin,

KENNETH III, son of DUBH, reigned from 997–1005, and was slain at Monzievaird ca. 25 March, 1005, by his cousin, who s. as,

MALCOLM II (styled Malcolm MacKenneth), son of KENNETH II, who reigned from 1005–34. He d. 25 Nov. 1034, having had three daus.,

1. Bethoc, m. ca. 1000, Crinan, the Thane, Hereditary Abbot of Dunkeld, in the Celtic Church, who was slain 1045, leaving issue,
   1. DUNCAN, afterwards DUNCAN I.
   2. Maldred, m. Edith, dau. of Uchtred, Earl of Northumberland, and was father of Cospatrick, Earl of Northumberland.
   1. A dau., who was mother of Moddan.
2. Donada, m. Finlaec, Mormaer of Moray, and had a son,
   MACBETH, King of Scots.
3. Another dau. m. Sigurd, Earl of Orkney, and had issue.

His grandson and successor,

DUNCAN I, son of CRINAN, Hereditary Abbot of Dunkeld, and Bethoc his wife, dau. of MALCOLM II. He reigned 1034–40. He m. a cousin of Siward, Earl of Northumberland, and had three sons, MALCOLM III, DONALD BANE, and MELMARE. In his reign the north and west of Scotland were conquered by the Northmen, under Thorfinn, Jarl of the Orkneys. His cousin, MACBETH, Mormaer of Moray, joining his fortunes to those of the invader, put DUNCAN to death 14 Aug. 1040, and ascended the throne.

MACBETH, son of FINLAEC, Mormaer of Moray, reigned from 1040–57 ; m. GRUOCH, widow of Gillacomgan and dau. of BODE, son of KENNETH III. His kingdom seems to have been confined to the country south and west of the Tay, Thorfinn ruling over the rest. He was slain by MALCOLM, son of DUNCAN I, at Lumphanan, co. Aberdeen, 15 Aug. 1057, s.p. His stepson and successor,

LULACH, son of GILLACOMGAN, Mormaer of Moray, and Gruoch his wife, dau. of BODE, son of KENNETH III, was made King by MACBETH'S party, and after reigning seven months, was slain at Essie, in Strathbogie, 17 March, 1057–58. He had a son, MALSNECHTAI, and also a dau., whose son, ANGUS, succeeding to the Earldom of Moray, was associated with Malcolm, natural son of ALEXANDER I, in an insurrection against DAVID I, but was defeated and slain in 1130.

MALCOLM III, known as Ceannmor, or Great Head ; b. ca. 1031, eldest son of DUNCAN I, ascended the throne, 17 March, 1057–58. Under him, the provinces acquired by Thorfinn, fell again under native rule. He m. 1stly, ca. 1059, Ingibjorg, dau. or widow of Thorfinn, Earl of Orkney, by whom he had issue,

1. DUNCAN II.
2. Malcolm, living 1094.
3. Donald, d. 1085.

He m. 2ndly, 1068–69, Margaret (d. 16 Nov. 1093, and was canonised as St. Margaret), dau. of Edward Atheling and sister of EDGAR ATHELING, who had fled to Scotland with his sisters, and by her had issue,

4. Edward, wounded with his father at Alnwick, d. 16 Nov. 1093.
5. EDMUND, mentioned hereafter, d. a monk.
6. Ethelred, Lay Abbot of Dunkeld, d. before 1097.
7. EDGAR, } successively Kings of Scotland.
8. ALEXANDER, }
9. DAVID. }
1. Eadgith, otherwise Matilda, m. 11 Nov. 1100, HENRY I of England, and d. 1 May, 1118, leaving issue. He d. 1 Dec. 1135.
2. Mary, m. 1102, Eustace, Count of Boulogne, and d. 31 May, 1116, leaving issue.

MALCOLM was slain at Alnwick, 13 Nov. 1093 (bur. at Tynemouth). His brother,

DONALD BANE became King of Scots, 13 Nov. 1093, but was deposed May, 1094, by his nephew,

DUNCAN II, b. 1060, son of MALCOLM III, by his 1st wife. He m. ca. 1090, Ethelreda, dau. of Cospatrick, Earl of Northumberland. and by her had a son, DUNCAN, father of WILLIAM, whose son, William of Egremont, d. under age. DUNCAN II, after reigning six months, was slain at Mondynes, 12 Nov. 1094, when

DONALD BANE resumed the throne, 12 Nov. 1094, his nephew, EDMUND, son of MALCOLM III (and Margaret, his wife), being conjoined with him. In 1097, through means of EDGAR ATHELING, DONALD was defeated and expelled from Scotland, EDMUND imprisoned, and the throne assumed by EDGAR, another son of MALCOLM III. DONALD BANE'S grand-dau. and heiress, HEXTILDA m. Richard Comyn, and their descendant, John Comyn, known as the Black Comyn, was one of the competitors for the Scottish Crown in 1291. Donald Bane was s. by

EDGAR, b. 1074, son of MALCOLM III ; reigned from 1097–1107, d. unm. 8 Jan. 1106–7, and was s. by his brother,

ALEXANDER I, b. 1077. While Alexander reigned over Scotland, north of the Forth and Clyde, his brother DAVID, who had been trained in England, and was Earl of Northumberland, ruled with the title of Earl in Lothian and Cumbria. Alexander m. Sybilla (d.s.p. 12 July, 1122), natural dau. of HENRY I of England. ALEXANDER d. at Stirling, 23 April, 1124, and was s. by his yst. brother,

DAVID I (called The Saint), b. ca. 1080, m. ca. 1114, Matilda, widow of Simon de Senlis or St. Liz, and dau. and heiress of Waltheof, Earl of Huntingdon, and had issue,

The Duke of Abercorn, the Marquess of Lansdowne, and the Earl of Verulam are the only peers who enjoy distinct peerages of the three kingdoms.

Lineage—GILBERT DE HAMILTON, the immediate ancestor of the great family of Hamilton, was descended from the ancient Norman race of De Bellomonts, Earls of Leicester, so it is affirmed by genealogical writers, Sir Robert Douglas and others. He lived in the reign of ALEXANDER II, King of Scotland, and is said to have m. Isabella Randolph, sister of Thomas Randolph, Earl of Moray. Sir Gilbert de Hamilton's eldest son,

WALTER FITZ GILBERT HAMILTON, 1st of Cadzow, was witness to a charter to the Monks of Paisley, 10 Jan. 1294–5, and is named in the Homage Roll, 28 Aug. 1296. Attaching himself later to King ROBERT BRUCE, he had grants of Dalserf, 3 March, 1314–15, and afterwards of Cadzow, which became the chief lordship and seat of the Hamilton family. He had a grant of Kinneil, 28 July, 1323. The name of his first wife was Helen, and he m. 2ndly, Mary, dau. of Sir Adam Gordon, Lord of Gordon, by whom he had issue,

1. DAVID, of whom presently.

2. John, ancestor of the Hamiltons of Innerwick and the Earls of Haddington.

The elder son,

SIR DAVID FITZ WALTER FITZ GILBERT HAMILTON, 2nd of Cadzow. He was made prisoner at the battle of Durham, 1346; in 1361, he was a benefactor to the see of Glasgow, and was one of the Magnates Scotiæ who consented to the settlement of the crown in 1371. He d. 1374. He m. Margaret, dau. of William, 7th Earl of Ross, by whom he had three sons, 1. DAVID, of whom presently; 2. John (Sir) of Fingaltoun, ancestor of Hamilton of Preston (see STIRLING HAMILTON, Bart.), and 3. WALTER, ancestor of the family of Hamilton, of Cambuskeith, in co. Ayr. The eldest son,

SIR DAVID HAMILTON, 3rd of Cadzow, had grants from KING ROBERT II. in 1375 and 1378. He d. before 14 May, 1392. He m. Jonetta Keith, dau. of Sir William Keith, of Galston, by whom he had with other issue an eldest son,

SIR JOHN HAMILTON, 4th of Cadzow, who was witness to a charter 14 May, 1392, having s. his father before that date. He m. Janet Douglas, dau. of Sir James Douglas, of Dalkeith, and had with other issue an eldest son,

SIR JAMES HAMILTON, 5th of Cadzow, a hostage for the ransom of KING JAMES I from England in 1424 and 1426. He m. (charter 20 Oct. 1422) Janet, dau. of Sir Alexander Livingstone, of Callendar, and had issue,

1. JAMES, his heir.
2. Alexander, ancestor of the families of Hamilton, Baronets of Silvertonhill (whom see).
3. John, who had a charter of Whitecamp and Kirkhope, 14 June, 1449.
4. GAVIN, ancestor of the Hamiltons, of Orbieston, now represented by LORD HAMILTON, of Dalzell. (See that title.)

He was s. before May 1441, by his eldest son,

Sir JAMES HAMILTON, 6th of Cadzow, 1ST LORD HAMILTON, who was created a Lord of Parliament by Royal Charter, 28 June, 1445, as LORD HAMILTON. He at first joined in the Douglas revolt of 1455, but coming over to the King's side, gave valuable assistance in suppressing it. This nobleman obtained a grant, dated 1 July, 1455, of the office of sheriff of the county of Lanark; and had a charter of all his lands and baronies 23 Oct. in the same year. He m. 1stly (dispensation 2 Feb. 1440–1), Lady Euphemia Graham, eldest dau. of Patrick, Earl of Strathern, and widow of Archibald, 5th Earl of Douglas, and by her, who d. before 1 Nov. 1468, had an only dau., Elizabeth, who m. David, 5th Earl of Crauford, afterwards Duke of Montrose. Lord Hamilton m. 2ndly, before April 1474 (papal dispensation 25 April, 1476), the Princess Mary, eldest dau. of JAMES II., and previously wife of Thomas Boyd, Earl of Arran, and by her had issue, JAMES, his heir, and Elizabeth, who m. Matthew Stewart, Earl of Lennox. Lord Hamilton d. 16 Nov. 1479, and was s. by his only son,

JAMES, 2ND LORD HAMILTON and 1ST EARL OF ARRAN, who obtained a charter of the lands and Earldom of Arran, dated 11 Aug. 1503, to himself and his heirs male, in failure of which, to revert to the Crown. This nobleman, who took a prominent part in the affairs of Scotland, was constituted Lt.-Gen. of the kingdom, Warden of the Marches, and one of the Lords of the Regency, in 1517; and on the forfeiture of the Earl of Angus he obtained the lordship of Bothwell. His lordship m. 1stly (charter 28 April, 1490), Elizabeth, dau. of Alexander, 2nd Lord Home, Great Chamberlain of Scotland (see HOME, E.). She was divorced 16 Nov. 1504, on the ground of a previous marriage to Sir Thomas Hay (living 20 June, 1491), son of 1st Lord Hay, of Yester (see TWEEDDALE, M.). A further sentence of divorce was pronounced 11 March, 1509–10. She survived till 1544. The Earl m. 2ndly (charter 28 Nov. 1516) Janet, dau. of Sir David Beaton, of Criech, Fifeshire, Comptroller of Scotland, temp. JAMES VI., and widow of Sir Robert Livingston, of Easter Wemyss, and d. before 21 July, 1629 (will dated 26 March, 1629). He was s. by his elder son,

JAMES, 2ND EARL OF ARRAN, who was, upon the death of JAMES V., in 1542, unanimously chosen Regent of Scotland by the nobles assembled for that purpose; the next year he was declared by Parliament HEIR PRESUMPTIVE to the crown, appointed guardian to QUEEN MARY, and Governor of the Realm during Her Majesty's minority. In 1548, his lordship was invested with the French order of St. Michael, and made, 8 Feb. 1548–9, by HENRY II. of France, DUKE OF CHATELLERAULT, *in Poictou. He resigned the Regency, 10 April, 1554. He m. about 23 Sept. 1532, Lady Margaret Douglas, eldest dau. of James, 3rd Earl of Morton, and d. 22 Jan. 1574–5, leaving with other issue, a youngest son,

LORD CLAUD HAMILTON, 1st Baron Paisley, zealous partisan of MARY, Queen of Scots, and a very gallant and distinguished personage. He commanded the vanguard for QUEEN MARY at the battle of Langside 1568, and was consequently outlawed and his estates forfeited by the Regent Moray: but in 1573, JAMES VI, in consideration of his loyalty and devotion restored to him his rank and fortune. He further had a grant of the whole barony of Paisley, with the dignity of BARON PAISLEY, 29 July, 1587. He was b. 1543, and m. 1 Aug. 1574, Margaret, dau. of George, 5th Lord Seton (see EGLINTON, E.). She d. before 18 Feb. 1616. He d. 1621, leaving with other issue, an eldest son,

JAMES, 1st Earl of Abercorn, created BARON OF ABERCORN in the peerage of Scotland 5 April, 1603, and advanced to the dignities of EARL OF ABERCORN, Baron of Paisley, Hamilton, Mountcastell, and Kilpatrick 10 July, 1606. He m. Marian, dau. of Thomas, 5th Lord Boyd. She d. 26 Aug. 1632. He d.v.p. 23 March, 1617–18, leaving with other issue,

1. JAMES, 2nd Earl.
2. Claud, s. to the Irish estates, and on the resignation of his brother James was created 14 Aug. 1634, Lord Hamilton, BARON OF STRABANE in the Peerage of Ireland, with the precedence of the former patent, 8 May, 1617. He m. 28 Nov. 1632, Lady Jane Gordon, dau. of 1st Marquess of Huntly. He d. 14 June, 1638, having by her (who m. 2ndly, after 1641, Sir Phelim O'Neile) had with other issue,

George, 3rd Lord Strabane, m. 1659, Elizabeth, dau. of Christopher Fagan, of Feltrim, co. Dublin. He d. 14 April, 1668, leaving issue with two daus.,

(1) CLAUD, 4th Earl of Abercorn.
(2) CHARLES, 5th Earl of Abercorn.

3. George (Sir), 1st Bt. of Donalong, co. Tyrone and Nenagh, co. Tipperary created a baronet of Scotland about 1660; m. (art. dated 2 June, 1629) Mary, 3rd dau. of Thomas, Viscount Thurles, and sister of the 1st Duke of Ormonde. He d. 1679. She d. Aug. 1680, leaving with other issue,

1. James, Col. in the service of CHARLES II, and Groom of the Bedchamber; m. 1661, Elizabeth, dau. of John, Lord Colepeper. He d.v.p. of a wound received in a naval engagement with the Dutch, 6 June, 1673, and was buried in Westminster Abbey. She d. 1709, leaving issue with two younger sons,

(1) JAMES, 6th Earl of Abercorn.

2. George (Sir), Count of France, and Maréchal du Camp; m. 1665, Frances, dau. and co-heir of Richard Jennings, of Sandridge, and sister of Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough, and d. 1676, having by her (who m. 2ndly 1679, Richard Talbot, Duke of Tyrconnel, and d. 6 March, 1730–1), had three daus.
3. Anthony, the celebrated Count Hamilton, author of "Memoires de Grammont," Lieut.-Gen. in the French service, d. 20 April, 1719, aged 74.

The eldest son,

JAMES HAMILTON, 2nd Earl of Abercorn, who s. his cousin William, 2nd Duke of Hamilton, as heir male of the House of Hamilton. He had been previously advanced to the peerage of Ireland, 8 May, 1617, by the title of Lord Hamilton, Baron of Strabane; this honour, upon his lordship's petition to CHARLES I, 11 Nov. 1633, was transferred to his next brother, the Hon. Claud Hamilton. He m. in 1632, Catharine, dau. and heiress of Sir Gervase Clifton, Kt., Lord Clifton of Leighton Bromswold, and widow of Esme, 3rd Duke of Lennox (see CLIFTON, of Leighton Bromswold, B.). CLAUD, LORD HAMILTON, BARON OF STRABANE, AND 4th Earl of Abercorn, bapt. 13 Sept. 1659, was P.C. and Lord of the Bedchamber to JAMES II., whom he accompanied to France after the Battle of the Boyne, 1 July, 1690, and was outlawed 11 May, 1691. He commanded his regiment at the battle of Aughrim, in Ireland, 13 July, 1691, but was killed soon after in an engagement with a Dutch man-of-war near Brest, when returning to France. His brother,

CHARLES, 5th Earl of Abercorn, was restored to the title and estates 24 May, 1692. He m. Catharine, widow of William Lenthall of Burford Priory, co. Oxford, and dau. and heir of James Lord Paisley, eld. son of James, 2nd Earl of Abercorn. She d. 24 May, 1723. He d.s.p.s. June, 1701, when the honours and estates devolved on his kinsman,

JAMES, 6th Earl of Abercorn, grandson of Sir George Hamilton, Bt., of Donalong (4th son of James, 1st Earl of Abercorn), who had declined assuming the title of Baronet on the death of his grandfather, 1679, and was known as Captain Hamilton. This gentleman was in the military service and confidence of JAMES II, but espousing the cause of WILLIAM, took a distinguished part at the siege of Londonderry against the deposed King. Succeeding to the Earldom of Abercorn, his lordship, in virtue thereof, took his seat, in 1706, as a member of the Scottish Parliament. Ireland was, however, the usual place of his residence; and of that realm, 2 Sept. 1701, he was created Baron Mountcastell and Viscount Strabane. The Earl m. 24 Jan. 1683–4, Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of Sir Robert Reading, Bt. of Dublin. She d. 19 March, 1754, leaving with other issue,

Lineage—The Gordons, Earls of Aberdeen, derive, in the male line, from "JOCK" GORDON, of Scurdargue, living 1418, son, by a handfast marriage, of Sir John Gordon, of Strathbogie (who d. circa 1395), and first cousin of Elizabeth Gordon, who inherited Strathbogie, and, marrying Sir Alexander Seton, became ancestor of the Marquesses of Huntley. Gordon of Scurdargue had three sons, the youngest of whom, JAMES GORDON, m. Canea Harper, half-portioner of Methlic, and was father of PATRICK GORDON, who was killed at Brechin, 18 May, 1452. He was s. by his son, JAMES GORDON, of Methlic and Kelly, who acquired Haddo from William Foularton 22 June, 1469, and had issue (with a third son, Alexander, Bishop of Aberdeen) an eldest son,

PATRICK GORDON, of Methlic and Haddo, who obtained charters under the great seal, from JAMES III, in 1481, from JAMES IV in 1505, and from JAMES V in 1514. He lived to a great age, and d. in 1531. He was s. by his grandson (the only son of George Gordon, who d.v.p.).

JAMES GORDON, of Methlic and Haddo, in the beginning of MARY'S troubles was one of those who signed the association, in 1567, for the defence of the young PRINCE JAMES; but upon ascertaining that the Queen had been imposed upon, he joined the Earl of Huntly, Her Majesty's lieutenant in the north, adhered faithfully and firmly to her interests ever after, and obtained royal charters of several other lands and baronies. He m. Marjory, dau. of Sir Thomas Menzies, of Pitfoddels, Comptroller of Scotland; d. in 1582, and was s. by his grandson,

JAMES GORDON, of Methlic and Haddo (only son of Patrick Gordon, by Agnes, dau. of Alexander Frazer, of Muchal). This gentleman m. by contract, 25 July, 1582, Jean, dau. of William, Lord Keith, and d. Nov. 1623, when he was s. by his grandson,

Sir John Gordon, 1st Bt. of Haddo (the only son of George Gordon, who d.v.p. Oct. 1610, by Margaret, his wife, dau. of Sir Alexander Bannerman, of Elsick). He was second in command to the Marquess of Huntly, over the forces raised against the Covenanters in 1630, and was created a BARONET OF NOVA SCOTIA, by CHARLES I, 13 Aug. 1642, for his distinguished conduct at the battle of Turreff. In the following year Sir John defended the house of Kellie against the Covenanters, but, being obliged to capitulate, he was sent to Edinburgh, and imprisoned in a church there, which afterwards bore the name of Haddo's Hole. He was subsequently tried, condemned, and executed at the Cross of Edinburgh, 19 July, 1644, the first Royalist who suffered death by a judicial sentence. He m. 1630, Mary, dau. of William Forbes of Tolquhoun, and had issue. His estates were forfeited, and they remained under sequestration until the restoration of CHARLES II, when they were inherited by his eldest son, Lineage—SIR EDWARD NEVILL, Baron Bergavenny, K.G., son of 1st Earl of Westmorland, by his 2nd wife, Joane, dau. of John of Gaunt, and uncle of Richard Neville, Earl of Warwick and Salisbury, commonly called the King Maker (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage). He m. 1stly, Lady ELIZABETH BEAUCHAMP, only child of Richard Beauchamp, Earl of Worcester, by Isabel Le Despencer his wife, and granddau. of William Beauchamp, K.G., 4th son of Thomas, Earl of Warwick, who was summoned to Parliament from 23 Nov. 1392, to 26 Aug. 1408, as "Willielm Beauchamp, de Bergavenny," and d. 1419.

Sir Edward thus becoming possessed of the castle and lands of Bergavenny, was summoned to Parliament as BARON BERGAVENNY, from Sept. 1450 (29 HEN. VI), to 19 Aug. 1472 (12 EDW. IV). His lordship was a Yorkist, and high in the confidence of EDWARD IV. He had with other issue by the heiress of the Beauchamps,

GEORGE, 4th lord.

His lordship m. 2ndly, 15 Oct. 1448, Catherine, dau. of Sir Robert Howard, Kt., and sister of John, Duke of Norfolk, by whom he had three daus. He d. 18 Oct. 1476, and was s. by his son,

SIR GEORGE NEVILL, 4th Lord Bergavenny, who had been knighted at the Battle of Tewkesbury, 9 May, 1471. His lordship m. 1stly, Margaret (who d. 28 Sept. 1485), dau. and heir of Sir Hugh Fenne, Kt., Treasurer of the Household to HENRY VI, and had with other issue,

1. GEORGE, 5th Lord.
2. Edward (Sir), of Addington Park, in Kent, a military man of high reputation, and a knight-banneret in the time of HENRY VIII. He was eventually, however, attainted and beheaded, on the charge "of devising to maintain, promote, and advance, one Reginald Pole, late Dean of Exeter, enemy of the King, beyond the sea, and to deprive the King." Sir Edward Neville had m. 1stly, Eleanor, dau. of Andrew, Lord Windsor, and widow of Ralph, Lord Scrope, of Upsal, by whom he left with other issue,

EDWARD, who s. as 7th baron.

He m. 2ndly, Elizabeth, widow of Sir Robert Bassett, of Richard Naylor and of John Stokker. She d. 1500. He d. 20 Sept. 1492, and was s. by his eldest son,

From the last monarch he obtained the Garter, with many high and important commands, and was summoned to Parliament in the 21st of the King's reign, as "George Nevyle de Bergavenny, Chivaler." At the coronation of QUEEN ANNE BOLEYN, his lordship claimed successfully the office of chief larderer. He d. 27th of HENRY VIII, and was s. by his eldest son (by Mary, his 3rd wife, dau. of Edward Stafford, Duke of Buckingham), HENRY, 6th Lord Bergavenny, who was summoned to Parliament, in the 3rd and 4th of EDWARD VI. This nobleman was committed to ward, for striking the Earl of Oxford in the Chamber of Presence, but obtained, within a month, special pardon for the offence. His lordship was one of the peers who sat in judgment upon QUEEN MARY of Scotland. He m. 1stly, Frances, dau. of Thomas Manners, Earl of Rutland (she d. 1576); and 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. and co-heir of Stephen Darrell, of Spelmonden, in Horsmonden, Kent (she m. 2ndly, Sir William Sidley, Bart.). By his first wife he left 10 Feb. 1586–7, an only dau., MARY, the wife of Sir Thos. Fane, Kt., who then claimed the barony of Bergavenny; but, after a long investigation, the House of Lords decided that the said barony belonged to the heir male; whereupon the Crown, to give some satisfaction to the heir female, granted, by letters patent, the barony of Le Despencer to her ladyship and her heirs; and her cousin (revert to Sir Edward Neville, 2nd son of George, 4th baron).

EDWARD NEVILLE, 7th Baron Bergavenny, was confirmed in the barony. His lordship m. 1stly, Catherine, dau. of Sir John Brome, of Halton, in Oxfordshire, by whom he had four sons. He m. 2ndly, Grisold, dau. of Thomas Hughes, of Uxbridge, but by that lady (who m. 2ndly, 4th Earl of Cumberland and d. 16 June, 1613) had no issue. He d. 10 Feb. 1588, and was s. by his eldest son,

EDWARD, 8th Baron Bergavenny, summoned to Parliament from 19 March, 1604, to 14 Nov. 1621. This nobleman unsuccessfully claimed (2nd JAMES I), the EARLDOM OF WESTMORLAND. He m. Rachael, dau. of John Lennard, of Knoll, in Kent, and had by her (who d. Oct. 1616) with other issue,

1. HENRY, 9th baron.

MONTAGU, 8th Earl of Abingdon, whose descent we now proceed to set forth.

Earldom of Abingdon and Barony of Norreys.

Lineage—The family of NORREYS was settled at Sutton, in Lancashire, long before the time of HENRY III.

WILLIAM NORREYS, of Sutton, Lancashire, was son of THOMAS NORREYS, of Sutton, son of HENRY NORREYS, of Sutton, son of of ALANE NORREYS, of Sutton, son of SIR HENRY NORREYS, of Sutton, son of ALANE NORREYS, of Sutton, and grandson of ALANE NORREYS of Sutton. He acquired the lordship of Speke, Lancashire, by marriage with Joan, dau. of Sir John Molyneux of Sefton, and had issue, a son,

SIR HENRY NORREYS, of Speke and Sutton, Lancashire, who left issue a son and heir,

SIR JOHN NORREYS, Kt., of Speke, m. Katherine, dau. of Robert Balderstone; and had issue, a son,

SIR HENRY NORREYS, Kt., of Speke, living 1421, was a juror 9 March, 1429, m. Alice, dau. and heir of Roger de Ernys, of Chester, by Joane, his wife, dau. and heir of Sir William Molyneux, of Crosby, and acquired by this match a further moiety of the lordship of Speke. He had issue, 1. William, of Speke, ancestor of NORREYS of Speke; and 2. JOHN, of Bray, Berks. The younger son,

JOHN NORREYS, of Bray, Berks, living 1456, m. Millicent, dau. and heir of Ravenscroft, of Cotton End, Northants, and had issue, a younger son,

ROGER NORREYS, of Bray, who left issue, a son and heir,

WILLIAM NORREYS, of Bray, m. 1stly Christian, dau. and heir of William Sereth, of Ruscombe, Berks, and by her had issue, JOHN (Sir), his heir. He m. 2ndly, Anne de la Rivers, and by her had issue. The eldest son,

SIR JOHN NORREYS, Knight Banneret. of Bray and Patenden, Berks, was first Usher of the Chamber, next, Esquire of the Body, and afterwards Master of the Wardrobe to HENRY VI. He was subsequently sheriff of cos. Devon and Berks, and in the next reign (EDWARD IV.) he was continued in the post of esquire of the body to the King. He m. 1stly, Alice, dau. and heir of Richard Merbrooke, lord of Yattenden, and by her had issue, a son, WILLIAM (Sir), his heir. He m. 2ndly, Eleanor, dau. and heir of Roger Clitherow of Colderstone, Kent, and by her had issue. He m. 3rdly, Margaret, dau. of Sir John Chedworth and widow of Nicholas Wyfold, Lord Mayor of London, and by her who m. 3rdly, John Howard, 1st Duke of Norfolk, had issue. Sir John d. 1466. He was s. by his son and heir,

SIR WILLIAM NORREYS, of Yattenden, one of the knights of the body to King EDWARD IV. In the 2nd HENRY VII., he had a command in the Royal Army at the battle of Stoke; and in the 19th of the same reign he obtained a grant from the King of the custody of the manor of Langley, which manor was then in the crown by reason of the minority of EDWARD, son and heir of Isabel, late wife of George, Duke of Clarence, and he had the stewardship of several other manors in the co. of Oxford, part of the property of the said EDWARD, and situated similarly during his minority. Sir William m. 1stly, Isabel, dau. and heir of Sir Edmund Ingoldsthorpe, and widow of Sir John Nevill, Marquess of Montagu. She d. before 1513–4. He m. 2ndly, Lady Jane de Vere, dau. of John de Vere, Earl of Oxford, and by her had issue, with three daus.,

1. EDWARD (Sir), his heir.

He m. 3rdly, Anne, dau. of Sir John Horne, of Sarsden; and widow of Sir John Harcourt, and by her had further issue.

His son and heir,

SIR EDWARD NORREYS, Kt., of Yattenden, m. Fridiswide, sister and co-heir of Francis Lovel, Viscount Lovel, K.G., by whom he had two sons, of whom the younger,

SIR HENRY NORREYS, or NORRIS, who s. eventually to the estates and representation of the family, was made Usher of the Black Rod, in the 18th HENRY VIII. He was also Esquire of the Body to the King, and one of the gentlemen of his privy chamber; but being afterwards involved in the fall of Anne Boleyn, he was committed to the Tower as one of her paramours. It is said, however, that the King felt some compunction in putting him to death, and offered him a pardon conditionally that he would confess his guilt; but Norreys resolutely replied, "that in his conscience, he thought the Queen guiltless of the objected crime, but whether she were or not, he could not accuse her of anything; and that he had rather undergo a thousand deaths than betray the innocent." Upon the report of which declaration, the King cried out, "Hang him up, hang him up." He suffered death accordingly, 14 May, 1536, and was attainted in parliament the same year. He had m. Mary, dau. of Thomas Flennes Lord Dacre of the South, and left with a dau., a son,

SIR HENRY NORRIS, Kt., 1st Baron Norris of Rycote, co. Oxford, was accredited ambassador to the court of France in the 14th of ELIZABETH, and having fulfilled the duties of his mission to the entire satisfaction of his royal mistress, was summoned to parliament as 'Henricus Norris de Rycote, Chl'r', from 8 May, 1572, to 24 Oct. 1597. His lordship m. Margery, dau. and co-heir of John, Lord Williams of Thame, and thus acquired the manor of Rycote, in Oxfordshire, where he was buried. A beautiful monument was erected to his memory in Westminster Abbey, his sons kneeling round him. He had, with other issue,

1. William, marshal of Berwick, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Richard Morrison, Kt., and d.v.p. 25 Dec. 1582, leaving an only child,

3 † Henry Dyke, b. 22 May, 1943.
4. William Dyke, b. 17 Jan. 1945; d. 22 Jan. 1945.

Lineage—The family of Acland as recorded in the Visitation of Devon A.D. 1620, commences with BALDWIN ECCELIN, whose son BALDWIN ACALEN, of Acalen, in the parish of Land Key, Devon, was living temp. HENRY III, but the antiquity of the family is also shown by a deed in Pole's MS. Deeds and Charters, in which mention is made of HUGH DE ACALEN, temp. HENRY II. The Visitation pedigree carries down the family link by link to HUGH ACLAND, of Acland, living at the time the Visitation was made. He was eldest son of JOHN AKELAND, of Akeland, by Margaret, his wife, dau. and co-heiress of Hugh Radcliffe, of Stepney, and elder brother of Sir John Acland, Kt. of Columb-John, High Sheriff of Devon in 1608. The aforesaid

HUGH ACLAND, of Acland, living in 1620, m. 1585, Margaret, dau. of Thomas Monke, of Potheridge (aunt to General Monk), and had, with other issue, a son and heir,

SIR ARTHUR ACLAND, of Acland and Columb-John, knighted 1606. He m. Eleanor, dau. and heiress of Robert Malet, of Wooleigh, co. Devon, and by her had with other issue, 1. JOHN (Sir), his heir; Sir Arthur d. 26 Dec. 1610, and was s. by his son,

(Sir) John Acland, on whom a baronetcy was conferred 24 June, 1644; but the letters-patent not being enrolled or having been destroyed during the civil wars, new ones were granted to his son, Hugh, 21 Jan. 1677–8, with precedence from the earlier date. He was distinguished by his zealous devotion to the cause of loyalty; and at one time the garrison of Columb-John was the only armed force (according to Lord Clarendon) which CHARLES I had in the whole county of Devon. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Francis Vincent, 1st Bt., and by her (admon. 25 Feb. 1650–1) he had (with two daus., Eleanor, the wife of Sir John Davie, Bt., and Susanna, who m. 1stly, Edward Halsall, and 2ndly, John Carleton) three sons, who in turn inherited the baronetcy. He m. 2ndly, 26 April, 1933, •Helen Ethel, M.B.E., widow of Richard John Cuninghame, M.C., of Hensol, Stewartry of Kirkcudbright, and dau. of late James McDouall, J.P., D.L., of Logan (see BURKE'S L.G.).

Lineage—The family of KENNEDY is traditionally descended from the ancient Earls of Carrick. The first of the family mentioned in any charter, Nisbet informs us, is DUNCAN DE CARRICK, afterwards 1st Earl of Carrick, and from the document it appears that he lived in the reign of MALCOLM IV, which began about 1150. The grandson of Duncan, ROLAND of Carrick, obtained from his uncle Neil, 2nd Earl of Carrick (who d.s.p.m. 1256), a charter granting to him and his heirs the headship of the whole clan with the office of bailiary of the country of Carrick. The direct ancestor,

JOHN KENNEDY, of Dunure, a very prominent personage in the reigns of DAVID II and ROBERT II, had a confirmatory charter from DAVID II of the one mentioned above. He had a charter also of the lands of CASTLYS, co. Ayr, from Marjorie de Montgomerie, and also among other lands in Ayrshire the lands of Stair, Kilmore, from another Marjorie de Montgomerie, a cousin of the former. He acquired the barony of Dalrymple 1370 and 1376, and had a charter of his lands 1357–8, and again in 1381. He d. soon after 1385. He was s. by his eldest son,

SIR GILBERT KENNEDY, one of the hostages delivered to the English, in 1357, for the liberation of DAVID II. He m. Agnes, dau. of Sir John Maxwell of Pollok, and had issue. Sir Gilbert d. after 8 Nov. 1408. His eldest son,

JAMES KENNEDY, younger, of Dunure, m. 1405, Mary, dau. of King ROBERT III, and widow of George, 1st Earl of Angus (see HAMILTON, D.), and d.v.p., before 8 Nov. 1408, by her, who m. 3rdly, 13 Nov. 1413, Sir William Graham (see MONTROSE, D.), and 4thly, 1425, Sir William Edmonstone of Dunteath, had issue,

1. John (Sir), long a prisoner in Stirling Castle, living 1434;
2. GILBERT, 1st Lord, heir to his grandfather; and
3. James, Bishop of Dunkeld, and afterwards of St. Andrews, and Chancellor of Scotland, one of the greatest of Scottish statesmen and prelates, founder of St. Andrews University; d. July, 1465.

The 2nd and eldest surviving son,

GILBERT KENNEDY, of Dunure, 1st Lord Kennedy, s. his grandfather, was made a Lord of Parliament, between 27 May, 1457, and 20 March, 1457–8; and in 1466 was appointed one of the six regents of the kingdom during the minority of JAMES III. His lordship m. 1stly, Catherine, dau. of Herbert, 1st Lord Maxwell, by whom he had issue. He m. 2ndly, Isabel, dau. of Walter Ogilvie, of Lintrathen, and widow of Patrick, Lord Glamis. She d. 1484. He d. after 6 March, 1478–9. His eldest son,

JOHN, 2nd Lord Kennedy, m. 1stly, before 1459, Elizabeth, dau. of Alexander, 1st Lord Montgomery, by whom he had issue. His lordship m. 2ndly, before 1471, Elizabeth, dau. of George, Earl of Huntly, and widow of Nicholas, 2nd Earl of Erroll, and by her (who d. 17 April, 1500) had further issue. He d. before 23 May, 1509. His eldest son,

DAVID, 3rd Lord Kennedy and 1st Earl of Cassillis, being of the Privy Council of JAMES IV, was created by that monarch, 24 Oct. 1509, EARL OF CASSILLIS. His lordship m. 1stly, Agnes, dau. of William, Lord Borthwick, by whom he had issue. He m. 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of Thomas Boyd, Earl of Arran, and widow of Alexander, 4th Lord Forbes. She d.s.p. The earl fell at the battle of Flodden, 9 Sept. 1513, and was s. by his son,

GILBERT, 2nd Earl of Cassillis, m. Isabel, dau. of Archibald, 2nd Earl of Argyll, and had issue. He was slain, Aug. 1527. His son,

GILBERT, 3rd Earl of Cassillis, was Lord Treasurer of Scotland 1554–8, and assisted, as a deputed Scottish peer, in 1558, at the marriage of Mary Stuart with Francis, dauphin of France. Scottish opposition to the views of the French court when the crown matrimonial was demanded gave great offence, and occasioned a report that poison was administered to the deputies, of whom Lord Fleming d. at Paris, and the Earls of Cassillis and Rothes, and Bishop Reid, president of the Court of Session, at Dieppe, all three in one night, 28 Nov. 1558. His lordship m. Margaret, dau. of Alexander Kennedy, of Bargany, and widow of William Wallace, of Craigie, and had, with other issue,

1. GILBERT, 4th Earl.
2. Thomas (Sir), of Culzean, who received the honour of knighthood 17 May, 1590. He m. before 28 April, 1579, Elizabeth, dau. of David Makgill, of Cranston-riddel. Sir Thomas was murdered 11 May, 1602, having by her, who m. 2ndly (contract 4 April, 1605) William Mewe, of Rowallan, and d. Jan. 1622, had with other issue,
   1. Alexander (Sir), of Culzean, knighted 12 July, 1632, m. Agnes, dau. of Thomas Kennedy, of Ardmillan, and d. Sept. 1652, leaving with other issue,
      (1) John, of Culzean, J.P. co. Ayr, served heir 8 Feb. 1656, m. 1stly (contract 22 Feb. 1645), Ann, dau. of John Blair, of Blair. She d.s.p.. He m. 2ndly, 1653, Margaret, eldest dau. of John, 1st Lord Bargany. He d. 1665, having by her (who m. 2ndly, 1667, Sir David Ogilvy, of Clova) had, with other issue,
         1*a*. Archibald (Sir), 1st Bt. of Culzean, created a baronet of Nova Scotia, 8 Dec. 1682, with remainder to the heirs male of his body; m. Elizabeth Leslie, dau. of David, 1st Lord Newark, and d. before 12 March, 1711, having had with other issue,
            1*b*. John (Sir), 2nd Bt., m. (contract 15 March, 1705) Jean, dau. of Capt. Andrew Douglas, of Mains, and d. before 28 Jan. 1743, having had, with other issue,
               1*c*. John (Sir), 3rd Bt., d. unm. 10 April, 1744.
               2*c*. THOMAS (Sir), 4th Bt., and 9th EARL OF CASSILLIS.
               3*c*. DAVID, 10th EARL OF CASSILLIS.
      (2) Alexander, of Craigoch and Kilhenzie, J.P. co. Ayr, who, by his first wife, had a dau. who m. David Kennedy, of Drumellan, and had issue. He m. 2ndly (contract 14 Dec. 1683), Anna, dau. of William Crawford, of Auchenames, and d. about 1698, having by her had, with other issue,
         1*a*. Archibald, Receiver-Gen. and Collector of Customs of New York, m. 1stly, the dau. of — Massam, and 2ndly, Dec. 1736, Maria Walter, widow of Arent Schuyler, and d. 14 June, 1763, aged 78, having by his first wife had, with other issue,
            ARCHIBALD, 11th EARL OF CASSILLIS.

Gilbert, 3rd Earl, was s. by his elder son,

GILBERT, 4th Earl of Cassillis, who m (contract 30 Sept. 1566), Margaret, dau. of John, 7th Lord Glamis, afterwards wife of John, 1st Marquess of Hamilton, and had issue,

1. JOHN, 5th Earl.
2. Hew, called Master of Cassillis, m. (contract 2 Sept. 1600) Katherine, dau. of Uchtred McDowall, of Garthland, and d. before 25 March, 1607, having by her (who m. 2ndly, Sir James Stewart, Lord Ochiltree) had issue,
   1. JOHN, 6th Earl. 2. Gilbert, living 1617 and 1632.
   1. Jean, m. William Stewart, of Carragar, co. Tyrone, who d. after 9 April, 1665.

The Earl d. 12 Dec. 1576, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 5th Earl of Cassillis, Lord Treasurer of Scotland in 1599, b. about 1574; m. (contract 4 Nov. 1597) Jean, dau. and heir of 4th Lord Fleming, and widow of John, 1st Lord Maitland, Chancellor of Scotland. She d. 23 June, 1609. He d.s.p. before 14 Nov. 1615, and was s. by his nephew,

JOHN, 6th Earl of Cassillis, Lord Justice General of Scotland 1649–51, and one of Cromwell's House of Lords, m. 1stly (contract Jan 1621–2) Lady Jean Hamilton, dau. of Thomas, 1st Earl of Haddington, and by her, who d. 15 Dec. 1642, had issue. His lordship m. 2ndly, 15 March, 1644, Margaret, dau. of William, Earl of Erroll, and widow of Henry, Lord Ker, son of 1st Earl of Roxburghe, and by her (who was bur. 22 April, 1695) had, with two daus., Elizabeth and Mary, a son,

JOHN, 7th Earl.

He d. April, 1668, and was s. by his only surv. son,

JOHN, 7th Earl of Cassillis, m. 1stly (contract 26 Dec. 1668), Lady Susan Hamilton, dau. of James, 1st Duke of Hamilton, and by her had, with other issue,

Lineage—The family of Ogilvy derives its pedigree from the Mormaers of Angus, one of the seven great hereditary chiefs of Scotland, who in the 11th century exchanged that designation for the title of Earl.

GILBRIDE, EARL OF ANGUS, in the time of David I, had with other issue three sons, Angus, his successor in that Earldom; Magnus, who through his mother s. to the Earldom of Caithness and Gilbert. The 3rd son,

GILBERT, assumed the surname of Ogilvy from lands so called in his possession, of which, with Powrie and Kyneithein in Angus, he had a charter in 1172. From him descended

SIR PATRICK OGILVY, of Wester Powrie, who had from ROBERT I a charter of Kettins in Forfarshire. He was s. by his son,

PATRICK OGILVY, of Wester Powrie, who obtained from his nephew, Sir Patrick Ogilvy of Ogilvy, the lands of Wester Powrie. By marriage with Marjory, dau. and eventually heiress of Robert Ramsay, of Auchterhouse, he had a son,

WALTER OGILVY, of Wester Powrie and Auchterhouse, Hereditary Sheriff of Forfar, to which estate and office he succeeded on the death of his uncle, Sir Malcolm Ramsay, circa 1365. He had two sons, Alexander, who d. unm., and Walter. The 2nd son,

SIR WALTER OGILVY, of Auchterhouse, Sheriff of Forfar, was a man of great worth and merit, and lost his life in the following manner:—Duncan Stewart, natural son of Alexander, Earl of Buchan, having entered the shire of Angus, at the head of a lawless gang of robbers, in order to plunder the country, the Sheriff, accompanied by his uterine brother, Walter Lighton, ancestor of that family, and a numerous posse of country people, overtook the robbers at Glenbrerith, in Angus, where, after a smart skirmish, Sir Walter with his brother, and about sixty of his followers, were killed on the spot, 1391. He m. Isabel, dau. and heir of Sir Malcolm Ramsay. He left (with a dau., Marjory, m. David, 3rd Earl of Crawford) three sons,

1. Alexander (Sir), of Auchterhouse, Sheriff of Angus 1403–23, who had issue,
   1. Sir Patrick, of Auchterhouse, Sheriff of Angus and Justiciary, father of Alexander, of Auchterhouse, whose dau. and heir Margaret, m. James Stewart, Earl of Buchan, brother uterine of JAMES II.
   2. Sir Andrew, of Inchmartine, ancestor in the male line of the 2nd and subsequent Earls of Findlater, and of the 1st Earl of Seafield (see SEAFIELD, E.).
2. WALTER (Sir), of Lintrathen, of whom below.
3. John, of Inverquharity, of whom OGILVY, of Inverquharity, Bt., q.v.

The 2nd son,

SIR WALTER OGILVY, of Lintrathen, was High Treasurer of Scotland under JAMES I. His first wife, by whom he acquired Lintrathen in Forfarshire, is said to have been an heiress of the Durward family. He afterwards m. Isabel, dau. of Sir John Glen of Balmuto. By the first marriage he had issue, 1. JOHN (Sir), his heir, and 2. James; and by the second, 3. Walter, ancestor of the Ogilvys, of Deskford (see SHAFIELD, E.), 4. David, 5. Alexander, 6. Patrick, and 7. George. He d. 1440. His eldest son,

SIR JOHN OGILVY, of Lintrathen, had a charter of the lands and castle of Eroly (Airlie) in 1459, and had his lands erected into the Barony of Lintrathen in 1483. He m. Marian, dau. of Sir William Seton, of Seton; and 2ndly, before 1447, Margaret, widow of James Dunbar, Earl of Moray. His son,

SIR JAMES OGILVY, of Airlie, 1st Lord Ogilvy, was on 28 April, 1491, made a Lord of Parliament, as Lord Ogilvy of Airlie. He was the same year Ambassador to Denmark. He m. 1stly, Elizabeth Kennedy, by whom he had with other issue an eldest son, JOHN, 2nd Lord. He m. 2ndly, before May, 1478, Helen, widow of William, 2nd Lord Graham (see MONTROSE, D.) and dau. of William, 2nd Earl of Angus (see HAMILTON, D.), and 3rdly, Jonet Lyle, who d. about 1525, leaving two daus. He d. before 25 Sept. 1504, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 2nd Lord Ogilvy, OF AIRLIE, knighted about 1495, sat in Parliament Feb. 1505–6; m. 1stly, before 14 Oct. 1472, Mariot; 2ndly, Jean, eldest dau. of William, 2nd Lord Graham of Kincardine, and had issue. He was s. by his elder son,

JAMES, 3rd Lord Ogilvy, of Airlie, who m. Margaret, dau. of David, 8th Earl of Crawford, and was s. by his son,

JAMES, 4th Lord Ogilvy, of Airlie, one of the Extraordinary Lords of Session, 1542, who m. Helen, dau. of Henry, 1st Lord Sinclair, and had, with other issue,

1. JAMES, Master of Ogilvy, who fell at Pinkie, 10 Sept. 1547, leaving by his wife Katharine, dau. of Sir John Campbell, of Calder (afterwards Countess of Crawford), with other issue,

JOHN, 5th Lord.

He d. before 1549, and was s. by his grandson,

JAMES, 5th Lord Ogilvy, m. Jean, eldest dau. of William, 7th Lord Forbes, and d. 1606, when he was s. by his eldest son,

JAMES, 6th Lord Ogilvy, m. 1stly, Jean, 4th dau. of William, 1st Earl of Gowrie; and 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Archibald Napier, of Merchistoun. She m. 2ndly, Alexander Auchmoutie. He d. 1606, and was s. by his son (by his first wife),

JAMES, 7TH LORD OGILVY and 1st Earl of Airlie, who was created EARL OF AIRLIE and LORD OGILVY, of Alyth and Lintrathen, 2 April, 1639, with remainder "haeredibus masculis sibi in patrimonio et statu succedentibus." An adherent of Charles I, he earned distinction at the battle of Kilsyth, 1645. He m. about 1614, Isabel, 2nd dau. of Thomas, 1st Earl of Haddington, and had issue,

1. JAMES, 2nd Earl.

2. Thomas (Sir), who raised a regiment for the service of CHARLES I, and fell at Montrose's victory of Inverlochy, 2 Feb. 1645. Sir Thomas left by his wife, Lady Patricia Ruthven, dau. of Patrick, Earl of Forth and Brentford, two daus., Christian, m. Sir James Ramsay, of Banff, Bt., and the younger to Fletcher of Ballinshoe.

3. David (Sir), of Clova, a staunch Royalist.

1. Helen, m. Sir John Carnegy, of Balnamoon.

2. Margaret, m. Patrick Urquhart, of Meldrum.

He d. about 1648, and was s. by his eldest son,

JAMES, 2nd Earl of Airlie. Taken prisoner at Philliphaugh, he was sentenced to death, but escaped the very night before his intended execution, in the attire of his sister. His lordship m. 1stly Helen, dau. of George Ogilvy, 1st Lord Banff, by whom he had with four daus.,

DAVID, 3rd Earl.

He m. 2ndly, Mary, widow of Lewis, 3rd Marquis of Huntly and dau. of Sir John Grant, of Frenchie, but had no other issue. The Earl d. about 1704, and was s. by his only son,

DAVID, 3rd Earl of Airlie, m. Grizel, eldest dau. of Patrick, 1st Earl of Strathmore, by whom he had (with one dau., Helen) two sons, viz.,

1. JAMES, Lord Ogilvy, who, joining in the Earl of Mar's rising, anno 1715, was attainted by Act of Parliament in his father's lifetime, but obtained a pardon from the Crown in 1725, and returned home. He m. 6 Dec. 1730, Anne, dau. of David Erskine of Dun, a Lord of Session (who was afterwards wife of Sir Alexander Macdonald, of Macdonald, Bt., and d. 27 Nov. 1735). He d.s.p. 12 Jan. 1730–1.

2. JOHN, 4th Earl.

His lordship d. in 1717, and in 1731, on the death, as above, of his attainted elder son, the younger son,

JOHN, 4th Earl of Airlie, b. 1669, assumed the honours, and was called 4th Earl. He m. 1722, Margaret (who d. 1767), eldest dau. and co-heir of David Ogilvy, of Cluny, and d. 24 July, 1761, leaving with other issue,

1. David, Lord Ogilvy, who joined the Chevalier at Edinburgh, 1745, bringing with him a regiment of 600, men chiefly of his own name and family, for which he was attainted by Act of Parliament. After the battle of Culloden he effected his escape into France, and there getting the command of a regiment, called "Ogilvy's," rose to the rank of Lt.-Gen. In 1778 he obtained a pardon from the Crown, and in 1783 a Parliamentary removal of disabilities (not restoring his honours). He m. 1stly, Margaret, dau. of Sir James Johnstone, of Westerhall, Bt., M.P. (that lady, imprisoned after Culloden, made her escape to France, where she d. 1757), by whom he had, with other issue,

1. DAVID, titular EARL OF AIRLIE, b. 4 Dec. 1751, who survived his father and d. unm. 6 April, 1812.

He m. 2ndly, 1770, Anne, dau. of James Stewart, of Blairhall, who d. 27 Dec. 1798, s.p. He d. 3 March, 1803.

2. WALTER, of whom presently.

The younger son,

WALTER OGILVY, generally regarded as 5th Earl of Airlie, claimed the honours as unaffected by the forfeitures of his brother and uncle, but the English Judges, when consulted by the House of Lords, were of opinion that these attainders operated against him. He m. 1stly, Margaret, dau. of William Fullarton, of Spynie but by her, who d. 3 June, 1780, had no issue; and 2ndly, 12 Nov. 1780, Jane, dau. of John Ogilvy, of Murkle (male heir of Walter, of Balfour, son to James, 1st Lord Ogilvy of Airlie), by whom (who d. 11 June, 1818) he had, with other issue,

1. John, Capt. Royal Scots Regt., d. at Berbice, 1809.

2. DAVID, 6th Earl.

ALEXANDER OF BALLOCHMYLE.

Sir Claud Alexander, 3rd Bt., b. 6 Jan. 1927; s. his grandfather 1945.

Lineage—The rental book of the Monastery of Paisley, A.D. 1472, gives the name of JOHN ALEXANDER as one of the tenants of the abbot.

In 1522 the rental states that the lands of Candren were assessed to JOHN, "the son of JOHN ALEXANDER," and in 1552 they were held by him conjointly with his sons, John and Robert. (Members of the family continued on the same land for the next 200 years; JAMES ALEXANDER in 1682, and CLAUD ALEXANDER in 1733, were designed "of Candren.") The 2nd son,

ROBERT ALEXANDER, with his wife, Janet Matthie, bought, 1579, the property of the Paisley Tak. He had a son,

JOHN ALEXANDER, who m. 1598, Elizabeth Carswell, and had with other issue an elder son,

ROBERT ALEXANDER, of Blackhouse and Boghall, co. Ayr, and Newton, co. Renfrew, b. 1604; was several times Baillie of Paisley. On the 12th of April, 1649, he was summoned to appear before the General Assembly of the Kirk as a malignant, being one of those who had advised moderation towards CHARLES I. Gen. Charles Havelock m. 14 May, 1833, Mary, 2nd dau. of James Wemyss, of the Bengal Civil Service, and by her (who d. 29 July, 1889) had issue.

The 2nd son,

SIR HENRY HAVELOCK, K.C.B., b. at Bishopwearmouth, co. Durham, 5 April, 1795, was one of the most eminent soldiers of his time; educ. at Charterhouse, and was originally a student of Middle Temple. He received a commission in the Rifle Brigade in 1815, and went first to India in 1823, where he took an active part in the first Burmese war. As Capt. in 1838, he was at the storming of Ghuznee, and the occupation of Kabul: also at the forcing of the Kabul Pass and the Battle of Tezeen; he commanded the right column in the sortie from Jellalabad and final victorious attack on Akbar, 7 April, 1842, for which he was promoted Major and made a C.B. Following further promotion to Lt.-Col. in 1844, he went through the Sikh war, being present at the victories of Moodkee, Ferozeshah, and Sobraon. In the Persian war he commanded the 2nd Div. at the Battle of Mohammerah. On return to Calcutta, he was sent as Brigadier-Gen. to relieve Cawnpore and succour Lucknow, then sorely pressed by the mutinous Sepoys, and commenced, on 7 July, 1857, that memorable march, unparalleled in history, where, with only 1,400 British bayonets and eight guns, united to a small native force, and opposed to a countless mass of the enemy when the slightest reverse would have been fatal, he proceeded victoriously through a country deluged with rain, from 7 July to 16 Sept., hurling back the foe in twelve severe engagements. Joined, on 16 Sept., by Sir James Outram and a few more troops, he stormed Lucknow, and effected his junction with and relief of its garrison. Then pent up in the Residency and its precincts at Lucknow, he and his band, with Spartan courage and more than Spartan success, held out for two months against all the efforts of the enemy until, by the advance of Gen. Sir Colin Campbell (afterwards first Lord Clive), 17 Nov. 1857, victorious rescue was achieved. For these great services, as the news of them reached home, Havelock was made a Major-Gen. 29 Sept. 1857; a K.C.B. 17 Nov. 1857; and letters patent were directed, 26 Nov. 1857, to create him a baronet. The Government also was about to grant an annuity of £1,000 for the lives of himself and his son, but the illustrious soldier did not live to obtain the baronetcy or pension. He was attacked with dysentery, brought on by the intense anxiety and fatigue he had undergone, and d. at the Dilkoosha, near Lucknow, 24 Nov. 1857, and was interred the next day in the Alum-bagh. Sir Henry Havelock was the author of a History of the Burmese War, and of the War in Afghanistan. He m. 9 Feb. 1829, Hannah Shepherd, dau. of the Rev. Joshua Marshman, D.D., of Serampore, and by her had issue (in special remainder to the baronetcy) with four daus.,

Lineage (OF WILLOUGHBY)—The Lordship of Eresby, co. Lincoln, was acquired by the family of BEC or BEKE by the marriage of WALTER DE BEC with Agnes, dau. and heir of Hugh Fitz Pincheon, living 1167, son of Pinco, Lord of Tatshull, co. Lincoln. Their son, HENRY DE BEC or BEKE, of Eresby, m. Hawse or Alice, sister of Thomas de Muleton, and had a son,

WALTER BEKE, of Eresby, m. 1222, Eva, niece of Walter de Grey, Archbishop of York, and had issue, with two daus.,

1. JOHN, his heir.
2. Anthony, the celebrated Bishop of Durham, and patriarch of Jerusalem, d. 2 March, 1310–11.
3. Thomas, Bishop of St. David's, d. 20 April, 1293.

The eldest son and heir,

JOHN BEKE, LORD BEKE of Eresby, had licence of KING EDWARD I, in the 4th year of that monarch's reign, to make a castle of his manor house at Eresby, and was summoned to Parliament amongst the Barons of the Realm, in the 23rd and 24th of the same reign; dying seven years afterwards, his lordship left issue by his wife, Sarah, dau. of Thomas, Lord Furnival,

1. WALTER, his son and heir, Lord of Eresby, who survived his father but a few years, and d. issueless, when the barony of Bec of Eresby fell into abeyance, as it still continues.
1. ALICE.
2. Margaret, m. Richard de Harcourt.
3. Mary, d. unm.

The eldest dau.,

ALICE BEKE, one of the co-heiresses of her brother, m. SIR WILLIAM DE WILLOUGHBY, Knt., great-grandson of Ralph de Willoughby, Lord of the Manor of Willoughby, in the co. Lincoln. He d. in 1306, and was s. by his eldest son,

ROBERT WILLOUGHBY, 1st Lord Willoughby de Eresby, who, upon the decease of Anthony Beke, Bishop of Durham, s. as next heir to that prelate. This Robert Willoughby, being actively engaged in the French and Scottish wars of KING EDWARD I, was summoned to Parliament among the Barons of the Realm, 7 EDWARD II. (26 July, 1313), as LORD WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY, and dying three years afterwards, was s. by his son (by Margaret, dau. of Edmund, Lord Deincourt),

JOHN WILLOUGHBY, 2nd Lord Willoughby de Eresby, then a minor, who was committed to the wardship of William, Lord Zouch, of Harringworth, for which that nobleman paid a thousand marks to the King. In 20 EDWARD II, this John Willoughby received the honour of knighthood, and in I EDWARD III was summoned to Parliament from 27 Jan 1332, to 10 March, 1349. His lordship distinguished himself in the Scottish wars. He was a commander at the battle of Crécy. He m. Joan, dau. and heiress of Sir Thomas Rosceline, Knt., and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 3rd Lord Willoughby de Eresby, who was engaged in the wars of Gascony, 29 EDWARD III, and in the next year participated in the glory of Poictiers. His lordship m. Cicely, dau. of Robert de Ufford, Earl of Suffolk, and dying 46 EDWARD III., was s. by his son,

ROBERT, 4th Baron Willoughby de Eresby, who inherited (as nephew and one of the co-heirs of William de Ufford, Earl of Suffolk, upon the decease of that nobleman, 5 RICHARD II), and four years afterwards accompanied John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, into Spain, for the recovery of the inheritance of Constance, his duchess, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Peter, King of Castile. Lord Willoughby m. 1stly, Alice, elder dau. of Sir William Skipwith, Knt., Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, temp. EDWARD III, by whom he had,

1. WILLIAM, 5th Baron.
2. Robert.
3. Thomas, ancestor of the Lords Willoughby de Broke.
4. John, ancestor of the Willoughbys, baronets, of Baldon House, Oxon (now extinct).
5. Bryan.

His lordship m. 2ndly, Margery, dau. of William, Lord Zouch, of Harringworth, but had no issue; and 3rdly, Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of William, Lord Latimer, and widow of John Nevil, Lord Raby, but it does not appear that he had any other issue. He d. 13 RICHARD II., and was s. by his eldest son,

WILLIAM, 5th Baron Willoughby de Eresby, was one of the peers in the Parliament of 22 RICHARD II., when that monarch made a formal resignation of his royal dignity. His lordship m. 1stly Lucy, dau. of Roger, Lord Strange of Knockyn, by whom he had (with four daus.),

1. ROBERT, 6th Baron.
2. Thomas (Sir), knightbanneret, a celebrated warrior, who received the honour of knighthood for his valour in the field. He m. Joan, dau. and co-heir of Sir Richard Arundell, Knt., and was s. by his elder son,

ROBERT (Sir), found to be next heir to his uncle, Robert, Lord Willoughby, 30 HENRY VI. He m. Cicely, 2nd dau. of Leo, Lord Welles, and d. 5 EDWARD IV., leaving issue,

(1) Robert (Sir), d. 7 EDWARD IV.

(2) Christopher (Sir), K.B., m. Margaret, dau. of Sir William Jenney, of Knottshall, Suffolk, and d. about 1498 (will dated 1 Nov. 1498, proved 13 July, 1499), leaving issue,

1. WILLIAM, 10th LORD WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY, s. his kinsman 1503 (see below).
2. Christopher, from whom the Lords Willoughby of Parham derived (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage).
3. George, whose line is extinct.
4. Thomas, ancestor of Lord Middleton (see that title).

Lord Willoughby m. 2ndly, Joan, dau. of Thomas Holland, Earl of Kent (by Joan, surnamed the Fair Maid of Kent, only dau. of Edmund of Woodstock, Earl of Kent, son of KING EDWARD II) and widow of Edmund of Langley, Duke of York, son of KING EDWARD III. (Her ladyship, after Lord Willoughby's decease, m. a 3rd husband, Henry, Lord Scrope; and a 4th, Henry Bromflete, Lord Vesey.) Lord Willoughby de Eresby d. in the 11th of HENRY IV., and was s. by his elder son,

ROBERT, 6th Baron Willoughby de Eresby, took a distinguished part in the French wars of HENRY V., and participated in the triumph of Agincourt. He was subsequently at the storming of the castle of Caen, and at the protracted siege of Rouen. In the reign of HENRY VI. he shared the laurels of Vernoil, and with Sir John Fastolf soon afterwards gallantly defeated a projected surprise of Charles de Villiers. For all this eminent service his lordship was created Lord Willoughby of Momblay and Beaumesguil and Earl of Vendosme and Beaumont, and installed a Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter. His lordship m. 1stly, Elizabeth, yst dau. of John Montacute, Earl of Salisbury, by whom he had an only dau., JOAN. He m. 2ndly, Maud, dau. of Sir Richard Stanhope, Knt., and cousin and co-heiress of Ralph, Lord Cromwell of Tatshall, but had no other issue. His lordship dying in the 30th of HENRY VI., the honours acquired by himself expired, while the barony devolved upon his only dau. and heiress,

JOAN WILLOUGHBY, Baroness Willoughby de Eresby, m. Sir RICHARD WELLES, Knt., who bore (in her right) the title of Lord WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY, and was summoned to Parliament as 7th Baron, in 1455. His lordship was son of Leo, 6th Baron Welles, who fell in one of the conflicts between the houses of York and Lancaster, and was attained in 1461. Lord Willoughby obtained a full restoration, however, in blood and honours in 1468; but fell a victim to the fortunes of war between the Red and White Roses, and was beheaded in 1469, when he was s. by his only son,

ROBERT, 8TH LORD WELLES and 8th Baron Willoughby de Eresby, who coming into immediate conflict with the Yorkists, under KING EDWARD IV., at Stamford, and suffering a signal defeat, was taken prisoner and beheaded (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage). The baronies then devolving upon the last lord's only sister and heiress,

JOANE WELLES, Baroness Willoughby de Eresby, m. RICHARD HASTINGS, BARON WELLES, who d.s.p. 1503. She d. 1506, the ancient barony of Willoughby reverting to her kinsman (see Sir Thomas Willoughby, ygr. son of WILLIAM, 5th Baron), Lineage—This great family has ranked among the Barons of Scotland during upwards of seven centuries. In the year 1100 William de Candela was Lord of Anstruther. As, at that early period, it was customary for nobles to adopt their surnames from their lands, it was rare to find a Scottish baron who possessed a family name besides his territorial designation. One of the few who had this distinction was William, Lord of Anstruther. He had already a noble name, and in 1100 he was one of the most considerable of the barons in Fife. Thus, the nobility of this family is ascertained during the last eight centuries.

WILLIAM DE CANDELA, Lord of Anstruther, lived through the reign of King DAVID I., and did not die until the commencement of that of MALCOLM IV., who ascended the Scottish throne in 1153. William's son,

WILLIAM DE CANDELA, Lord of Anstruther, was a pious benefactor to the Abbey of Balmerino, and d. in the reign of King WILLIAM THE LION, which commenced in 1165. His son,

HENRY, in compliance with the usage of Scotland, assumed the name of his lands as his surname, and disused that of De Candela. He is styled Henricus de Anstruther Dominus de Anstruther in a charter wherein he confirms his father's pious donations to the Abbey of Balmerino in 1221, in the reign of King ALEXANDER II. He was a benefactor to the monastery of Dryburgh. His son,

HENRY DE ANSTRUTHER, Lord of Anstruther, was also a pious benefactor to the religious houses of Balmerino and Dryburgh in charters granted during the reign of King ALEXANDER II. He was a crusader, and accompanied St. Louis to the East. In his old age he was compelled to swear fealty for his barony of Anstruther to EDWARD I. of England in 1292 and 1296. His son,

WILLIAM DE ANSTRUTHER, Lord of Anstruther, lived in the reign of King ROBERT I. He confirmed the donations of his ancestors to the abbey of Dryburgh. He was father of

HENRY DE ANSTRUTHER, of Anstruther, who was father of

RICHARD DE ANSTRUTHER, of Anstruther, who lived to a great age, and d in the reign of King JAMES I. of Scotland. His son,

ROBERT DE ANSTRUTHER, of Anstruther, who d. in the reign of King JAMES III., m. Elizabeth Balfour, a dau. of the ancient Fifeshire house of Balfour, since raised to the peerage by the title of Lord Burleigh. He was s. by his eldest son,
